The fashion writer of London Truth reminds certain ladies who recently attended Lord Spencer's balls at Dublin Castle that "some female charms are best left to the imagination, which often suggests more than reality supplies."

The London school board have decided to raise this year for educational purposes, by taxes, $4,630,909, being an increase of $77,925 over last year. The amount is to be raised by a rate of sixteen cents for every pound of the yearly rental of the real estate in London.

An anxious Democrat writes from Portland, Me., to the Boston Post:—"Our New England politics are in a pretty bad state. The control has gone to Ben Butler's disgruntled Republicans and the Democrats are divided, and many will not vote or will vote the Republican ticket in preference."

The following incident will mark how things will be after awhile when twelve good women get on a jury:—"The proprietor of a bar room was placed on trial in Washington Territory, under indictment for keeping a disorderly resort. Seven women were on the jury, and all were firm for conviction, and the five men stood doggedly for acquittal."

A Geneva dentist has invented a new and ingenious process of teeth-drawing. A small square of India rubber, pierced with a central hole, is pushed over the tooth till the upper part of the root is reached. The India rubber gradually contracts, pulls on the root, and the offending tooth is finally enucleated without causing the patient any pain whatever. Four or five days are generally required to complete the operation. Very slight bleeding and a slight swelling of the gum are the only inconveniences experienced.

Manager Mapleson's receipts in St. Louis did not quite reach $23,000. Out of this Patti got $10,000, Gerster $6,000, the Olympic management 15 per cent, and Mapleson the remainder, with which to pay 130 choristers, 23 fiddlers and a dozen singers of less profession than Patti and Gerster. So it was a losing business. Manager Abbey returned to New York Monday. He states positively that after this year he will never engage in Italian opera again having found it a harassing and losing business.

Now is the time to give Smith's Worm Oil.

"I am told," writes Mr. James R. Randall from Washington to the Augusta Chronicle, "that the whiskey speculators have formed a pool, and are paying some of the distillers considerable money not to run their establishments. One man here gets $120 a day to stop work."

Mr. Talmage lifts his voice against arctic expeditions. The pastor of the largest church in America says that over the door, if there be a door, to the open polar sea, if there be one, is written: "no admittance," written by the finger that inscribed the Ten Commandments on the original tablets of tone, adding, "God has reservations. He must have some paths where he can walk alone."

The publisher of the Beaver Falls, Pa. Courier, Mr. John F. Porter, some time ago contracted a severe cold. He says: "I tried half a dozen remedies ineffectually and upon recommendation of a physician I gave Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup a fair, square trial. It relieved me immediately and cured my cold and catarrh entirely. It is a remedy that should be used in every household."

The storm signal was flying to-day.

There was no City Court this morning.

It has grown much warmer within the last 24 hours.

The receipts of cotton at this port to-day foot up 97 bales.

If this weather continues there will be plenty of fish in a few days.

Ger. barque Charlotte, Wallis, hence, arrived at Stettin Feb. 28th.

The sea off our coast has been very rough for several days, owing to the high winds that have prevailed.

In the Supreme Court, on Monday, a decision was rendered in the case of Edward Bryson, from New Hanover. No error.

A pair of spectacles which would prove of but little use to any one but the owner has been lost by a lady in this city, who will pay liberally for the recovery. See advertisement in this issue.

Steamboatmen report last Monday as one of the worst on the Cape Fear that they ever experienced. The cold was intense and blew a gale all day, making navigation disagreeable and at times extremely difficult.

Don't forget the Floral Festival to be given this evening by the Ducas Society of St. Paul's E. L. Church, in the new building corner of Sixth and Princess street. It bids fair to be a delightfully pleasant occasion.

Ex Mayor Wilson offers for sale in this issue a number of building lots in various portions of the city. The lots will be sold cheap and on the installment plan which has proved so proper and successful. See advertisement.

The News and Observer says: "The Dawson railroad, about which we made some inquiry a couple of weeks since, it is said runs from Dawson, a point on the Cape Fear river, into the pine forest, a distance of ten miles." We wish our clever neighbor could find that road but we fear that a journey to the moon would be necessary for its discovery.

Three white tramps appeared at police headquarters last night. They appeared to be quite respectable men, seeking work with the hope of finding it, and they left this morning to see if they could get employment on the government works at the mouth of the river. They come here from Charleston, S. C.

Interesting to Fishermen: The celebrated "Fish" Brand Gilling thread is sold only at JACOBI'S. He is the Importer's Agent.

