The Daily Review has the largest bona fide circulation of any newspaper published in the city of Wilmington.

The late Nicholas Trubur, bookseller, left property in London worth $750,000.

The embarrassing thing in being an officer-seeker in Missouri at present is there are about 20,000 more seekers than there are offices.

The assessed valuation of real estate in New York City shows an increase of $55,306,398 over that of 1884. The anticipated amount was $40,000,000.

Ernest L. Major, a young student of Richmond, Va., has been sent to Rome by the directors of the art scholarship fund, to which the late Julius Hallgarten contributed $5,000 and the Harpers, publishers, $5,000.

Charles Gayarre, a Creole critic, declares that Mr. Cable's knowledge of the Creole patois "would not overload the back of a mouse." There never lived such absurd Creoles, he thinks, as those that sun themselves in Mr. Cable's books.

A citizen of Hartford, Conn., now over eighty years of age, who has smoked for over sixty-seven years, has kept an account of his cigar expenses, and finds that if he had invested the same sum every six months and placed it at compound interest he would now have $200,000 to his credit.

At the recent great sale of precious stones by Mr. Streeter, the eminent London jeweler, the largest sum given was for a necklace, composed of seventy one ornamental pearls, which sold for £3,900. Another necklace, composed of twenty clusters of emeralds and diamonds—a magnificent article—brought £830.

Joaquin Miller writes that he has found in New Orleans the noblest woman he ever saw, and he professes to have "seen the world well." She was born to wealth, received a careful education, traveled extensively in Europe, and at length became poor. She now keeps a little shoe store, and works with her father and sister at making the stock.

Governor Bate, in his annual message to the Tennessee Legislature, summarizes the reports of the State's finance departments. The receipts from all sources for two years ending December 31 were $2,346,353.94; disbursements, $1,701,139.11; balance in the treasury, $645,214.83. From July, 1883, to December 31, 1884, the total bonds funded amounted to $8,090,215.39, leave unrefunded $20,695,851.

The sudden death of the venerable Isaiah Rynders, of New York city, removes from the stage of life one of the old school politicians of that city. His record goes back to the days of Marcy and Wright. He won his renown as a local politician through his leadership of the Empire Club, a Democratic organization which was for many years "powerful" in the politics of the Metropolis.

Prof. Fischer, of Munich, is said to have obtained from distilled coal a white crystalline powder which, in its action on the system, cannot be distinguished from quinine. Its efficacy in reducing fever heat is thought to be remarkable, though one of our wholesale druggists says the amount of the drug required to produce this effect is so large as to preclude any rivalry between it and genuine quinine.

Mrs. Mary Howitt, the famous wife of a man also famous in literature, still lives, at the age of eighty-five years, in her Tyrolean home. Five years ago her husband died, and three of her five children have now passed beyond. One son is living in Australia, and the youngest child of all, Margaret Anastasia, is the devoted attendant of her mother. She, too, has won literary fame.

Mme. Clovis Hugues was not acquitted at all in the American sense. The jury disagreed, six being for conviction, two for acquittal and four neutral. In an American Court she would have been held for a second trial. To give a climax to the absurd logic of French procedure, the husband is now about to prosecute the real sender of those scandalous postal cards which first excited the wife's murderous rage against Morin.

Sea Sufferings. Mr. H. P. Leslie, of Elkton, Md., late of the U. S. Navy, was cured of rheumatism and neuralgia, by a few applications of St. Jacobs Oil, the great pain-cure.

THE DAILY REVIEW.

VOL. IX. WILMINGTON, N. C., MONDAY, JANUARY 19, 1885. NO. 16.

Leopold von Ranke, historian, has completed his fourscore and ten years.

Lord Cadogan's essay on the state of "the turf" in the last Fortnightly astonishes and amuses the British sportsmen. The late steward of the Jockey Club objects to selling races as productive of dishonesty, recommends a return to the old-fashioned open meetings, condemning gate-money meetings, and pronouncing ready money betting the principal cause of the disrepute of the turf. He does not see anything essentially wrong in the institution.

A little strip of sidewalk, about five feet wide, in front of the United States Court House in Boston, is constantly the refuge of the street peddlers of bouquets who wish to evade the payment of the license fee which the city ordinances require. As the strip is the property of the United States, they can there bid defiance to the police, but it not infrequently happens that their eagerness to sell lures them out, and then, it caught, they are brought to Court and fined.

