The Daily Review has the largest bona fide circulation of any newspaper published in the city of Wilmington.

John Raskin is a devotee of chess, as well as art, having just joined the Oxford University Chess Club.

John Swinton says the saddest sound heard in New York is the hammering of the tough beef-stake set on boarding-house tables.

Don Carlos, of Spain, is in a very critical state of health. His ailment is in the throat, and he is about to start for Bombay in search of relief.

The report that Mr. Tilden has engaged rooms at Willard's Hotel for the inauguration ceremonies is denied on the authority of a California member of Congress.

Since 1871 the appointments to second lieutenancies in the army have amounted to 991, of which 666 were from the graduates at West Point, 259 from civil life, and 66 from the rank and file.

In the past season Montana has shipped East 76,650 head of beef cattle, 300 dressed hives, 90,000 sheep and 400 horses and mules. There were in the same period 98,219 cattle shipped into Montana.

Thomas Van Valin, who only lacked two weeks of being 105 years old, died on Christmas Day in Syracuse, New York. He was a pensioner of the war of 1812, and had been living in Syracuse fifty-two years.

Robert C. Winthrop hopes to recover sufficiently to write out his Washington Monument address, and if he does, his son, Robert Charles, Jr., has promised to read it, so as to keep the distinction in the family.

Charles Francis Adams, Jr., and ex-governor D. H. Chamberlain, of South Carolina, are still carrying on the discussion about the classics, inaugurated by the former's address, "A College Fetiche," at the Harvard commencement of 1883.

Kaiser Wilhelm's latest speech from the throne at the recent opening of the Reichstag was printed in especially large type instead of being written as heretofore. The venerable monarch can no longer read writing easily without spectacles, and he deems them out of place on state occasions.

Mr. Charles Ross, who recently died in England, aged eighty-four, entered the reporters' gallery of the House of Commons on the day that George IV. died in 1820. Up to the end of last year he was chief of the London Times parliamentary staff. His father had been employed on the Times before him.

Hon. John Kelly's health is still frail, but his friends say he is in a fair way of recovery. He declines taking any part in public business for the time being, and sees no one but his most intimate friends and relatives, in order to obtain the rest and repose which his physicians advise him as absolutely indispensable to his recovery.

Johann Most, the revolutionist, made one of his most violent and inflammatory speeches in Philadelphia Monday evening. He predicted a social revolution, which he summed up thus:—War to the throne, war to the altar, war to money-bags. I prophesy that sooner or later the red flag of the revolution will wave over Independence Hall.

Senator Vance has lately bought a tract of 1,500 acres of mountain land, a hundred miles or more from his home, and has started to clear enough of it for pasture lands and grazing ground for a little fine stock, which he will take up there to add to the creature comforts of a summer lodge. There are trout streams and a wealth of timber.

The British Reform bill of 1832 had less than 500,000 voters to the contrary of the United Kingdom. In the number of registered electors it had 1,136,000. In 1867 that number was increased to 2,448,000. The vote of population has increased it to about 3,000,000. The new measure of Mr. Gladstone's places the registers fully 2,000,000 voters above. Of this number England and Wales will have over $1,300,000, Scotland over 200,000, and Ireland over 90,000.

W-necked dresses are going to be popular with the lovely young ones, because if they should catch wearing them, haven't they got Bull's-Cough Syrup to cure them?

THE DAILY REVIEW.

VOL. IX. WILMINGTON, N. C., THURSDAY, JANUARY 1, 1885. NO. 1.

The tree in Japan from which the varnish for the famous lacquer work is made is disappearing, and the country is threatened with the loss of one of its greatest industries.

Mr. W. F. Sullivan, 13 W. 33rd street, New York City, says that for six years he has suffered with rheumatism, and for weeks was unable to get about or feed himself. Finally he tried the wonderful remedy, St. Jacobs Oil. "It cured me," he says, "and I have not been troubled with rheumatism since."

Be careful and write it 1885.

There was no City Court this morning.

The storm signals were flying to day.

Two white tramps were lodged in the guard house last night.

This month has five Thursdays, five Fridays and five Saturdays.

Nearly all the busiest houses on Water street were closed to-day.

Many of the stores were closed to-day, and the clerks and salesmen had a holiday.

We gain this month 39 minutes of daylight, nine in the morning and 30 in the afternoon.

This has been another beautiful day, but a cold wave is coming and "don't you forget it."

We wish all our readers a "Happy New Year," and hope that they all may "live long and prosper."