Wound Up.

The flag at the city hall was hoisted during the gale of Monday and became wrapped around the flag staff in such a manner that it could not be taken in when the attempt was made. It is now wound about the flag staff three or four times, and to clear it and take it in will be a job not at all to be coveted. Possibly some sailor boy might be able to go out and clear it.

Cautionary.

The recent fires ought to be a warning to our people during this windy weather. Be very careful of all ashes taken from the fireplaces or stoves and see that they are not placed where the wind can stir them until you are sure that every spark is extinguished, and by no means deposit ashes in wooden inflammable vessels. Many a conflagration has occurred and many thousand dollars' worth of property have been destroyed by carelessness in this important particular.

False Alarm.

While Sergeant Davis was giving in his testimony in the case in which his conduct was under investigation to-day, the alarm of fire was sounded, which for several minutes interrupted the proceedings. The alarm was sounded for the third district, and although we made diligent inquiries as to the locality of the fire, we failed to find where it was. We noticed some portions of the fire department hunting for the same object, but their search proved fruitless. Fortunately it was a false alarm.

Removal.

The Church Messenger, of Durham, N. C., and the Church Herald, of South Carolina, have arranged for consolidation at Charlotte, under the name of The Southern Guardian, which will consist of eight pages, forty columns, and be published by the Charlotte Daily Observer Company, in whose hands will be the entire business management of the paper. The arrangement goes into effect at once. Rev. E. N. Joyner, the Editor of the paper, has taken charge of the Episcopal Church at Rock Hill, S. C.

Election of Officers.

At the annual meeting of Wilmington Steam Fire Engine Company, No. 1, held at Little Giant Hall last evening, the following officers were elected to serve for the ensuing year:
President—T. D. Meares.
Vice President—I. H. Davis.
Foreman—E. G. Parmelee.
First Assistant Foreman—W. C. Von-Glahn.
Second Assistant Foreman—Martin Newman.
Engineer—Ed W. Manning.
Assistant Engineer—Lewis Wack-smith.
Secretary and Treasurer—W. C. Craft.

The company is now in a flourishing condition, with full ranks, and always ready for prompt action, the only complaint being that the electric alarm is not what it ought to be. Something should be done, and that at once, to give the department a more effective and available system of alarms in case of fire. The boys will go to fires if they only hear the alarm, and it is little enough to ask that this alarm shall be distinct enough for them to hear and understand.

Wants Revising.

Our Princess street neighbor does a lot of gratuitous advertising for the city to-day. In speaking of the dog ordinance he says that "any policeman is empowered to enter any lot and kill a dog that has bitten or otherwise injured any person while in the street or in any other lot than that of the owner or keeper of said dog; and any one assaulting or obstructing them in the discharge of this duty shall be fined not exceeding $50." This reads beautiful but it won't hold a sieve full of water. The ordinance isn't worth the paper it is written on and should be revised forthwith. A policeman has no more right to enter a private yard without a warrant than has any other man nor has he any more right to destroy property without a warrant than has any other man; and a dog is property, and taxable property at that. Of course, no good citizen will object to the destruction of a dangerous or rabid animal, even if it is his own property, but the question is, gentlemen, who said that dog was mad? or who knows that he was mad? or who can prove that he bit that little boy without long and bitter provocation and, perhaps, entirely in his own defence? These questions might be dangerous ones to give to a jury in a case where private premises had been invaded and a valuable animal killed without the authority of a legal process.

Would Not Pull.

There was considerable difficulty yesterday in making the Little Grant horses work in pulling the steamer to the fire and it was finally found necessary to take them out and pull the engine by hand the short distance that it was necessary to go. The fault laid, we think, in the fact that the horses were at a distant point, at work, when the alarm came and became unduly excited as they were hurried to the engine house and before they got into the fire-harness. The truth is the horses which are to pull the fire steamers should not be put out at work but should be kept on hand at the engine house, night, and day, ready for an instant start.

Police Investigation.

