From the number of times J. G Blaine has said good-bye from the rear platform of his Pullman car, he would seem to be making a farewell tour of the country. That is about what it will smount to. After November 4th he will not be heard of in public life again.

Newspapers printed at sea are not uncommon. The practice of publishing a paper on board ship was inaugurated on the steamer Great Britun, which started for Australia on the list of August, 1882. The seaborn ournals do much to relieve the monot ony of the passage.

Pat's retort to his Republican emplayer who told him if Cleveland was elected his wages would be cut down to 50 cents a day, was a pretty shrewd answer to the Republican sophistries of this campaign. Pat replied: "Be gorraan'if you belaved that, you'd be for Cleveland yourself ivery time."

Mr. Kernan, who was Mr. Conkling's colleague in the United States Senate, said to a New York reporter last week "Iregard this State as sure for Cleveand, and the general result will be decided by the same causes that will arry New York." The defections, like that of Elector Foster, are certain lo continue, Mr. Kernau thinks, untll November 4.

The clothing trade is the greatest local industry in New York city. It employs nearly twice as many people as any other single occupation, not taking into account the operatives who produce the cloth. There are within thecity limits about 800 establishments devoted to the business, which employ 50,000 operatives, and pay $15,000,000 a year in wages.

Adolph Sutro is to give the city of San Francisco a public library to cost several hundred thousand dollars. It was Sutro who designed and executed the great Sutro tunnel through the mountains of Nevada, at a cost of $3,-509,000. It was built to drain the Comstock lode, and was finished in 1878 .-The tunnel is four miles long and is at points 2,000 feet below the surface.

A correspondent of the Atlanta Con-Midution gives as an interesting fact in the history of the American duello the jugular coincidence" that the man with the fewest syllables In his name always kills his antagonist. This theory is borne out by the result in the eacounters between Barr and Hamilton, Graves and Cilley, Barron and Decatur, Jackson and Dickinson, and Terry and Broderick.

Already one witness, and a very prominent one at that, has stepped forward to back up Mr. Beecher in the Joy-Blaine matter, as witness the following, which we clip from the World: In the letter of Henry Ward Beecher to Gen. Alger the statement is made that at the close of a dinner, in 1977, Mr. James F. Joy stated that when Blaine T. Joy stated that when Blaine was Speaker he promised to Jacobi's Depot.

Republican Convention. The delegates to the Republican Convention of New Hanover county assembled at the Court House in this city, in pursuance of adjournment from the original meeting, several months ago. George W. Price, Jr., was in the Chair, and Stacy Van Amringe and Levi Nixon were secretaries. The meeting was to have been called to order at 10 o'clock this forencon, but owing to some delay, it was a few minutes past II before the proceedings were begun In calling the meeting to order, the Chairman stated what would be the order of business. He also alluded to the selection of Hon. O. H. Dockery as the Republican candidate for Congress from this Congressional district, and the nomination of Mr. W. H. Chadbourn for the State Senate, from the Senatorial district combining Pender and New Hanover counties. He then spoke at considerable length of the action the Sta'e Convention nominating Tyre York as the standard bearer of the party in the gubernatorial race. He said that the entire delegation to that convention from New Hanover county were bitterly and conscientiously opposed to putting the name of any man at the head of the State ticket who had not been known as a true and tried Republican, and that they fought earnestly and persistently in the convention in their endeayor to carry out that sacred princi ple.
