The construction of an enormous dam from Wallsville, Ohio, to Lake Erie is recommended to prevent the floods in the Ohio river. It is said that the dam of the Ohio is one hundred feet above the water level of the river. Though there are hills between the two points the ditch could be located in the valley between the hills.

Dumas still retains in France his rights in "Camille," from which already he has realized $100,000, and the original of Armand Duval is still living. Marie Duplessis, who furnished the portrait for Marguerite Gautier, died long ago, and once a year Dumas wears a wreath on her tomb.

Oscar Wilde recently delivered his one hundredth lecture since his return from America—or, rather, repeated his lecture on America the one hundredth time. His dates are filled for the present month, and on or about April 1 he will appear in the role of a bridegroom.

Opium smoking is the issue in the majority campaign now being waged in Vallejo, Nevada. One candidate pledges himself to suppress the evil, while another plants himself on what he calls "the broad Constitution of this glorious country" and will allow every one to smoke or not to smoke, as he pleases.

The breweries in this country are evidently dealing a heavy blow to the distilleries. Recent figures from the bureau of statistics show that the consumption of spirits, wine and beer amounted last year to 607,000,000 gallons. This would give a per capita consumption of 10.2 gallons of malt liquors, or ten-elevenths of the above total amount.

Much as has been said and done in behalf of the Bartholdi Pedestal fund, it still lacks $130,000 of the estimated cost of the structure; and general ten cent subscriptions are now asked for as a last resort. It will take some time and trouble to collect one million, three hundred thousand dimes, but Mr. Farrell, chief canvasser for the fund in New York, is confident that he can do it before the $70,000 now on hand is entirely expended.

Hazing has continued at West Point because, when the offenders were dismissed the influence of their friends was sufficient to reinstate them. The amendment to the Military Academy appropriation bill, offered by Mr. Logan a few days ago, proposes to make any cadet dismissed for hazing ineligible to reappointment. When the cadets understand that indulgence in hazing will really mean the loss of a career the custom will rapidly decay.

A Frenchman has recently brought home from China specimens of the preserved and salted meats which are favorite articles of food among the Chinese. Rats are in such demand for this purpose that comfortable dwellings are provided for rat families by building large mouthed bottles into the walls which they frequent. Here they build their nests and raise their young, which are from time to time collected to be skinned, cooked and preserved.

The time and arrangements for Queen Victoria's journey to the Continent will not be known till the last hour. The apprehensions of the Queen have been increased by the events of the week and she fears strongly that some act of violence will be attempted. The Queen will return to England in the latter part of April, when, after staying at Windsor for a few weeks, she will go to Baltimore and remain there till autumn. She will thus be absent from London during the entire season.

It is said that the waste of valuable timber in Eastern Tennessee is almost inconceivable. The finest specimens of walnut and cherry are used for fence rails, fire wood and similar purposes. Since the government survey of the country there has been a change in this respect, and the people are beginning to appreciate the value of the timber resources. Another result is that the mineral resources are becoming known, and investments both in timber and in mineral property are now made where but a short time ago they would have been considered unprofitable.

THE DAILY REVIEW.

VOL. VIII. WILMINGTON, N. C., TUESDAY, MARCH 11, 1884. NO. 60

One of the Cash outlaws was captured on Sunday. It is Col. E. B. Cash, the father of the murderer of Town Marshal Richards, and himself the murderer of Shannon, whom he killed in a duel a few years ago. The expedition which effected the capture was organized in Columbia and the affair was well managed. Cash, senior, is now in jail at Columbia, and Cash, junior, is an outlaw hiding in the swamp from the pursuit of the officers of the law. He will be captured, we trust and believe. We copy some portions of the report in the Charleston News and Courier relative to the expedition:

CHERAW, March 9—12:30 P. M.—State Constable R. N. Richbourg, with twelve picked men armed with improved Springfield rifles, left Columbia at midnight last night, and arrived at Florence at 3:30 A. M. They were met there by Sheriff Cole, of Darlington, and took a special train for Cash's Depot, no regular train leaving on Sundays. The force reached a point a mile below Cash's Depot at 5 A. M. Here the train stopped and the force disembarked and proceeded up the track on foot to Cash's house.

