WEDNESDAY, MARCH 12, 1884 Entered at the Postoffice at Wilhutagton, N. C. as second-class matter.

The New York Historical So lety has determined to hold in April, 1889, a grand centennial anniversary celebration of the inauguration of George Washington as the first President of the United States. A committee has been appointed to report a plan to carry out the purpose of the society in a manner suitable "to the commemoration of the gold out of circulation. Gold would most important event in the history of the city, the State and the nation." It is stated that the New York Chamber of Commerce will also take steps to celebrate this anniversary. The semicentennial anniversary of Washington's inauguration was orlebrated by the New York Historical Society in April. 1839, upon which occasion an oration was delivered by John Quincy Adams.

Another sugar convention has been called to meet in New Orleans March 12. Invitations have been sent to the leading sugar planters and representa tibe of the sugar districts, and a large attendance is anticipated. The New Orleans Picayune, which refers to the supporters of the Morrison tariff bill as "those soi-disant revenue reformers," says the time for sharp action in de fence of the "imperilled industry of Louisiana has arrived, and that the call for the convention ' is a movement toward a clearer recognition of the position of the sugar industry as a protected interest, and a practical aliiance with other protected interests of the country."

The business affairs of Cuba seem to be rapidly going from bad to worse. The failure of the Cataline savings bank recently, for $2,000,000, fell with almost crushing force upon the poorer classes, who were its depositors, and this is followed by a still heavier blow in the suspension of the only savings bank in Havana, by the suicide of its president. The bank has been considered as safe as the government itself and was pre-eminently the bank of the poor. Its failure now emphasizes the gloomy forebodings of Cubans I these have not been exaggerated by the corespondents the commercial interests of Cuba are in a condition which threatens speedy and dire diaster. The remedy is believed to be in the hands of the Spanish government. Cuba needs greater commercial privileges and relief from excessive taxation, and a convention of the various industrial and agricultural interests of the island will soon be held to urge these reforms upon the king.

Says the Charleston News and Couri er: The intimation made by the treasury department to the New York Clearing-House Association that it may become necessary to pay the Government's balances in silver instead of gold or green backs, taken in connection with the you recent shipments of gold from this country to Europe, and the constantly really see no reason why a man who can increasing amount of silver dollars worth but 83 cents, adds greatly to the interest of the discusion over the propriety of repealing the silver-coinage Act of February, 28, 1878. There are not a few persons who talk of a silver crisis, and predict great financial disturbance unless the repeal of that Act be speedily effected; but there is reason to think that they exagerate the consequences of the present plethora of silver. The New York Chamber of Commerce thinks the mater sufficiently important, however, to be made the subject of a memorial to Congress. At a meet ing held on Taursday the chamber adopted great unanimity, a series of resolutions trained by its executive and finance committees. which, after stating that the account of silver dollars now in the Government vanits is largely in excess of the wants of commerce, and that this excess is being rapidly increased by the coatin ued monthly coinage of $2,000,000. recommend strongly that the coinage of standard silver dollars be suspended for two years, and that, as a means of patting those already coined in circula tion, the issue of bank notes below the value of $5 be stopped. Banks will not object to receiv ing 100-cent gold dollars on deposit and paying out 83 cent silver dollars, but they may decline to revere that proceeding. Depositors who commit gold dollars to the care of a bank will hardly be willing to draw out coin worth intrinsically but 83 per cent. of its face value. The effect, therefore. it is contended, of the treasury's settling its balances at the New York clearinghouse in silver would soon be to drive command a premium and be again a
