The Daily Review has the largest bona fide circulation, of any newspaper published in the city of Wilmington.

Senator Plumb, of Kansas, complains of the "arrogance of the House."

Mr. Laboucheie, in Truth, said the other day that all Canada was fit for was Esquimaux and polar bears, and now everybody in the Dominion is mad.

The New York Star was sold Monday to a syndicate headed by George H. England, son of I. W. England, publisher of the Sun. The price paid is said to be $150,000.

Mrs. Lucia W. Roebling, widow of John A. Roebling, who prepared the plans for the construction of the East River bridge, died on Sunday at the Bristol, in New York.

James Parker, Treadwell, the San Francisco lawyer and capitalist, died on Saturday night. He was a graduate of Harvard College and went to California in 1852. His estate is valued at $5,000,000.

Mr. Riddleberger never was in much favor at the White House, and his recent opposition to the confirmation of Secretary McCulloch is said to have effectually "eliminated" him from the favor of the President and his friends.

Lord Coleridge's only daughter wears spectacles, and is not a beauty. But she is exceedingly clever and learned in classics. Her best friends have always deemed her a "very odd" person. When she left home she advertised for pupils.

Mr. Tennyson is getting box after box of Christmas bon-bons from the critics. The kindest of them declares that about the only good thing in the new drama, "Becket" is in the line:—"Men are God's trees, and women are God's flowers."

In North America there is a larger percentage of newspaper readers than in any other division of the world, the proportion being 36.66 copies to the per capita of population, while in Europe the proportion is 24.28, in Asia .01, in South America, 3.72, in Africa .01 and in Australasia 30.63.

John Coppinger, aged ninety, son of Henri Coppinger, who was Washington bugler at the siege of Yorktown, and has possession of the bugle used by his father, desires to be present in Washington on Dedication Day and sound the bugle again from the top of the Washington Monument. The veteran is living in Columbia, S. C.

From Fall River, Mass., one of the chiet seats of the cotton manufacture in the United States, comes the gratifying intelligence that all its mills have resumed and are giving full employment to the operatives at the wages paid previously to the last strike. Wages are paid weekly in cash, which is the case in few other manufacturing centres in the country.

John P. Irish, formerly one of the prominent Democrats of Iowa, now editor of the Times at Oakland, Cal., now in New York, reports that when he left home, on the 20th ult., the trees were in full leaf and the flowers in bloom. When he reached Nebraska this was changed to weather thirty degrees below zero, and other extremes have been met with on his journey to the eastward.

Queen Victoria's Christmas "royal baron" of beef was this year cut from a shorthorn of her own breeding, and weighed over 300 pounds. This huge joint is always roasted at Windsor Castle, and on Christmas Eve it is despatched to Osborne, where it is placed in the centre of the sideboard in the Queen's dining room, flanked on one side by a woodcock pie and on the other by a boar's head, of which Her Majesty receives several at Christmas from Germany.

Victoriano Nieves is one of the luckiest men in the world. He lives at Carmen, in Mexico, and is a millionaire. The other day he and his wife celebrated their golden wedding anniversary. It was a great day for old Signor Nieves. He gave a banquet and scattered dollars right and left. Five hundred thousand dollars in one lump were sent to the poor in the locust-eaten districts and $10,000 were given to the Republic to help pay off the American debt.

Days length 9 hours and 48 minutes.
There were no interments in Bellevue Cemetery this week.

The receipts of cotton at this port to day foot up 452 bales.
Sunset to-morrow afternoon at 59 minutes past 4 o'clock.

The market was well supplied with meats of all kinds this morning.

There were two interments in Oakdale Cemetery this week, both adults.

This was really a cold morning. In fact, it was the coldest we have had this year.

This sort of weather causes a disagreeable diminution in the woodpile and coalbin.

There were six interments in Pine Forest Cemetery this week, two adults and four children.

The Register of Deeds issued three marriage licences this week, one for a white and two for colored couples.

A dividend of 3 1/2 per cent has been declared by the stockholders of the First National Bank payable on the 10th inst.

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the First National Bank of Wilmington will be held in this city on Tuesday, the 13th inst.

Snits at cost can be had at Dyer's. The finest goods are now being made at a price never heard of before in the merchant tailoring trade.

Br. brig Ceredia, Evans, cleared today for Hamburg with 1,653 barrels rosin, valued at $2,039.60, shipped by Messrs. S. P. Shetter & Co.

Two white tramps were accommodated with lodgings at the guard house last night. They were sent across the river this morning with a word of caution not to return again.

Indications.
For the South Atlantic States, fair and warmer weather, preceded on the North Carolina coast by a slight fall in temperature and fresh to brisk winds.