Before daylight the house was surrounded, and the force waited for light. About 6 o'clock Cash the elder rose, found that the pickets were about, armed himself with a Winchester repeating rifle and pistols and tried to escape from the premises. He ran against John H. Pearson, one of the sentinels, who presented his rifle, demanding his surrender. Cash hesitated, and Pearson said: "Drop your gun, or I'll shoot you in two seconds." Cash dropped his gun quickly. He admitted having been taken completely by surprise. When captured he was endeavoring to make his way to the log-house across the railroad, where young Cash has been sleeping every night since the murder. The force closed in and searched old Cash's house thoroughly, but could find nothing of Bogan Cash. A party started for the log-house before mentioned. When they were half way there, Cash, getting alarmed for his son's safety, made a proposition to go to the log-house, if allowed to do so, alone, and pledged his sacred honor that he would have his son surrender within two hours. The proposition was accepted to and the force was recalled. Cash went and soon returned, saying that his son had left the house an hour before and that he did not know where he was. He offered, however, if the force would withdraw that his son would surrender before Wednesday. He frankly stated that he only wanted to come off with flying colors, that neither he nor his son desired to be considered outlaws, but that he desired to effect a capitulation on his own terms. Bearing in mind the desire of Governor Thompson that Cash should be captured before he had a chance to surrender, Chief Constable Richbourg declined these terms. Cash then made other propositions and finally offered to let Richbourg go with him to hunt his son, promising that he would surrender within twenty-four hours if the posse were dispersed. This showed weakening and was finally refused by Richbourg, who immediately proceeded to give Cash a taste of the rigor of the law. His premises were surrounded by a guard with instructions to allow no departure or arrival. Cash's pistol and rifle were taken from him. Cash protested bitterly against this, but said that he yielded to force. Capt. Richbourg, having determined to let nothing prevent the most thorough search for young Cash, left most of his men at the house and at 9 o'clock proceeded to Cheraw to summon a larger posse of horsemen with which to enter the swamp and track the fugitive to his hiding place. He is supposed to be near Cash's Depot on an island in the swamp.

Arriving at Cheraw at 10 o'clock Capt. Richbourg called on the intend and authorities for the force. He desired some fifty men. He is carrying out the desire of the Governor in making no terms with the Cashes.

CASH'S DEPOT, March 9—6:40 p m.—The chief constable remained at Cheraw until about noon when he started for this place, in the special train of the Columbia party, with about twenty-five young men belonging to the Cheraw Guards armed with rifles and command by Capt. Thomas P. Melver. Half a dozen horsemen also took the road for Cash's Depot. The appearance of an armed delegation in the streets of Cheraw which ventured to speak lightly of the hitherto sacred name of Cash caused a great commotion in the quiet town. Capt. Melver when called on by the State constable for fifty men and the force furnished was, in numbers, quite sufficient. For the last day or two it is said the people of Cheraw have been talking more freely about the murder and the Cashes than they had ventured to do before. Such is the force of public sentiment. The appearance of our party in Cheraw County gave notice to the people that South Carolina was of greater force than the Cashes.

The spirit of the Cheraw detachment was excellent and their departure was witnessed by a number of people. The train soon arrived here and the consolidated detachment marched up to Cash Castle. Its size must have surprised Col. Cash. This individual during the absence of Captain Richbourg had been making new propositions to surrender Bogan. The last was that he would produce him in two hours if the posse dispersed and Capt. Richbourg only remained. This offer was rejected. A long time was spent in considering what course to take. The Cheraw detachment were positive that Bogan could be captured in a day or two if his father was arrested. So intense was their distrust of Cash that Capt. Melver did not consider it safe to trust his men to guard the house in which he had been immured. Cash had stated that he had five hundred rounds of ammunition and that he might as well die to-day as any time.

A warrant was sworn out by Chris. Hussung, one of the Columbia party, charging Cash with being accessory after the fact of his son's crime. There were strong grounds for this warrant, which was issued by Trial Justice J. M. McQueen, who was on the grounds. Cash was arrested and held until the train for Columbia should depart.

Parties of men on foot and horseback scoured the country around for miles during the evening, but could find no trace of Bogan Cash. It is thought that his father's arrest will cause him to lose his grit and that he will have to come in and surrender if the hunt is continued.

The Cashes had evidently the most perfect arrangements for getting the news of any movement directed against them. They had an expert operator at Cash's Depot who tapped the wires and read all the messages sent to and from Cheraw. The wire was not broken, but was lowered in the swamp near Bogan's hiding place and the messages intercepted without breaking the circuit. Knowledge of this having been conveyed to Columbia, the base of the campaign was changed and established at Florence. The Cashes, therefore, had no intimation of the movement of the State posse, and hence the capture of the elder Cash. Bogan Cash must either have slept away from his usual hiding place, or have received warning early this morning of the presence of the officers of the law.

Old Cash has been arrested on a warrant charging him with being an accessory after the fact in the murder of Richards and will be taken to incarcerate him in the county jail at Chesterfield. It is probable that the sheriff whom he too ill to guard the prisoner whom he could not capture. It is thought that evidence may be procured before the fact of the murder, which is punishable with death. He has not, however, been arrested on this charge. The punishment for being an accessory after the fact is imprisonment in the penitentiary and the prisoner may be tried even should the murderer escape, the State being called upon, however, to prove the murder.

The hunt for Bogan Cash will be continued to-morrow. There are various opinions as to the whereabouts of the outlaw. It is pretty certain that Bogan slept in the log house mentioned in these dispatches on Saturday night, and it is greatly to be regretted that the posse did not know the topography of the place. They had to pass the outlaws' lair, known as "Julia Ann's," before reaching the Cash castle, and Bogan doubtless made his escape while the posse were surrounding the father's house. On discovering that he had been trapped, the first impulse of the Colonel, according to his own statement, was to grab his rifle and fire a shot in order to give Bogan a signal to get off. The guard, however, seemed to have been up in the Cash tactics, and "got the drop" on the Colonel, who was compelled to drop his rifle and hold up both hands, which I am told, he gracefully and quickly did. I have it on the very best authority that Bogan's friends are now strongly advising him to surrender. His capture is merely a matter of time. The State will make no terms with the outlaw except those looking to his unconditional surrender.

