There are many earnest wishes for rain now.

The receipts of cotton at this port to-day foot up 1,094 bales.

A few stunted watermelons arrive in market now, as relics of a past and gone Summer.

We invite the attention of our citizens to the fact that first quality shirts are being made to order at one dollar at the Wilmington Shirt Factory.

Socrates, being asked the way to honest fame, said, "Study to be what you wish to seem," and buy your furnishing goods from Dyer & Son.

There seems to be a pretty buoyant feeling generally among our merchants now, and the opinion is generally expressed that trade this Fall will be good.

There will be a match game of baseball at the Athletic Grounds to-morrow afternoon at 3 o'clock between the clubs commanded respectively by Capt. T. Empie and Capt. W. P. Oldham.

Every Farmer ought to get a "Boy Clipper Plow," greatest invention of the age. JACOBI is the Agent.

A Nuisance.

We hear frequent and loud complaints about the use of sling shots, which seems to be a popular amusement with the youngsters. They are dangerous and, like the toy pistol, ought to be suppressed. Besides this their use is a violation of one of the city ordinances, but it seems that they will be used until some one gets seriously injured by them.

Humpty Dumpty.

The theatrical season in this city will open at the Opera House on Thursday night, the 25th inst., by the appearance of Tony Denier's famous Humpty Dumpty troupe, which is one of the best now travelling. They will present several new and attractive features this year, such as will give additional interest and amusement to theatregoers. The sale of reserved seats will begin at Heinsberger's on Wednesday morning, the 24th inst.

Music Lessons.

Our young musical friend, Mr. I. H. Greenewald, will commence giving lessons on the piano and organ to a limited number of pupils on the 6th of October next. Mr. Greenewald is a worthy young gentleman, a thorough musician, an accomplished pianist and in every way qualified as a teacher. We commend him to the public and are glad that he has concluded to become a teacher, and bespeak for him the liberal patronage his merits deserve. See his advertisement in another column.

Saturday Night's Fire.

A few minutes after 9 o'clock last Saturday night a fire was discovered in the kitchen of the house of David Jones, colored, on McRae street, between Chestnut and Mulberry, and the alarm was at once given. It was at an hour when hundreds of our citizens were on the street, and in an almost inconceivably short time the vicinity of the burning building was thronged with people, while all who could work were doing their utmost to save what was possible from the flames. The fire had gotten such headway before it was discovered that the total destruction of the house seemed inevitable. The firemen were quickly in attendance but not until the flames had completely enveloped the kitchen and had gained headway in the rear rooms of the main building. In a short time the house was flooded with water and the flames extinguished, but not until the kitchen had been consumed and the rear rooms on the first and second floors of the main building had been completely gutted by the flames, and their contents destroyed. There was insurance amounting to $1,350 on the house and furniture in the Virginia Home, represented by Messrs Atkinson & Manning.

On account of the confusion of Saturday night it was impossible to obtain any succinct account of the origin of the fire, but since then we have seen Jones, who is a hard-working, reliable colored dryman, and he states that there had been no fire in the house for four weeks. His family was absent from the city and he took his meals at Dan Howard's. He was at his home early on Saturday evening and left to go down town, leaving a small lighted lamp in the passage way. He returned about 8 o'clock and went into the rear room of the house and took a bath after which he went up stairs and sat by the front window some time. About 9 o'clock he retired and had hardly lain down before he was called by his next neighbor stating that the house was on fire. He immediately ran down stairs and when he opened the back door the flames were bursting through the windows of the kitchen with the interior one sheet of flame. It had also worked into the rear room of the main building, so that it was impossible to enter there. The lighted lamp had not been extinguished and was burning when he came down stairs. He thinks that some one entered the house to rob it, while he was sitting up stairs, and set fire to the premises the better to conceal the robbery.

It was pretty calm at the time, and that, with the fact that the house was covered with a tin roof, kept the flames from spreading, although for some time the destruction of the two nearest houses was imminent. One of these, occupied by Kesiah Hood, a colored woman, was badly scorched. There was insurance on this building amounting to $150 in the North Carolina Home, also represented by Messrs. Atkinson & Manning.

Unexpected Death.

Mrs. Mary P. Pickett died at about 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon aged 63 years. She had been unwell for three or four days, but her condition was not considered at all serious until yesterday morning when her disease assumed an alarming form, from which she never rallied but passed quietly away as the sun was declining towards the Western hills. She was the widow of the late Thomas S. Pickett, who was so brutally murdered early in January, 1866, and the only sister of Dr. J. H. Freeman, of this city. The deceased was born in Orange county, was raised in Hertford and had resided in this city about 25 years and for quite a number of years had kept a well-known and popular boarding house on Market street, a business which she relinquished only a few days ago. She had been a consistent member of the Baptist Church for 35 years.

City Court.

The following proceedings occupied the Mayor's attention for awhile this morning:

Serriell Andersen, a white sailor, for disorderly conduct, was fined $5.

Robert Lee, colored, for disorderly conduct, was also fined $5.

Robert Fullinger, a white sailor, charged with disorderly conduct, was discharged.

Philip Wright, colored, charged with disorderly conduct, was arraigned but in the absence of the main witness, the case was continued, and the witness, a policeman, notified to show cause why he should not be fined $3.

One case of disorderly conduct, whose name we suppress, was discharged.

To Advertisers.

The fact that the DAILY REVIEW has the largest circulation in this city and the surrounding country of any paper published here does not seem to be properly understood and appreciated by the advertising public. And not only is its subscription list the largest but its prices on contracts are the lowest. These facts are of interest and importance to the mercantile community and should be thoroughly understood and appreciated by them. We invite those meaning business to call at this office and substantiate our assertions.
