The Daily Review.

The Daily Review has the largest circulation of any newspaper published in the city of Wilmington.

FRIDAY, DECEMBER 19, 1884.

LOCAL NEWS.

The receipts of cotton at this port today foot up 771 bales.

The latch string hangs on the outside at Conoley's drug store. He will be open from 7 a. m. until 11 p. m., and has some pretty things for the holiday trade.

Br. brig Leah, Jones, cleared for Liverpool to-day with 2262 barrels rosin, valued at $2 376.86; shipped by Messrs. Robinson & King.

Messrs. Toglio and Hewes, United States steamboat inspectors for this district, will be in the city to-morrow on official duty.

Personal.

Rev. Dr. Yates and Rev. D. H. Tuttle returned last night from Baltimore, where they have been in attendance upon the Methodist Centennial Celebration for about two weeks. They express themselves as having been much delighted with their experience in the "Monumental City," and with the cordial hospitality with which they were received and treated.

Mr. George M. Carr, of the Goldsboro Messenger, was in the city yesterday and favored us with a call. He informed us that work on the new office, to replace the one recently burned, is being pushed as fast as circumstances will permit. The new press has been received, which is upon the same pattern as the one which was destroyed, with the exception of being somewhat larger. It has been placed in position and it was expected that the last night's issue of the Messenger would be worked off upon it in the original size.

Telegraphic Trouble.

There are rumors in the air—and in the newspapers also that there is much dissatisfaction existing among telegraphists, especially in the South, concerning the prices paid for their work. It is stated that prices will be reduced ten per cent after the first of January, and there are serious indications of a strike. The last strike of the telegraphists did not result successfully for the strikers, and since then their condition as regards wages has been made worse than it was before. While it appears that a strike is imminent, we hope that it may not occur, but that some understanding may be reached between employer and employee, which may be satisfactory to both parties and not injurious to the needs and demands of the public.

IN CONGRESS YESTERDAY.

SENATE.
WASHINGTON, December 18.—Among the memorials presented was one by Mr. Hoar, from the Woman's Suffrage Association of Pennsylvania, protesting against the admission of Dakota on a constitution made by men alone, and denying the suffrage rights of women.

Mr. Vest submitted a joint resolution, declaring that without the consent or authority of Congress, the proposed Nicaraguan surveying expedition, ordered by the Secretary of the Navy, was illegal, and directing the Secretary not to enforce the orders issued on the subject until there is definite and final action by Congress on the resolution.

On Mr. Hale's objection the resolution went over one day, Mr. Vest saying he would call it up to-morrow, as the expedition was under orders to sail from New York Saturday, and prompt action was necessary.

Mr. Sherman called up and the Senate passed a bill appropriating $50,000 for the purpose of erecting a statue to the memory of General Lafayette. As passed it provides for the appointment of a commission, composed of three Senators and three Representatives, to carry out the purpose contemplated.

At 1 p. m., on motion of Mr. Morrill, the Senate went into Executive session, and the doors being closed, Senator Riddleberger continued his speech in opposition to the confirmation of Hugh McCulloch to be Secretary of the Treasury.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Immediately after the reading of the Journal the House resumed the consideration of the Inter-State Commerce bill, the pending question being on the motion to table the motion to reconsider the vote by which the House yesterday adopted Mr. Goff's amendment, providing that in the transportation of passengers railroad companies shall make no discrimination on account of race or color.

The motion to reconsider was tabled—yeas 140, nays 108. Mr. Barksdale, of Miss., offered an amendment, providing that the furnishing of separate accommodations, with equal facilities and equal comforts, at the same charge, shall not be considered a discrimination.

The amendment was agreed to—yeas 131, nays 124. Further consideration of the bill was postponed for a few moments in order to allow the House to non-concur in the Senate amendment to the bill making temporary provision for the naval service.

When the Inter-State Commerce bill was again taken up Mr. Reagan, of Tex., demanded the previous question on the first section.