The Skaters.
The masquerade carnival at the skating rink on Front street, opposite the New Market, on New Year's night, was quite a success pecuniarily, and an altogether enjoyable occasion. Some of the skaters were really skilful and were remarkable for the perfect ease and grace with which they moved about the floor. Mr. E. M. Cushing, the manager, did everything possible to make the skaters enjoy themselves, and he was entirely successful.

"Widow Bedott"
On Monday night, the 5th inst., Mr. C. B. Bishop will appear at the Opera House in the above named play, supported by an excellent company of which the Elmira, (N. Y.) Sunday Telegraph says:
The "Widow Bedott" party had a big house last evening—it being one of the largest and finest audiences of the season. The play and the playing of it, carried its assemblage by storm, and half the people present are laughing yet. Bishop was, of course, immense as the Widow. Like wife he gets better with age. The members of the company all fit their parts like a glove, and altogether it was a most entertaining and laughable performance.

City Court.
Archib. Campbell, colored, was brought before the Mayor this morning charged with disorderly conduct. He was a companion of Pompey Sneed, when the latter was turning things loose about the city, and has not improved in his conduct since Pompey baselied. He was fined $5 for the offence, in default of which he was sent below.

Two white tramps, who said that they belonged to New Jersey, were arrested as vagrants, they having been found begging on the streets. They said that they were waiting to go to New York on the next steamer, and were held until the time for the vessel to sail, when they will be placed on board of her.

Last Night's Meeting.

The meeting of the citizens of New Hanover county at the Court House last night, to consider the question of the Criminal Court, was well attended and a good deal of interest was manifested. Col. E. D. Hall was called to the chair and Capt. John Cowan acted as secretary. Upon taking the chair, Col. Hall stated the object of the meeting, after which Mr. H. A. Bagg, Chairman of the Board of County Commissioners, being called upon, submitted a comparative statement explanatory of the cost and work of the Criminal Court in the past, and declared it to be the opinion of the County Commissioners that the court was a necessity. Speeches were made by Col. Roger Moore and Messrs. M. and J. D. Bellamy in advocacy of the establishment of a Criminal Circuit Court, urging as a principal reason that the cost would not be so burdensome to the county by such a system. Hon. George Davis and Messrs. N. Jacobi and E. S. Martin took opposite views of the matter. Mr. A. G. R. caud spoke in favor of the Circuit Court system and introduced the following preamble and resolution:

"WHEREAS, The State of North Carolina should bear the burden of administering the criminal law in New Hanover, as well as in other counties of the State, therefore be it

Resolved, That it is the sense of this meeting that New Hanover county should be placed either in a Criminal Circuit or that there be such additional terms of the Superior Court, with exclusive criminal jurisdiction, as may be necessary to dispose of the criminal business, and as may be practicable by reason of an increase of the number of Superior Court Judges. We earnestly recommend to the Legislature either one or the other of the above courses, as the Legislature may in its wisdom determine; but in the event that neither course as above indicated shall be adopted by the General Assembly, then we earnestly recommend the continuance of the present Criminal Court and the retention of the present officials of that Court.

Hon. George Davis offered the following as a substitute for Mr. Ricard's resolution:

Resolved, That it is the opinion and desire of the people of Wilmington that the Criminal Court of New Hanover county, as at present established by law, should be preserved and continued.

This provoked considerable debate when, upon motion, the substitute was declared carried by a viva voce vote. A division was called for when the chair appointed Mr. DuBrutz Cutlar and Dr. W. W. Harris tellers. The vote being taken by count, the substitute offered by Mr. Davis was declared adopted by 57 yeas and 45 noes. The announcement of the result created considerable confusion, some of the opponents of the resolution declaring that the vote should have been taken by ballot. A motion was then made and seconded to adjourn and a ballot called for, which was ordered by the chair. The motion was lost by a vote of 53 yeas to 65 nays. Mr. M. Bellamy then renewed the motion to adjourn, which was carried.

The Suicide.
Late last evening Coroner Jacobs received the following dispatch from the friends of the unfortunate suicide whose body was found on the opposite side of the river on Thursday afternoon:
MISHAWAKA, IND., Jan. 2nd, 1884.
To David Jacobs, Coroner.
Send remains here in black cloth covered casket—cost forty dollars—by express, via American Express from Cincinnati. Send watch, chain, ring, pocket-book, knife and contents of pockets in a package by express to me. He had a buff colored valise, overcoat and extra suit of clothes. If found send. J. Z. WILKELAW.
Agt. Am. Ex. Co.

Coroner Jacobs has replied that by sending the money necessary to defray the costs incident to shipment the body would be forwarded as requested, as the Express Company here demanded pre-payment of expenses. The present effects of the deceased cannot be forwarded until they have been administered upon in this State.