The New York World says: "It may be remarked that the recent consolidation of gas companies in this city and the reduction of the price of gas to $1.75 per thousand cubic feet partakes of the nature of a delusion and snare. The quality of the gas has deteriorated. Household holders who were formerly able to light their parlors with two burners are now compelled to use four and six. As a consequence gas bills are larger than they used to be. Naturally there is a feeling of discontent among the gas consumers. But, of course, that will not make the slightest impression upon the consolidated gas companies."

The caucus of the Democratic members of the Legislature held in Raleigh last week nominated Senator Vance as his own successor in the U. S. Senate and recommended Hon. Daniel G. Fowle for the position of Solicitor-General. The resolutions in regard to Judge Fowle were introduced by Senator Troy, of Cumberland, and are as follows:

Resolved, That the Democratic members of the general assembly of North Carolina do hereby heartily recommend and endorse Hon. Daniel G. Fowle as a gentleman eminently fitted by legal attainments, untiring industry and unimpeachable integrity for the office of solicitor general of the United States.

Resolved, That the chairmen of this meeting send a copy of this resolution to Hon. Grover Cleveland, President elect of the United States.

This action on the part of the caucus will be received with great favor throughout the entire State. No better selection could be made for the position and we feel confident that the wishes of the people of North Carolina thus expressed through their representatives will determine the result when the appointment is to be made.

The Jersey Lily has become quite famous for her beauty, and she means to keep it, too, for, hasn't she learned in the great United States to cure colds with Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup?

Dedicatory Services.
The solemn and impressive ceremony of re-dedicating St. Thomas' Catholic church was performed yesterday, the services being required by the enlargement and renovation of the edifice. The ceremony of the occasion was the dedicatory services, which took place in the morning, conducted by Right Rev. H. P. Northrop, assisted by Very Rev. M. S. Gross, and Revs. M. W. Caughey, J. B. White and P. Moore. One of the incidents of the ceremony was a procession, the central figure of which was the Right Rev. Bishop, arrayed in full pontifical, accompanied by the assistant priests, acolytes, cross-bearers and the Young Catholic Friend's Society, which moved around the edifice, the walls of which were sprinkled with hallowed water, amid the chanting of psalms. This was followed by a solemn pontifical mass in the church, in which Right Rev. Bishop Northrop was the celebrant; Very Rev. M. S. Gross was assistant priest, Rev. J. B. White deacon, Rev. P. Moore sub-deacon and Rev. M. W. Caughey was master ceremonies. The ceremony was beautiful, and the clergy were suitably arrayed in appropriate vestments, according to the ritual of the church. The music for the occasion was excellent, Farmer's Mass being sung by the choir in excellent taste. Mr. I. Greenwald presided at the organ, which is really a fine instrument, and which he handled with consummate skill. There was an immense congregation gathered to witness the imposing and impressive ceremony, and all were imbued with the solemnity of the occasion. Archbishop Gibbons preached the sermon of the occasion, taking for his text a verse from the 16th chapter of Matthew.

There were vespers at night, at which Right Rev. H. P. Northrop preached, addressing himself particularly to the ceremony of the dedication.

Personal.
Hon. Carl Schurz, while in the city, will be the guest of Rev. F. W. E. Peschau.

Hon. Carl Schurz is expected to arrive here on the 7:30 train from Raleigh to-night.

Mr. W. H. Chadbourne, Senator from this district, Mr. C. P. Lockey, Representative from this county and Mr. W. J. Sutton, Representative from Bladen county, were in the city to-day.

Rev. W. H. Lewis, D. D., the new Rector of St. James' Church, preached his first sermon at that Church yesterday morning, and to a large congregation. Last night he preached in St. John's Church.

Mrs. F. W. E. Peschau is on a visit to her birthplace at York Springs, Pa., which will probably be a farewell visit, as her parents have sold the "old homestead" and will remove to London, Ohio, in the Spring.

Miss Agnes Niemeyer, who has been in quite feeble health for several weeks, is improving and is in a fair way of entire and speedy recovery, a fact which will be welcome intelligence to her many admiring friends.

Rev. T. W. Dosh, D. D., for many years one of the professors of the Lutheran Theological Seminary at Salem, Va., and now editor of the Lutheran Home, a mouthly magazine, is expected here in a few days and will spend about a week in our city.

Arrangements have been nearly perfected to give a German-English Concert at the Lutheran Memorial building sometime during the early part of February next. It will be given by amateurs.

For durable coloring the walls of rooms in beautiful tints, at little cost nothing equals the MABLEINE sold at Jacob's Depot.