The point of order was made that as the bill was being considered as in committee of the Whole, it was not competent for the House to take any action which would prevent the offering of amendments and discussion under the five minutes rule.

Mr. Herbert, of Alabama, requested that the Speaker submit the question to the House, whether, in such a state of affairs as was now presented, it is in order to move to limit debate on the pending question.

A point of order was also made against this proposition, but pending decision the Speaker recognized Mr. Horner, of Michigan, who had been recognized early in the day to offer an amendment to add to Mr. Barksdale's amendment the words "provided that such separation shall not be made on the basis of race or color."

Mr. Herbert moved to close debate on Mr. Horner's amendment and the pending section.

The House decided that the motion was in order. The motion to close debate was then agreed to, without division.

Mr. Horner's amendment was lost—yeas 115, nays 120. Consideration of the second section then entered upon, but without further action the subject went over.

STATE NEWS.

News and Observer: It is whispered that there will be a fight in the Legislature for a reduction of the marriage license fee from $3 to $1. It is said that a Hyde county man went all the way to Norfolk to get married, it was so much cheaper. Of course steamer fare, &c., did not count.

Fayetteville Observer: A little child, while passing Mrs. Banks' store a day or two ago, begged her mother to stop and let her look at the many beautiful things with which the splendid window was filled, preparatory to Christmas. After a long look at the sight so fascinating to childish eyes, she turned to her mother and exclaimed: "Oh, mamma, is Heaven like that?"

Monroe Enquirer and Express: Mr. P. C. Ferguson, one of our Mecklenburg county subscribers, slaughtered a hog a few days ago which netted 515 pounds. Mr. Ferguson has a fine brood sow which has littered 33 pigs in 11 months, having had three litters in that time. Mr. John Shute's large hog, which was slaughtered a few days ago, netted 543 pounds. He also killed 6 pigs which netted 1600 pounds.

Charlotte Observer: Mr. Sam Pharr, a well known citizen of Cabarrus, died at his home, in that county, last week. In many of his ways he was a queer old man, and his death calls to mind an odd accident that once happened to him, a result of his eccentric ideas. He had been to Wadesboro and was walking the Carolina Central railroad track, when he came to a trestle, over which he proceeded to make his way. When he was half across he saw a train coming down on him, and seeing that he would not have time to get off the trestle, he dropped down between the track and hung suspended by one arm, which he crooked over the iron rail. The first wheel of the engine cut his arm off, and being thus bereft of support, he fell heavily to the ground below, receiving injuries that were thought to be fatal, but from which he ultimately recovered.

Charlotte Observer: News reached a number of interested parties in this city yesterday of the failure in Monroe of F. J. Redfern, a merchant of that place. He made an assignment of his property on Tuesday to J. A. Lockhart, attorney at law, for the benefit of his creditors. The amount of his liabilities are unknown, but it is known that several Charlotte merchants have been caught by the failure. Mr. Redfern was generally regarded as No. 1, and the news of his failure was a genuine surprise.

The trial of the damage suit of Mr. T. H. Gaither against the Air Line Railroad Company was concluded in the Federal Court in this city yesterday morning by the jury rendering a verdict in favor of the plaintiff for the sum of $11,333.33. Mr. Gaither sued for $15,000. The manner in which this verdict was arrived at was told as follows by one of the jurymen after his discharge: The jury was unanimous in its opinion that the plaintiff deserved damage money, but as to what amount there was a difference of opinion. Each juror set down what he thought the damages should be, the figures were added up and divided by 12, and they had the amount. The highest estimate made by any juror was $15,000 and the lowest $900. On the announcement of this verdict, the counsel for the railroad gave notice that an appeal would be entered for a new trial. The case excited a good deal of interest, and though in these latter day damage suits sympathy is almost always with the railroads by reason of the reckless way in which they have been "gouged," in this case at least the general opinion is that the verdict was a righteous one.
