Judge Fresham began the exercise of his new duties in Chicago last week.

The Prince of Wales will in future receive several facilities on his Devon and Cornwall estates for the purchase of the hold building sites.

Mr. Logan has eighteen relatives from a son-in-law to second cousin, in Federal offices, and the phalanx of eighteen is said to fear lest it be ousted sans ceremony.

John Bright is in favor of delivery of the mails by carriers on Sundays as on other days of the week, whereas the Sabbatharians and very many of his fellow Quakers are much offended.

The amount of poverty in Paris is appalling. The authorities say they will be compelled to give assistance to over 400,000 people the coming year, and the sum needed will be $3,000,000.

Cardinal Lavigerie is seriously ill. He is not expected to live. His death will leave France almost unrepresented in the college, a situation which will continue until the republic yields to the terms of the Vatican.

None of the shipyards in Philadelphia have any contracts for new work, and unless new contracts come in before the close of the year there will be an entire cessation of shipbuilding, and only repairing done at the yards.

The Pope has issued a decree creating the American College in Rome, until recently a part of the Propaganda property, a Clerical College, with an organization of its own, and to be ruled like the college of the Propaganda.

Joe Barstow, of Lancaster County, Pa., who made a vow twenty four years ago that he would not shave until a Democratic President was elected, has taken for granted that the question was settled, and a barber removed the beard, which was nearly as long as himself.

The Western Union Telegraph Company is utilizing bicycles in Washington in the delivery of messages, and find them a great advantage. They are boys, time and money, and four of them are kept in the office. A messenger on a bicycle can get around much more rapidly than a boy on foot, and go a long distance with great ease.

The famous Paris hostler in the history of French literature is to be torn down to make room for the enlargement of the Sorbonne. It was named the hotel Jean-Jacques-Rousseau because Rousseau made it his home in 1741. George Sand wrote her first novel there, and in it Planché wrote his first critical essay.

Daniel Manning, the man who piloted the swift Presidential cutter Columbia, Cleveland captain, down the Hudson and so around into the Potomac to receive his reward at the hands of Miss Mary Livingston Fryer, of Albany. Miss Fryer and Mr. Manning will be married on the 19th inst. and shortly thereafter will sail for Europe.

The fire losses in October were the largest ever known in that month, with the exception of October, 1871, in which Chicago was burnt. The losses of the first ten months of the current year foot up $93,200,000, against $80,000,000 in the corresponding period of 1883. Last year made a large average this year improves upon it smartly in the wrong direction, and whether 1885 will further gain will depend upon whether business will improve or deteriorate.

The wheat trade of the Pacific Coast constitutes the most marked feature of the commerce of that section of the country. The business with Europe alone gives employment to a fleet of about 400 vessels which pursue the route around Cape Horn. The distance from San Francisco to Liverpool by that route is about 16,000 miles, and the average time of passage of sailing vessels about four months. During the year closing June 30, 1884, there were cleared from the Pacific Coast for Europe 388 vessels of which 95 sailed under the American flag and 293 under foreign flags.

The city was filled with smoke last night and to-day. Was it from the big Goldsboro fire?

We observe quite a fine display of new Revolvers for very reasonable prices, at Jacob's Hardware Depot.

As the Cornet Concert Club are to furnish music for the parade, and as the celebration is to be a sort of State affair, we hope that some of the other bands of North Carolina may conclude to attend and give us some of their good music.

Ex-Congressman George W. Jones, of Tennessee, whose death was announced in the New York Herald of the 15th inst., was quite well known to many of our citizens. He was a personal friend of Hon. R. R. Bridgers, whom he has visited several times within the past ten or twelve years.

Personal.

Mr. William A French and wife returned to the city on Saturday night, after an absence of about four weeks on a visit to the North.

Mr. George R. French, Sr., who has been absent from the city since last May, returned here last Tuesday night. During his absence he has spent a large portion of his time in the West and Northwest. He is in good health.

Col. Jas. J. Hedrick has returned to the city from a visit to the Northern markets. He was in Philadelphia on Saturday night and saw the big demonstration which took place there on that occasion. He stood in one place for four hours and saw the procession pass all that time. It moved at the rate of two and a half miles an hour and therefore Col. Hedrick saw ten miles of it.

To every Housekeeper a good substantial cook stove is an important necessity and our readers will find the best at Factory prices at JACOB'S Hardware Depot.

FEARFUL CONFLAGRATION.

Goldsboro in Flames—A Large Portion of the Business Part of the City Destroyed—25 Business Houses Consumed—The Messenger Office in Ashes—Immense Destruction of Property.

About 2:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon, at Goldsboro, a fire broke out on the cotton yard of Messrs. Borden & Bro., Walnut street, near the machine works of Messrs. W. J. Kornegay & Co., and in a few moments had gotten under such headway that it was able to defy the best efforts of man to subdue it. It soon enveloped the hardware store on Centre street, recently occupied by Burch Bros., (name of present occupant not learned) thence to the drug store of Robinson & Spicer, and the machine works of W. F. Kornegay & Co.; the hardware store of Jones & Yelverton; drug store of Miller & Shannon; E. Einstein & Co., dry goods; J. D. Winslow, general merchandise; M. E. Castex & Son, dry goods and millinery; Singer Sewing Machine Office, and Messenger Office, on Centre street. On Walnut street it took the stores of W. S. Farmer, groceries; Fonville & Sauls, groceries; R. M. Privet & Co., wholesale grocers and cotton factors; Portner's Beer Bottling establishment and Denmark's Flouring Mill. These are the principal establishments burned, although there were also many smaller places of business destroyed whose owners' names we were unable to learn. The fire is supposed to have originated by the lighting of a cigarette by a boy and throwing the still lighted match where it ignited the cotton. The loss is estimated to be about $250,000, the principal portion of which was covered by insurance. We are glad to say that all the type and material of the Messenger office were saved, except the press, which could not be removed. This, however, will not prevent the paper from coming out as usual with the loss, perhaps, of one issue. On account of the scarcity of water the fire department and citizens were powerless to stay the progress of the flames, but were compelled to stand and see their property and their beautiful city destroyed by the devouring element. The loss will be deeply deplored by all good citizens and the more so as it will necessarily seriously impair the success of the Wayne County Fair which will be held this week.

Fearful Accident.

Yesterday afternoon a lot of colored boys were riding on the cow-catcher of an engine in the yard at the Front Street depot, when one of the number, named Jackson Laue, fell off and one of the wheels of the engine passed over his legs, crushing them in such a manner that amputation of both legs became necessary. Dr. W. J. H. Bellamy performed the operation. The boy was conveyed to his home on Red Cross street, between Sixth and Seventh, when at last accounts he was doing as well as could be expected. The boys have been warned many times about the danger of riding on the cow-catcher but the warning has been unheeded, and this is the result.

The Fire To-day.

A few moments after one o'clock this afternoon a spark from the chimney ignited the roof of the one story, frame dwelling on the corner of Wright and Eighth streets, in the extreme Southeastern section of the city owned and occupied by Mr. Solomon Reeyes. The alarm was given at once and every effort was made to save the building, but the roof was so dry and the distance from engine houses so great that before the department could reach the scene the building was so far gone as to make any effort impossible to save it, and it was destroyed. Mr. Reeyes succeeded in saving a large portion of his household goods. The building was insured in the Wilmington Mutual to the amount of $350, and there was insurance in the same company on the household property for $100.

Mr. W. W. Shaw, on the corner of Mulberry and Sixth streets, had his premises raided on Saturday night and 16 chickens stolen. It is no use to try and keep poultry in this city, for they are bound to be stolen.