A predicament 2 o'clock in the morning,—sleet on the side-walk,—ba by got the croup, and no Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup in the house.

The receipts of cotton at this port to-day foot up 150 bales.

Appearances indicate that we shall have stormy weather before many hours. Look out for a change; it will come from the Northwest.

We invite the attention of our citizens to the fact that first quality shirts are being made to order at one dollar at the Wilmington Shirt Factory.

Nor. barque Gna, Andersen, cleared to-day for Rotterdam with 3,500 barrels rosin, valued at $4,375, shipped by Messrs. D. R. Murchison & Co.

A Grand Purim Ball will be given by our Jewish fellow citizens in Germania Hall this evening. The Hebrew Feast of Purim began yesterday evening at sunset and will close at sunset to-morrow.

Our Congressman, Hon. W. J. Green, has again placed us under obligations to him. This time it is for copies of the census reports, population and manufacture, two huge volumes which are to be followed by others.

The State Exposition.

Col. B. S. Pardee, of the New Haven Palladium, mention of whom we made yesterday, will address the people Wilmington to-night at the City Hall at 8 o'clock, upon the importance of the approaching State Exposition as it will affect immigration from the North and induce the investment of Northern capital in our State. He will discuss the subject in a business point of view, as taken from a Northern standpoint, and it is to be hoped that business and representative men may be in attendance.

Musical.

Prof. Smithdeal has worked incessantly to make the orchestra for the Opera House first class in every respect, but has labored under some difficulty in securing a clarinet, an instrument quite necessary to neutralize the tones between the violin and cornet. He has at last succeeded in securing the services of an accomplished clarinet soloist, Mr. D. A. McDonald, who arrived here last night, and will make his first appearance with the orchestra on Friday night.

Telephone Exchange.

Mr. J. C. White, who has been the Manager of the Telephone Exchange in this city for the past two years, has been relieved from duty here and will leave for Richmond, Va., to-morrow night, and will be assigned to duty in the exchange of that city. Mr. White has filled the position very efficiently and acceptably to the subscribers, and has made many warm friends among our people by his courteous and gentlemanly conduct.

Mr. P. H. Sullivan, of Richmond, has arrived here to take charge of the Exchange and will at once enter upon the discharge of his duties. He has had much experience in the business and we hope that his stay among our people may prove both profitable and pleasant.

Hotel Brunswick.

Mr. J. D. Sublett, who was here in the early part of January, and made arrangements for taking charge of the Hotel Brunswick, at Smithville, arrived in the city last night. His family is with him. He left for Smithville this afternoon to supervise the additions and improvements which are being made. There are now about twenty hands employed in refitting the hotel, and it is expected that the pavilion will be completed and ready for use by the first of May, (and the hotel proper by the first of June, or in season for the reception of regular Summer guests and boarders. Mr. Sublett has had large experience in catering to the wants of the traveling public, and he proposes to make the Hotel Brunswick a permanent institution, to be kept open all the year.

Personal.

Capt. R. M. McIntire left the city yesterday for Durham, on business connected with the large dry goods house conducted by him in that town.

Mr. Walter L. Kelley, formerly of this city, but now with his brother, Mr. Geo. C. Kelley, at Birmingham, Ala., is here with his wife on a visit to his father, Mr. Geo. H. Kelley. He has been very sick and comes here to recuperate and we are glad to know that the genial air of his old home has already worked a decided improvement.

"Adrienne Lecouvreur."

In speaking of this play, which is to be presented at the Opera House on the night of the 14th inst., with Mlle Rhea, the talented French actress, in the title role, the Buffalo, (N. Y.) Courier says:

"The 'Adrienne' of Mlle Rhea is one of the most beautiful characters we have ever seen upon the stage, exquisitely and purely womanly from beginning to end, and animated and informed by a woman's soul in a way that is ineffably charming. In this impersonation Mlle Rhea is a truly great actress—a woman of rare genius—a tragedienne who can sway the heart by the gentlest methods or enthrall the senses by the force and fire of her nature. Simple, natural, graceful and bewitchingly lovely as she is on the stage, she leads the heart captive before she appeals to the intellect, and charms by her feeling even where her art fails to reach the standard."

Shepherd Conrad, the colored man who was arrested on Sunday afternoon for larceny at Shoo Heel, has been fully identified by the officer who arrived from that place this morning, and he will be taken there for trial on to-night's train.

City Court.

Mayor pro tem John L. Dudley presided at the City Court this morning, in the absence of Mayor Hall, who left last night for South Carolina. There were three cases of disorderly conduct, the first of which was Joseph Chapman, colored, who was sent below for 30 days.

Wood, colored, for the same offense, was discharged.
Wm. Collins, for the same offense, was sent below for five days.

Now is the time to give Smith's Worm Oil. ly d w