This afternoon Coroner Jacobs received a telegraphic money dispatch for $100, but as this amount is not sufficient to pay all necessary expenses, including expressage, he has telegraphed for more.

Mr. John Lane, of Hyde Park, Cook county, Ill., aged sixty, states that after six months suffering with gout and rheumatism without relief, he finally tried St. Jacobs Oil, the great pain-cure, and was cured.

A Young Hero.

Here is a tale of the terrors of the sea and of an act of rare heroism on the part of a young man known to many here, which is rarely equalled. The Griffin cleared at this port on the 6th ult., for Philadelphia, although it seems that she did not sail until the 13th. Capt. Rice tells the story to a reporter for the Philadelphia Press as follows:—"We sailed from Wilmington," said the captain, "on December 13. The weather was clear and we looked forward to reaching Philadelphia in our regular time. The very next day a heavy southerly wind started up. The canvas stretched and the masts seemed to bend as they never bent before. That night at eight bells I went on deck and found the watch in a state of great anxiety. Their nerves seemed completely unstrung. Their faces were pale, and the voices of some of them were husky with fear. They told me there was trouble sure to come, for a shark had been following us for more than an hour. You may laugh at that, but to sailors such a thing means a great deal. They are superstitions, and with them a shark following a ship portends trouble. "Well, the next day a storm did come, sure enough. The winds came from every point of the compass. The ship plunged forward one moment and the next was struck broadside with a blast that made every timber shake. The sea was frightfully rough and the waves very high. All our hatches were battened down and the sails reefed down to the lowest possible spread of canvas. We were completely at the mercy of the weather. My men were exhausted and some of them were completely demoralized. The gale kept up for four days, and I didn't get to my bunk once that whole time. The water was icy cold, and not only was every one wet, but at times our clothes were frozen stiff.

"The wind veered on the fifth day out, and blew a regular hurricane in the Northeast. We were then thirty miles South of Cape Henlopen. The hurricane carried us along at a fearful rate. Life lines were stretched along the deck and preparations made to leave the ship in case she should strike a leak or be flooded. Once we were struck full on the starboard side with a great roll of water and the next moment sank beneath a second great wave that followed close upon the first and almost swallowed us up. The sea made a complete break over the vessel and there was not a man who was not dashed from his place and thrown about on the deck. One of the life lines broke and the poor fellow who had been holding on to it for dear life was flung clear across deck and thrown against the bulwarks on the port side. He was found there a few minutes later almost unconscious.

AN ACT OF HEROISM.
"That morning I myself was knocked overboard. I had ventured to make close reef in the foresail, and although it was hard work to keep my feet, I was getting along pretty well until I was struck by the downhaul of the forepeak and knocked over the bulwarks. I sunk into the sea thinking that my last hour had come, and to tell the truth, I gave up all hope. Those of the crew who could see the accident were horrified. Without a moment's hesitation my son, fastening a rope to the taffrail, jumped overboard with the coil in his hand. I was just aft of the ship, rising from my first sinking. He swam out to me, though how he buffeted those waves in that cold water God only knows. A moment later he had me in his grip, and with a power that was almost superhuman, kept himself afloat while he passed the rope around my waist. Then, catching the rope himself and holding me up, for I was helpless, he signalled to the crew to draw us in. They got us alongside, and we were safe. I was pulled up first, more dead than alive, and my son was then hauled up.

"My boy is only 21 years old, and it is a wonder how he saved me. The rest of our trip was stormy, but uneventful. Such weather as we had those days I never saw before."

Something Quite Unexpected.
A very extraordinary case is that of Mr. T. O. Hall, one of the best known newspaper men in Louisville, Ky. For sixteen years he had been annoyed with tetter, and had given up all hope of its removal. He was also troubled with indigestion, for which he tried Brown's Iron Bitters. He writes, "The bitters did splendidly for indigestion, and the tetter commenced itching and developing on the surface and for four days was more annoying than ever before. Still I never thought the bitters was causing the trouble until Mrs. H. suggested it, and I then realized that my great torment had a master. I bathed the tetter externally, softening the surface thoroughly, when a waterish substance poured out like July perspiration on a cornfield dark, then in a very short time the itching sensation stopped. The sore caused by the expulsion of the tetter is not yet healed but I know that the cause of the unmitigated trouble is forever removed."

Mr. F. W. Runyon, advance agent for J. B. Pond's literary bureau, is in the city to day making arrangements for a lecture by Hon. Carl Schurz, which will probably be at the Opera House on the night of the 20th inst. Mr. Runyon gave us the pleasure of a call this morning.