Ring out the old, ring in the new; ring out the false, ring in the true; and ring for beer and oysters for two.

Full moon last night! Likewise full man who wanted one more good drunk before swearing off forever on New Year.

Venus will be morning star until April 28th and from thence on until the close of the year will be evening star.

The suits that Dyer is making for $30.00 are simply superb, and lots of orders are being left for winter clothing and some are taking the advantage of the low price and order spring goods.

Probably three hundred families had jowl and peas for breakfast this morning, for "good luck" during the year. The jowl stands for cheek, you know, and the other things for peaceful success.

There will be two eclipses of the sun and two of the moon this year but only one of each will be visible here. These are the annual eclipse of the sun, March 16th, and a partial eclipse of the moon, Sept. 24th.

The adjourned meeting of the citizens of New Hanover county, which is announced elsewhere in this issue to be held at the Court House to-morrow night, will be important in character, and we trust that there may be a large turnout to take part in the proceedings.

A colored military company arrived here from Charleston, S. C., to-day and paraded through our streets this afternoon, during which they executed several military evolutions of an unusual character with much precision. The company numbered eight men with muskets.

Firemen's Parade
The different colored organizations connected with the fire department of the city paraded in front of the City Hall this afternoon. There was a goodly number in line and they presented quite a fine appearance. Subsequently they paraded through some of our principal streets.

Pounded.
The good people of the Fifth Street M. E. Church gave their new pastor, Rev. D. H. Tuttle, a noble pounding with all kinds of good things on New Year's eve. Through this medium he returns his sincere thanks, and says that he has more thanks in heart for another such a treat. The substance of this call will be long remembered.

St James' Home.

The Christmas Tree and Festival at St. James' Home yesterday afternoon for the benefit of the children connected with St. James' church was a pleasant affair. In the absence of the rector, Mr. J. H. Boatwright, Superintendent of St. James' Sunday School, conducted the exercises. Each pupil received a present, and all were made as happy as it was possible for childish mortals to be. Christmas carols were sung by the children and were rendered in excellent style and taste and with all the enthusiasm and spirit which happy and grateful hearts could express.

Military.

The next encampment of the Second Regiment, N. C. S. G. will be at Smithville, and will probably be held sometime in June next. Efforts are already being made with a view to have the regiment go into camp with full numbers and it is also expected that some of the companies of other regiments will be present. We hope that such may be the case and that there may be a full turnout with prizes offered to the best company in a competitive drill as an incentive. It would be pleasant if some of the military organizations of our sister State of South Carolina would also be in attendance.

A Good Joke.

This morning while everything was quite and serene a well known broker of this city, met "Henry," and asked him he had any objection to playing a trick on one of our grocery houses, "Certainly not," was the reply. A box of lemons, with the top taken off, was at the door of the house, upon which they placed a placard with the words "Take one."

Parties passing by saw the imitation and in a few minutes the box was nearly empty. One of the proprietors, happening to come in front of the store, saw the sign and also that the lemons were nearly all gone. He began an investigation, found out what had been going on, and promptly rendered a bill of $5 to the broker.

The Adventists Again.

The Adventists again come to the front and after repeated failures in fixing a date for the final mundane collapse are now sure that it will take place on the 4th inst. They have issued a circular in which they claim positively that the world is to break up, and that Gabriel's horn will blow on January 4th, 1885. Their explanation of the failure of their prophecy in 1884 is that "the measuring line was laid wrong." The Adventists argue that in prophecy a day is a year. In Ezekiel, 4-6, it says: "I have appointed thee each day for a year," and in the same chapter it says: "For at the time appointed the end shall be." The time appointed is 2,300 years, and, according to the Jewish calendar, that time will be up January 5, 1885, but reckoning from the advent movement, it comes one day sooner, January 4th. The faithful will leave Denver, Colorado, on the evening of January 4, and go to a spot distant about five miles on the Golden road, where they will remain to await the summons. On the morning of the 4th, just at daybreak, the earth is expected to swing to and fro like a pendulum. The sky, they say, will assume a blood red appearance, and nature will swoon and die. "Then the heavens will open in the east and we will ascend."

As they have fixed upon Sunday as the day of doom many will have an opportunity of witnessing the show who might otherwise be too busily engaged.

The Opera House.

"Peck's Bad Boy" was presented at the Opera House to a fair audience last night, and was heartily enjoyed. It was full to overflowing with fun and the audience were kept in a roar of almost continued laughter. The company is a good one—fully up to the average—and the play abounds in situations which called for the exercise of their best acting. They gave a matinee this afternoon, and will leave on to-night's train for Charleston, where they are to appear to-morrow night.

