THE DAILY REVIEW.

VOL. IX. WILMINGTON, N. C., WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 14, 1885. NO. 12.

The Daily Review has the largest bona fide circulation of any newspaper published in the city of Wilmington.

It is evident to even the most casual observer that the renowned General William Tecumseh Sherman, the man who devastated Georgia and burned Columbia, is not easy in his mind as to his unwarranted, unlicensed and uncalculated attack on ex-President Jefferson Davis. Having grossly slandered Mr. Davis by charging him with an intention to override States Rights and a sume a dictatorship over the Confederate States, he is desperately in search of proofs of his assertions. In Sunday's Herald a long letter from Sherman to Secretary Lincoln is published, endeavoring to fortify the position which he has assumed, and yet he fails to produce one particle of documentary evidence bearing on the subject. The animus of the paper is very apparent at its close when he ranks Mr. Davis with Arnold and Burr, rather than with Washington and Lincoln, and in this Gen. Sherman gives himself away most effectually.

The most wonderful part of the whole document, however, is the disingenuousness with which Gen. Sherman himself proves some of the worst acts of vandalism which have been charged against him. Heretofore his devastating march through Georgia has been defended, by some, on the plea of military necessities in obtaining supplies and by others the outrage and robbery and burning and rapine which marked his path have been charged to the bummers who hung upon his line of march and followed in his footsteps and who, it has been said; it was impossible for him to restrain, and yet Gen. Sherman says to Secretary Lincoln that when at Atlanta he caused overtures to be made to Gov. Brown to the effect that if he, Brown, would recall the Georgia troops from the Confederate armies and help him to drive Gen. Hood from the State then he (Sherman) "instead of devastating the land as we progress, I will keep our men to the high roads and commons, and pay for the corn and meat we need." He also speaks, in the same connection, of "the devastations of war, preparing for her" (Georgia).

He also asserts, but brings no documentary evidence to prove it, that Gov. Vance, "the war Governor of North Carolina" sent commissioners to him, when he was in North Carolina, to say that "he wanted to make terms for the State" and afterwards the commissioners told him that Vance "was afraid of Jeff Davis." Fortunately for Gen. Sherman's reputation for veracity, of these three commissioners, Gov. Swain and Hon. Wm. A. Graham are dead and Surgeon General Warren is absent in Europe, facts of which Gov. Sherman has undoubtedly been fully advised. But Gov. Vance is still "to the fore" and will most likely take care of himself, as he is abundantly able to do.

But the most singular and foolish error into which Gen. Sherman has fallen is indicated, where he says: "Had Georgia withdrawn in 1864 the Confederacy would have collapsed as a bubble and Georgia, South Carolina and North Carolina would have escaped the devastation which necessarily followed."

Now, in the first place, who could have withdrawn Georgia from the Confederacy? Not Gov. Brown, even if he had been so disposed, for he was but the sworn executor of the law; not the Legislature, for the State was not withdrawn from the Union by legislative enactment; and not the courts, for they had no jurisdiction in the premises. Georgia, like all of the Southern States, seceded in consequence of an ordinance of secession, passed by a convention composed of delegates chosen by the qualified voters of the State and these qualified voters, a large majority of them, were in the field fighting for their homes and firesides. To withdraw Georgia from the Confederacy would have required the assent and approval of the soldiers in the field. Could this have been obtained? The answer is not hard to determine.

But, say that a constitutional convention had been secured, and that the ordinance of secession had been repealed, could Gov. Brown, or could any other Governor of a Southern State, have recalled the troops of that State from the field? Would President Davis and his Cabinet, or Gen. Lee and his lieutenants, have allowed them to leave? Surely not, for the troops from each State were not in the service of their respective States, but in that of the Confederate States, and the volunteers had all, of their own volition taken an oath of service for the war.

All who would have left, or who would have attempted to leave, would have properly been classed as deserters. But we have pursued the subject further than we had intended. Only we can but ask one question. If, say for instance, Gov. Curtin, the "War Governor" of Pennsylvania, or Governor Morton, the "War Governor" of Ohio, had undertaken to do as Gen. Sherman wanted Gov. Brown to do, withdraw the State troops from the field, what would have been the result? Why, Secretary Stanton's little bell would have tinkled, and in less than twenty-four hours afterwards the offending executive would have been provided with comfortable quarters in Fort Delaware.

Mr. R. Etches, of Hartford, Conn., was for a long time troubled with rheumatism. Hetrid St. Jacobs Oil, the great pain-cure, and was completely cured.

The receipts of cotton at this port today foot up 327 bales.

The steamship Benefactor, Tribon, from New York, arrived at her wharf in this city this morning.

Don't forget that you get a real dude, represented on a plaque, free to all customers at Dyer's.

The docks were crowded with flat loads of wood this morning and the prices asked were very reasonable.

The cold wave is coming along rather leisurely, but it is coming and we hope that our people will be fully prepared for it.

There were two cases for the Mayor's consideration this morning one of which was discharged and the other was sent below for 20 days.

Ger. barque Charlotte, Wallis, cleared today for Stettin with 3,567 barrels rosin, valued at $4,300, shipped by Messrs. E. Peschau & Westermann.

Steamboatmen report that the river was rising rapidly when they left Fayetteville yesterday morning. It had risen several feet and was still on the rise.