The City Court Room was crowded this morning long before the hour appointed for the investigation of the case of Police Sergeant G. W. W. Davis, who was charged with conduct unbecoming an officer of the police force.—The hour set for the hearing was 11 o'clock a. m., but all the necessary preparations were not concluded until 15 minutes after that time. The Mayor and Mr. John L. Dudley and Valentine Howe, of the Committee on Police, of the Board of Aldermen, before whom the investigation was to be made, took their places, while the accused took a seat beside his counsel, Messrs N. A. Stedman, M. Bellamy, E. S. Martin and F. H. Darby. Mr. DuBruz Cutlar appeared as counsel for Mr. and Mrs. Watkins, who were the principal witnesses in support of the allegations made against the accused. Several witnesses in support of the charges were examined, after which Sergeant Davis was sworn and made a statement of the case. After he had concluded the Court took a recess until 3 o'clock p. m., when other witnesses were being examined in the matter when our report closed.

Supreme Court.

In this court, on Monday, the consideration of appeals from the fourth judicial district was resumed, and causes were disposed of as follows:
William Griffin et al. vs. Josephine Griffin, from Robeson; remanded by consent, at the cost of the plaintiffs.
William Griffin et al. vs. Josephine Griffin, from Robeson; remanded by consent, at the cost of the defendant.
J. A. Evans, administrator, vs. Thos. M. Smith, executor, from Columbus, put to the end of the district.
John L. Wescott vs. Rufus Galloway et al., from Brunswick; put to the end of the district.
M. T. Leach vs. town of Fayetteville, from Cumberland; put to the end of the district.
S. A. Young vs. B. T. Barden et al., from Columbus; put to the end of the district.
A. McA. Council et al. vs. W. H. Averett, from Bladen; put to the end of the district.

Lights o' London.

At 10 o'clock to-morrow morning the "Lights o' London Company" will arrive here by special train at the W. & W. R. R. Depot. The public are kindly invited to view the beautiful and novel car upon its arrival. Reserved sale now open at Dyer's. Secure your seats early. The Keokuk (Iowa) Democrat says:

Shook & Collier's Lights o' London opened a short engagement at the Keokuk Opera House last evening, presenting the great English melodrama, "The Lights o' London." It was a performance which merits the highest praise, and was as different from anything we have previously had in this line as could possibly be imagined. Every attention was paid to detail, and every actor or actress in the large cast was fully able to meet the requirements of his or her part. The company used their own scenery, and it was beautiful and realistic in the extreme. Owing to the lateness of the hour we are unable to particularize concerning the different members of the cast, but suffice it to say that the entertainment was a magnificent one throughout. The company conclude their engagement this evening, and it is to be hoped that every seat in the house will be occupied. It is a performance that can be heartily commended in every respect, and we advise our city readers to go and see it.

We saw yesterday afternoon an alderman and a policeman vainly endeavoring to find the location of the fire through the telephone alarm on Market street, near this office. If this instrument is out of order it should be repaired at once.

Fire! Fire! Police! Police!

Members of the Police and Fire Departments of New York, Chicago, San Francisco and other leading cities, pronounce St. Jacobs Oil the greatest pain-curing and healing remedy.

Hot Water Remedies.

Hall's Journal of Health publishes some interesting facts relative to hot water as a remedial agent. It says: There is no remedy of such general application, and none so easily attainable, as water; and yet nine persons in ten will pass by it in an emergency to seek for something of far less efficiency. There are but few cases of illness where water should not occupy the highest place as a remedial agent. A strip of flannel or a napkin folded lengthwise, and dipped in hot water and wrung out, and then applied around the neck of a child that has croup, will usually bring relief in ten minutes. A towel folded several times and dipped in hot water, and quickly wrung an applied over the seat of the pain in toothache or neuralgia, will generally afford prompt relief. This treatment in colic works almost like magic. I have seen cases that have resisted other treatment for hours yield to this in ten minutes. There is nothing that will so promptly cut short a congestion of the lungs, sore throat, or rheumatism, as hot water when applied promptly and thoroughly.

Pieces of cotton batting dipped in hot water, and kept applied to old sores, or new cuts, bruises and sprains, is the treatment now generally adopted in hospitals. I have seen a sprained ankle cured in an hour by showering it with hot water, poured from a height of three feet. Tepid water acts promptly as an emetic; and hot water taken freely half an hour before bed time is the best of cathartics in case of constipation, while it has most soothing effect on the stomach and bowels. This treatment, continued for a few months, with proper attention to diet, will cure any curable case of dyspepsia.

Headache almost always yields to the simultaneous application of hot water to the feet and the back of the neck. It is an excellent plan to record facts like these in a note book which should be always at hand when wanted. In the anxiety caused by accidents or sudden illness in the family, one becomes confused and is not apt to remember quickly what should be done; hence there may be prolonged and unnecessary suffering before proper remedies are applied.
