The Daily Review has the largest bona fide circulation of any newspaper published in the city of Wilmington.

Fifty thousand majority in Louisiana.

Beecher will not support Blaine even though the latter be nominated.

The total number of votes in the Republican Convention at Chicago will be 820. Necessary to a nomination, 411.

Owing partly to bad weather, but chiefly to high rents, the Newport cottages are not being rapidly taken this year.

The professionals of the various base ball clubs now organized in the United States receive in salaries for the season upward of $100,000.

All the delegates to the Greenback Convention at Indianapolis are for Ben Butler. The greenbacks are for the mossback this year, sure.

The nomination of Mr. Blaine, if actually compassed, says the Boston Herald (Ind.) will mark the beginning of the end of the Republican party.

The city of Knoxville is to build a temple on the Exposition grounds in New Orleans to be constructed of the various marbles of East Tennessee.

H. B. Hulbert's will directs that $300,000 be given to the Cleveland city hospital and about $1,000,000 be turned over to that city for the founding of an art gallery.

Christine Nilsson says she never goes on the stage without trepidation, and when she feels weak or has an important part always kneels down and says her prayers.

Flaigan, of Texas, will be a delegate to the Chicago Convention. It is believed he will again tell in a "ringing speech" what he and all the delegates are there for.

The postoffice department is informed that the Henry College lottery, at Louisville, Ky., has officially announced that it has discontinued its drawings and will go out of the business.

A number of Philadelphia capitalists have recently made large purchases of mineral lands in Appomattox county, Va., and propose to expend considerable capital in mining and working the products.

The Boston Post (Dem.) displays at the head of its first page: "For President, Thomas F. Bayard, of Delaware. For Vice-President, Joseph E. McDonald, of Indiana. Subject to the action of the Democratic National Convention."

The New York World says that in the matter of setting the spring fashions in male attire Arthur is "still in the lead," but so far as the Presidential race is concerned the spectators in the grand stand are remarking that Arthur looks like a bad "third," and very much blown at that.

Apostle James R. Chalmers received a decided snubbing in the Mississippi Republican State Convention. The Convention was presided over by John R. Lynch, colored, who on all occasions expressed a contempt for Chalmers's political methods, and the latter was defeated in every proposition brought before the Convention and failed to be elected a delegate to the Chicago Convention.

Nine rosy-checked peaches, each partly wrapped in delicate tissue paper, attracted the attention of people in lower Broadway, New York, a few days ago, to the show case of a fruit store. As each succeeding crowd gathered around the show case some one would ask a salesman the price. He said in reply: "Seventy-five cents each. They were grown in a hot-house. They are the first of the season, and we have no difficulty in selling them."

Weston, the pedestrian, who recently completed a five thousand mile walk in England in the interest of temperance, and to show that the use of alcohol does not add to a man's endurance, has, it is said, a rival who is now engaged in walking fifty miles a day. His object is to complete 5,000 miles, and prove that it is possible to accomplish this on alcoholic beverages. He is a man of 60 years of age, and has already completed one-fourth of his task. His liquid refreshments consist of ale or brandy, and no unmixed water to be taken.

Mr. Thomas Murray, Alderman, Queen St. Toronto, Canada, says: After all other remedies had failed to relieve me of a severe burn on my hand, St. Jacobs Oil cured me.

THE DAILY REVIEW.

VOL. VIII. WILMINGTON, N. C., WEDNESDAY, APRIL 30, 1884. NO. 103

Kentucky's "blue grass region" is so called from the luxuriance rather than the color of its vegetation, which is derived from the decomposable limestone underlying the half dozen counties surrounding Lexington, that have been styled "the heart of the United States," as well as of Henry Watterson's rhetoric.

Memorial Day was observed appropriately in Atlanta. There were few flowers, but the address was delivered by Judge Hillyer, deeply impressive and full of interest. It embraced anecdotes of the war and reminiscences of the fighting around Atlanta. Many in the audience were moved to tears. There was a large crowd.

Representative Reagan's illness is said to be dangerous. He has had two operations performed, and it is feared that it will prove severe for one of his legs. The operation of lithotomy was performed by Dr. Lincoln Saturday, by which the patient was relieved of a calcareous deposit of considerable size. He was in the Thirty fifth Congress, and has served continuously, except during the war, when he was first a member of the Confederate Congress and later Postmaster-General of the Confederacy.

