as second-class matter. A FEW REFLECTIONS.

By the unanimous vote of the Nation al Democratic Convention at Chicago Hon. Grover Cleveland was nominated yesterday on the second ballot as the Democratic candidate for the Presidency of the United States. We believe that he will be elected by an overwhelming majority, as he ought to be There were quite a number of aspirants for the proud position, all o whom, always excepting Ben. Butler, were eminently worthy the suffrages of a free and enlightened people. Of those great, pure and illustrious names there are none to which the Democratic party owe a greater debt than they do to Hon. Allan G. Thurman, of Ohio, the "nob'est Roman of them all!" In those dark and gloomy days ju tafter the war, when Northern hatred against the South was so intense that no arbitrary outrage could be too vindictive and bitter to pour upon our defenseless heads, and when Congress, the law-making power of the country, was invoked through its overwhelming Republican majority, to crush us under the iron heel of a despotic hatred, Senator Thurman, almost alone, battled fearlessly and tory. faithfully for our riches. He could not control legislation for our benefit, but meroic and ceaseless efforts in our behalf modified and softened many of the cruel shafts which were poisoned and aimed at our destruction. For those heroic acts we shall always feel grateful to the noble old man, and there is no one in the whole length and breadth of our land for whom we would more gladly cast a ballot for the chief magistracy of the country than for Hon. Allen G. Thurman, of Ohio, Unfortunately, however, he was not popu ar in his own State, and could not se- case. cure more than a meagre support from the Ohio delegation, and it was evident from the start that his nomination was impossible.

Thomas F. Bayard, of Delaware, was probably more popular in the South than any other man who could be namel. He was a man of spotless reputation, unblemished character, much experience in the legislative halls of the age, more power, and is sold country and with the broad and comprehensive views of a statesman. Loved everywhere, and his exalted character and pure statesmanship acknowledged by all parties, he would have been a formidable opponent for the Republicans to combat; but, unfortunately, in the exciting times just preceding the war, he uttered sentiments corn remover. which his political opponents have distorted in such a manner as to leave the impression among many that he was an original secessionist, until this idea prevails to a large extent in the North. We firmly believe that, if he had been nominated, he would be elected, but the campaign, fought under his leadership, would have to be largely on the defensive; a plan which should be avoided if Grover Cleveland, of New York, who by the grace of God and the votes of the people, will be duly elected President of the United States at the next election and, if he lives, will take his seat on the fourth day of March, 1885. the army, the navy and all the Radical chicanery which may attempt his defeat to the contrary notwithstanding, will enter the campaign with none of these set backs. He can, and will, take and professional-than any other work sold in the agggressive and maintain it to the end. With him as the nominee a large independent Republican vote, which would not be cast for Blaine under any circumstances, will go to swell the Democratic majority. This independ- Press. ent vote will more than counterbalance any defections from the Democratic Address the Peabody Medical Institute, or Dr. W. H. Parker, No. 4 Buildingh Street. Boston, Mass., who may be consulted on all Ke ly and his followers. As between Cleveland and Bayard, we think that Henry Ward Bee her-please do not imagine that we endorse Beecher generally-voiced the prevailing sentiment of the independent Republicans, of rheumatism, or organic disease, the when he said that he would not yote suffering that ensues is terrible beyond for Blaine nor Bayard, but that he would vote for Cleveland providing the do, that Ayer's Sarsaparilla will thor- A. K. WALKER.... latter was nominated. We are con-Whose debility, exhausted fident that similar sentiments prevail to and failure to perform life's a great extent throughout the Northern and Eastern States and that to secure the votes of those sections we have got the very best candidate that could be named.

> Ben Butler was a delegate to the Convention and he worked with character-Butler-failing in which, he joined forces with John Kelly to defeat the appetite and flesh, and was confined to nomination of Cleveland, but his efforts Hospital. The doctors said I had a a most inglorious defeat. They had the idea that they could dictate to the Convention in every matter, but found brazen assumption of power, but soon found that they did not amount to much after al!. They were very diminutive peas in the great Democratic dish and they were made painfully aware that they were the most insignificant and inconsequential mortals in the entire assemblage,

In concluding these reflections, we are led to think that with Grover Cleveland as our candidate for the Presidency and with an incomparable State ticket, the possibility of carrying North Carolina for the Republicans, as the latter have boasted that they would do by the aid of money and documents, is a matter of rather more than a doubt, and we are led to suggest the propriety of very serious reflection on the part of the Republican managers before they determine to expend much lucre in an attempt to capture North Carolina.