Personal.

Mr. Willis Turlington, of Bennettsville, S. C. is here on a short visit to his family and friends.
Capt. Walter Coney, formerly of this city, but for a number of years a resident of Charleston, S. C., arrived here this morning. We were glad to see him and to know that he was in excellent health.

A Good Time.

The grand ball, gotten up under the auspices of Germania Lodge, No. 4., K. of P., held last night at Germania Hall, was a brilliant affair. There was a large assemblage of ladies and gentlemen present, the music by the Italian band was excellent, the best of good feeling prevailed and the dancing was kept up until 3 o'clock this morning. All who attended were delighted with the pleasures of the occasion.

Vessels Arrived.

During the month ended December 31st, 1884, the number and tonnage of vessels arriving at this port were as follows:

American—4 steamers, 3,692 tons; 15 schooners, 3,888 tons; a total of 19 vessels and 7,580 tons.

Foreign—13 barques, 5,288 tons; 6 brigs, 1,654 tons; a total foreign of 19 vessels and 6,942 tons, and a grand total of 38 vessels, aggregating 14,522 tons. During the year just ended the total number of vessels arriving at this port was 434, aggregating 176,478 tons.

Hymeneal.

Yesterday's News and Observer says: "Yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock one of Raleigh's most popular young ladies, Miss Mary Walker Strong, was married to Mr. John Calvert, a young man who certainly has many friends here. The bride is a daughter of Hon. George V. Strong, and her beauty is only one of her many charms. The marriage was a quiet affair, taking place at the residence of Judge Strong, Rev. Edward R. Rich officiating. The attendants were Miss Malvina Cowan and Mr. B. Griemes Cowper. Only a few intimate friends were present. Mr. and Mrs. Calvert left on the 4:45 train, for Charlotte, their future home.

Death of Capt. Tate.

Capt. Robert Tate, whose death is announced in our obituary column, was a Scotchman by birth, and came to this country when he was about 18 years of age, making this city his first abiding place. He will be well remembered by many of our citizens. During the war he was Captain of Co. B., of the 18th N. C. regiment, in which he did efficient service. He moved to Bladenboro, Bladen county, before the war, and had resided there ever since. He was a genial hearted gentleman and will be sadly missed by his large circle of relatives and friends. His widow and eight children survive him.

Mr. C. B. Bishop.

This talented, well-known and favorite comedian will make his appearance with a good company at the Opera House on Monday night, January 5th. The play will be Widow Bedott, with Mr. Bishop in the title role. In speaking of the play the New York Herald says: "It would be a hard matter to find a more side-splitting entertainment than that given at Fourteenth Street Theatre, to-wit: 'The Widow Bedott,' with Mr. C. B. Bishop in the role of the obnoxious, husband-hunting 'relict.' His droll sayings, his malapropisms, his wonderful facial play and his irresistible bounce kept the audience in a tide of laughter that never ebbed until the curtain fell upon the wily Widow and her prey in the last tableau."

A Faithful Servant Dead.

At the dawn of the New Year Mamma Rosetta, the old family servant of the late Talcott Burr, Sr., breathed her last. Born in 1806, she was in her 79th year. At the close of the war her husband, Charles Hill, body servant to Dr. John Hill, Sr., asked her if she was willing to leave her former mistress and make with him a home for themselves. She refused to leave those whom she had served from her childhood, and he heartily agreed with her, telling her mistress that he only thought more of his wife for her decision. He was then invited to make his home with her, which he did, but soon fell a victim to that fatal fever which visited us in the Spring of '65. She survived him, though, herself too ill at the time to hear of it, and scorned to receive wages from those who had ever treated her with kindness and consideration, she has always made her home with her former owners by whom she has been as tenderly cared for as a relative could have been. "Faithful unto death," she died in the hope of a blessed inheritance. She will be buried from St. Stephen's Church to-morrow (Friday) morning at 10:30 o'clock. Her colored friends are invited to attend.

Step Ladders, all lengths, at JACOB'S Depot.

DIED.

TATE—At Bladenboro, Bladen county, on the evening of Dec. 31st, 18-4, of congestive chill, Capt. ROBERT TATE, aged about 70 years. His remains will be brought to this city for interment. Funeral at Oakdale Cemetery, at 10 o'clock, to-morrow (Friday) morning.