The following from the Petersburg Index-Appal will give some idea of the crop prospects in that section of the country:

From all the surrounding counties comes the good news that the farmers are full up to their work. They have by their hard work made good use of the past few weeks of fine weather. Everything bids fair to be a prosperous crop year. Tobacco plants whilismall are for the most part plentiful. The cotton planters are not realizing altogether on cotton; but are putting a good portion of their land in peanuts. There seems to be a determination on the part of the planters to raise more corn.

The Chicago Inter-Ocean pokes fun at our distinguished Congressman-at-Large. It's enough to make a man's blood boil when he reads it. Just see how the miserable bloody-shirt coyote tries to laugh down what may have been "the greatest effort in his life" of our distinguished Representative. It's just shameful, that's what it is:

WASHINGTON, April 23.—A scene occurred on the floor of the House to-day during the discussion of the Wood-Peters contested election case. It was "cranks" day in the House, and they made the most of it. The sun began with a two hours speech from Mr. Wood, the contestant. It was the bluest of skin milk in comparison to that which followed. Judge Bennett, of North Carolina, had made a minority report in favor of Wood, the rest of the committee being unanimously on the other side. On his report Judge Bennett made a speech nearly two hours in length, in which he discussed constitutional law in the most florid style and pompous manner. He is a large man with a towering head, the hair having apparently all slipped down on his chin, and has a voice like a bull. He roared and roared with ponderous fury, being constantly gayed by the whole House most unmercifully. Every time he misquoted the law, the lawyers laughed, and every time he slaughtered Latin a groan went up from the scholars, which set the House in a roar. This amused the House so immensely that one member after another got up and gave Bennett additional time until they wore him out. He then convulsed the House by asking permission to rest awhile. This was granted, whereupon Mr. Pettibone amused the House still more, his harangue being more fitted for field service than for the House of Representatives. When Bennett had again run down the House took a unanimous vote against him. On the vote to give Wood the seat only Bennett and "Calamity" Weller stood up against the whole House, which result was greeted with shouts of laughter.

Supreme Court.
In the Supreme Court on Monday, the Justices delivered opinions, in cases heretofore argued, as follows:
George W. Huntley vs. H. Matthias et als., from Anson; no error; judgment affirmed.
Joseph Smith and wife vs. Frank Brisson and wife et als., from Robeson; error; judgment reversed and judgment for defendant.
E. F. Ashe vs. J. T. Gray, from Anson; petition to rehear. Former judgment of Supreme Court affirmed.
J. A. Campbell and wife vs. E. L. McCormac, from Robeson; no error; judgment affirmed.
Mary A. Allord vs. E. L. McCormac, from Robeson; no error; judgment affirmed.
Roper & Roper et als., vs. Town of Laurinburg, from Richmond; no error; order refusing testimony sustained.
State vs. James Colvin, from Robeson; no error.
John Baie vs. George D. Simmons, from Cumberland; Cause remanded for imperfect record.
H. S. Ledbetter vs. Stephen Quick, from Richmond; no error; judgment affirmed.
K. H. Worthy, administrator, vs. A. S. McIntosh, administrator, from Moore; judgment for the defendant.

The receipts of cotton at this port to-day foot up 15 bales.

There were no tramps applied for lodgings at the guard house last night.

There were, by actual count, 47 baby carriages in line yesterday on Market street.

The attention of the ladies is invited to the card of Mrs. McGowan, published in this issue.

Eggs have taken a slight advance in price and were retailing this morning at 15 cents per dozen.

This has been another fine day for the baby brigade, and they were out in large numbers to enjoy the invigorating breeze.

Here is a little puzzle for some of our students in grammar to solve: "I say, that that that, that that boy parsed is a substantive."

We understand that the "Acme" pine straw fibre company, of this city, will make a large and admirable display at the exposition.

Interesting to Fishermen: The celebrated "Fish" Brand Gilling thread is sold only at JACOB'S. He is the Importer's Agent.

Mr. James McInerney will leave the city to-night for Savannah, Ga., where he will engage in business and make his future home.

The Cornet Concert Club are making fine progress in their practice, and are id a fair way to become the "crack" band of the State.

The streets have become quite dry and dusty, but there are indications this afternoon that we shall have rain in the course of a day or two.

The State Republican Convention will meet in Raleigh to-morrow, and some of the delegates from this city left this morning to be in attendance.

