The folly of continued litigation over mall amounts was rarely better illus. trated than in a case between a Pitts burg dry goods firm and a Rochester tradesman. The latter bought a bill of goods from the forme; to be sent in a small bale, on which the expressage was twenty-five cents. The Pittsburg merchant, however, boxed up package and the express charge was thirty-five cents. The Rochester man refused to pay the unauthorized ten cents extra. and the Pittsburg firm sued him for it. They won the case, but the Rochester man thinks of taking an appeal to the Supreme Cour;, so there is no knowing where the fool litigation will end or how much that paltry dime will cost both parties.

The New York Sun is authority for the following: "The Japanese dentist does not frighten his patients with an array of steel instruments. All of his operations in tooth-drawing are performed by the thumb and forefinger of one hand. The skill necessary to do this is only acquired after long practice, but once it is obtained the operator is able to extract half a dozen teeth in about thirty seconds without once removing his fingers from the patient's mouth. The dentist's education commences with the pulling out of pegs which have been pressed into soft wood; it ends with the drawing of hard pegs which have been driven into an oak plank with a mallet. A writer in the Union Medicale says that no human jaw can resist the delicate but po verful manipulation of the Japanese dentist."

At first sight it would seem that such a remedy is al. mos' as bad as the disease it cures; but it is evidently not quite so bad. The mill itself remains, and in a few weeks. instead of months, can be put in run ning order again. Besides, where there were goods and machinery capable of sustaining so much damage from water, the loss by total destruction would evidently have been much greater. Extraordinary care is taken against fire in all New England mills. All or nearly all of them belong to mutual insurance companies, and for their own protection insist upon frequent inspections and the adoption of all approved inventions for the prevention and quenching of fires, Among these is the sprinkler, which has more than once proved its efficacy, either in extinguishing incipient fires or in prevent-

The death of the Earl of Aylesford among the cowboys appears to be ano her argument of some prominence to the effect that mere spendthriftism and libertinism will get away with the healthiest and best protected persons in due time. Even among the cowboys he always opened a fresh bottle when any guest arrived and as a natural con sequence died of inflammation of the bowels at the age of thirty-five. On January 10, 1871, he succeeded his father as the seventh Earl of Aylesford He was married to Edith, the third daughter of Lieut. Col Peers Williams, kindness than a copper-bottomed preof Temple House, Berks, on January 8, 1871. He had two daughters, Hilda Joanna Gwendolm, who was born on July, 25, 1872, and Alexandra Louise Minna, born July 9, 1875. The Prince of Wales stood sponsor for the latter He was an intimate satellite of the estimate that at this rate her bones are Prince of Wales, accompanying his Royal Highness on his India expedition and was his companion in many famous frolics. His wife eloped with Lord Blandford, now Duke of Marlborough, and the Queen's Proctor intervened to prevent his obtaining a divorce from her. He dropped out of London society and devoted himself to a roving existonce, found his way to Big Springs, Texas, bought 27,000 acres of the Texas Pacific land grant and meant to live a wild, prodigal life on the plains, perhaps sometime to retorm, when a caller came that refused the bottle and ended the entire game-that is all.