The Richmond State shows much enterprise in publishing on Monday a list of the officers of the Atlanta Coast Line, as reorganized, the same as published in the DAILY REVIEW on the 29th of December, nearly three weeks ago.

A horse attached to a dray attempted to run away this afternoon when near the intersection of Chestnut and Water streets, and for a few moments made things quite lively. He was subdued, however, before doing serious damage to anything.

The Spanish schooner Natividad, which was brought into Smithville yesterday in distress, was towed up to the city last night by the Passport, and is now at the ship yard in the Southern section of the city, where she will be discharged and repaired.

The supper at the City Hall last night, gotten up under the auspices of the ladies of the First Baptist church, was quite a success financially. The attendance was not large, but those who were present were blessed with good appetites and bought liberally, so that nearly all of the articles contributed were disposed of.

Look at Your Ticket.

At the regular monthly drawing of the Louisiana State Lottery, held at New Orleans yesterday, the following numbers drew the principal prizes: No. 15,965 drew the capital prize of $75,000; No. 57,741 drew $25,000; No. 5,153 drew $10,000; Nos. 67,827 and 59,256 drew $6,000 each; Nos. 66,595, 76,719 and 92,001 drew $2,000 each. This is the result so far as heard from.

Polo on Skates.

The game of polo on skates, spoken of by us a few days since in these columns, will be played at the City Hall on Friday evening next between two picked nines, the Red Stockings, Capt. Morrison and the Blue Stockings, Capt. Bostow. It will be a unique and pleasant entertainment, something never before attempted in this city. Good music will be furnished and there will be courteous and polite attendants at hand. The admission is very low, only 25 cents.

Knights and Ladies of Honor.
Regular meeting this (Wednesday) evening. Full attendance desired. It

Indications.

For the South Atlantic States, fair weather, slight change in temperature and Northeasterly winds.

Masonic.

The Grand Lodge A. F. and A. Masons of North Carolina, met in Raleigh last night. Messrs. C. H. Robinson, G. S. W. J. 1. Macks, J. C. Mauds and E. S. Martin, of this city, are in attendance. Maj. Robert Bingham, Grand Master, presides.

Token of Respect.

The flags of the steamship Benefactor, were at half mast today as a token of respect to the memory of Mr. Thomas Clyde, who died at his residence in Philadelphia on the night of the 12th inst. The deceased was the father of Mr. Wm. P. Clyde of the firm of Wm. P. Clyde & Co., and was the founder of the Clyde line of steamers from New York to Baltimore, Wilmington, Charleston and other Southern ports.

A Poor Unfortunate.

Two tramps—one white and one colored—were accommodated with lodgings at the guard house last night. The latter is retained for the present as he is a most pitiable object. He has hardly clothing enough to cover his nakedness and is not more than half-witted. He is about 20 years of age and says that he came to the city on a raft from Beatty's Bridge. He is entirely incompetent to care for himself properly and it is a question what should be done with the unfortunate creature.

Accidentally Drowned.

The steamer Stacie, Capt. Snell, was coming down the river at about half past 12 o'clock this morning, laden with wood and having two flat-loads of wood in tow, and in attempting to come through the draw of the bridge, near the Nayassa Guane works, one of the flats struck the pin and was broken loose from the steamer. By some accident Jim Shaw, colored, was knocked or fell overboard and was drowned before assistance could reach him. The first that was known of his being overboard was by hearing his shouts for help from the river. The deceased was about 65 years of age and leaves a wife, who lives in the neighborhood of Jumping Run. His body had not been recovered at the latest accounts.

Personal.

Mr. A. R. Campbell, of this city, is in Washington.

Maj. C. M. Stedman, who has been in the city for the past few days, left last night on his return to Raleigh.

Mr. O. V. Smith, General Claim Agent of the Atlantic Coast Line and the Seaboard Air Line, is in the city today.

Hon. R. T. Bennett, Representative in Congress from this district, who has been quite sick at his home in Wadesboro, has recovered sufficiently to take his seat in the House.

Mr. J. R. Kenly, formerly Superintendent of the Richmond & Petersburg R. R., and recently appointed Superintendent of Transportation of the Atlantic Coast Line, has arrived here and has assumed charge of the duties of his office.

The Charlotte Observer's Washington correspondent says that Dr. A. J. DeRosset and O. G. Parsley, Esq., are among the applicants for the Custom House in this city, and that Mr. Thos. W. Strange is seeking the position of District Attorney for the Eastern District.

Mr. Thos. W. Strange has returned to the city after an absence of something more than a week. He was present last week in Richmond as one of the groomsmen at the marriage of Mr. Clement Manly, of Newbern, to Col. A. S. Buford's daughter, and went thence to Washington City, where he remained about a week.

Mr. H. M. Robinson, a young gentleman who has been chief clerk in the office of Mr. B. R. Dunn, Engineer of Roadway, Atlantic Coast Line, in this city, has been appointed a roadmaster on the line. He will divide with Capt. John Barry the route between Wilmington and Richmond, the Tar river being the dividing line. Capt. Barry will continue in charge of the Southern section.

Our citizens will bear in mind that there will be a public meeting at the City Hall to-night to consider suggestions of the Board of Aldermen relating to a contemplated change in the charter of the city.