We invite the attention of our citizens to the fact that first quality shirts are being made to order at one dollar at the Wilmington Shirt Factory.

The delegates from this city to the railroad meeting, which is to be held at Fayetteville to-morrow, left here this afternoon on the steamer D. Murchison.

The yards and gardens throughout the city present a beautiful appearance and the atmosphere is redolent with the fragrance of almost innumerable flowers.

Market and Front streets were distressingly dull to-day and there was almost universal complaint among the merchants that there was nothing doing.

There was one case of failure to pay the retail license tax before this Mayor this morning, which was settled. There being no other business the Court adjourned.

Col. E. D. Hall has been invited by the Ladies Memorial Association to deliver the address on Memorial Day and we are pleased to learn that he has consented to do so.

In speaking of the North Water street improvements yesterday we accidentally omitted the name of Alderman Boney as one of the Committee on streets and wharves.

We have heard of no May parties for to-morrow morning, but we imagine that a good many of our young lads and lassies will take an early ramble in the woods and fields in quest of beautiful May flowers.

Our clever young friend, Mr. James W. Monroe, showed us yesterday an Irish potatoe, grown on his father's premises on Second, between Mulberry and Walnut streets, that is the largest and finest we have ever seen as early as this in the season. Jimmy tells us that at his house they have been feasting on new potatoes for nearly two weeks.

If you need a real good first class cooking stove, don't fail to see the Excelsior Penn., Zeb. Vance and New Emerald, besides others. They are to be found at factory prices at JACOB'S, who is the manufacturers' agent.

Now is the time to give Smith's Worm Oil.

apl 29, 1884

To-day is the anniversary of one of the most disastrous fires that ever occurred in Wilmington. The 30th day of April, 1843, is still remembered by some of our citizens, who suffered by the conflagration. In the space of three hours nearly fifty houses were destroyed, including a church, a steam saw mill, and the W. & W. R. R. depot with offices, machine shops, warehouses, rolling, stock &c.

Personal.

Rev. L. Branson, of Raleigh, publisher of Branson's N. C. Directory, is in the city and gave us the pleasure of a call this morning.

For Faderland.

We are informed by Mr. A. D. Westel, agent of the North German Lloyd line of steamers, in this city, that in addition to those already named who will visit Europe this Summer, is Mr. Charles VonKampen. He will go in the Neckar with the others and will leave New York May 10th.

Getting Ready.

The steamer Passport had quite a large passenger list for Smithville this morning, but her upper deck was packed solid with new furniture for the Hotel Brunswick. Mr. Sublett, the manager of the hotel, has made every arrangement for the comfort, accommodation and convenience of the guests with which the house will undoubtedly be crowded during the coming season. He has made it an inviting place, and we predict a much larger summer travel to Smithville this season than on any previous year.

Branson's N. C. Directory.

We have received from the compiler, Rev. L. Branson, a copy of the above named work for the year 1884. It is much larger than any of its predecessors, containing nearly 700 pages, and is nearer correct than any we have before seen. In a work of such a character, covering such a large extent of territory, and treating of so many different subjects, errors are inevitable, but there are so few in the present volume that it becomes a valuable work of reference. Every county in the State is represented and a brief history of each, with its population, industries, schools, churches &c., is given. The price of the work is $5.

Escaped.

James McNeill, colored, who was sentenced at the late term of the Criminal Court to the County House of Correction, for larceny, made his escape this morning. He has proved a bad character ever since he has been in confinement, and has made a good deal of trouble for Superintendent Savage and his assistants, being quarrelsome with the inmates and extremely insolent and abusive in his language to those in authority. For these offences he was tied up this morning, but he managed to break loose from his fastenings and succeeded in climbing over the stockade and making his escape.

Rev. C. M. Payne.

We understand that Rev. C. M. Payne is to leave here this week for his new charge in Concord, where he is to preach on Sunday next. Not only his congregation but all of our people part with this true Christian minister and gentleman with a great deal of regret and wish him restored health and ample success in his labors in his new field. He came among us ten years ago and the result of his pastoral work here us is to be seen of all men. In 1874 the membership of the Second Presbyterian Church numbered but fourteen souls, while to-day the roll foots up one hundred and forty-eight, with receipts for the pastoral year amounting to more than $3,000. It is no wonder that the parting between this beloved shepherd and his sheep is a tearful one.
