STRATED OR STOLEN—Newfoundland Dog

The receipts of cotton at this port today foot up 214 bales.

The off shore storm signal was flying this morning.

There was a total absence of the tramp fraternity at the guard house last night.

This morning the weather was beautiful and pleasant, for the first time in many days.

There is a big run for the $5 trousers at Dyer's. They are certainly fine and don't you forget it.

The market was bountifully supplied with meats of all kinds this morning and the quality was very good.

This weather may be delightful, but news out to "parr out" worth a cent. It has been a remarkably dull day for news gathering.

To every Housekeeper a good substantial cook stove is an important necessity and our readers will find the best at Factory prices at JACOBI'S Hardware Depot.

We observe quite a fine display of new Revolvers for very reasonable prices, at Jacobi's Hardware Depot.

A colored man named Charlie Jackson fell down in a fit on Market street this morning, which was the cause of some excitement for a few moments.

Messrs W. E. Davis & Son have lost two of their carrier pigeons. They were turned loose at the fishery, 21 miles from the city, a few days ago and have not been seen since.

Milton Nobles, who is a particular favorite with the theatre going people of Wilmington, is booked to appear at the Opera House on the nights of the 11th and 12th of February next.

While we have had no intensely cold weather, we have had none that could be called really pleasant weather since Christmas. January has been an unpleasant month thus far until today.

Workmen are busily engaged at the marine railway in repairing the tug Wm. Noyce, which was recently damaged so seriously by fire. She will be ready for service again in about six weeks.

A number of superior dressed hogs were brought into market this morning, one of which weighed a trifle more than 400 pounds. They were raised by Mr. E. T. Conway, at Greenville Sound.

A colored man with an ox and cart and in a high state of hilarious excitement, passed along North Second street at about 8 o'clock last night shouting "Hurrah for the Custom House men and the Postoffice men! Won't they have to git up and git after the 4th of March?"

Personal.
We regret to hear that Mr. W. E. Mayo is sick at his house on Dock street, between Front and Second.

Dropped Dead.
Lucy Copeland, a colored woman, aged about 60 years, dropped dead this morning on Fourth street, between Church and Castle. She was unmarried and had been a cook nearly all her life. Heart disease was pronounced the cause of death.

Shad.
Two shad, the first of the season, were brought into the city today. They were caught yesterday by Messrs. Canaday and Arthur, of the fishing boat Cleveland, which belongs to Mr. John Piver, of the city police force. The price asked for the pair was only $3, but whether they brought that amount or not is more than we are able to say.

All kinds of pains and aches yield at once to St. Jacobs Oil, the sovereign cure.

"Suffering Humanity Owe You a Debt of Gratitude."
Writes Mr. Harry W. Olmstead Professor, Indianapolis, Ind. Times: "Life was almost a burden to me caused by Kidney Disease. The best physicians eye me no relief. I used Dr. David Kennedy's 'Favorite Remedy' and can say I feel like a new man. I am confident I am entirely cured and write to return my sincere thanks for the cure your medicine has effected. I shall use every opportunity to let sufferers know where they may find relief."

Step Ladders, all lengths, at JACOBI'S Depot.

At Rest.
The obsequies of the late Mr. William Hankins were held at 11 o'clock this morning at Front Street M. E. Church. Rev. Dr. Yates, the pastor, officiating. The remains were conveyed to Oakdale Cemetery for interment, the pall-bearers being Drs. J. D. Bellamy and W. W. Harriss, and Messrs Alfred Alderman, J. W. Thompson, David Walsh and John Yopp.

Another Gone.
We regret to learn of the death of Mr. George O. VanAmringe, which occurred in this city this morning, after a lingering illness. Mr. VanAmringe was 50 years of age, and had been nearly a life-long resident of Wilmington. He was an excellent man of business, and possessed many kindly traits of character, which endeared him most to those who knew him best. The funeral services will be held to-morrow afternoon from the residence of Mr. George Chadborn, on South Front street.

City Court.
Candace Dunstan, alias Candace Wilson, colored, was brought before Mayor Hall this morning, charged with disorderly conduct, and was required to pay a fine of $5 for the offense.

Samuel King, also colored, for an assault with a deadly weapon with intent to kill, was required to give a bond in the sum of $50 for his appearance at the next term of the Criminal Court, in default of which he was committed to jail.

She Got Them.
If some of our citizens, who have recently lost their chickens, had pursued the plan adopted by a colored woman a short time since, they might have found their property and at the same time gotten a clue to the thief. The woman to whom we refer arose one morning, not long since, and found that some thief during the night had stolen her chickens, and upon the discovery of her loss she proceeded as quickly as possible to the market where she soon found them and took them home in triumph. She says, "The measly no-count niggers needn't try to steal my chickens, fer I'll find 'em every time!" The same plan, if pursued by other victims, would undoubtedly produce the same successful result.

Literary.
One of the articles in the February Magazine of American History is Rev. Dr. Vermilye's sketch of the "Early New York Post Office," accompanied with several illustrations. The second article, by Horatio Hale, describes the Mohawk Chief, George H. M. Johnson, with a graphic account of his work among the Six Nations. His portrait in Indian costume is striking. Col. William Howard Mills contributes material concerning "Benedict Arnold's March through Maine to Canada." Hon. Charles Gayarre discusses the character of Andrew Jackson, furnishing extracts from letters never before given to the public. Prof. Wilson settles the question as to "Andre's Landing Place at Haverstraw." It contains an interesting sketch of Colonel Alexander William Doniphan, by Thomas L. Sneed, and a criticism on "Some Recent School Books," by Prof. Channing, of Harvard. Price, $5 a year in advance. Published at 30 Lafayette Place, New York City.

Little Bridge.
We understand that the question of an iron bridge for Smith's Creek has been mooted and that the matter has been seriously considered by the Board of County Commissioners, who have not, however, as yet come to a decision upon the matter. It will probably also be brought up at the next meeting of the Board of Justices of the Peace.

Little Bridge, as the structure is known, spans Smith's Creek, on the public road, just North of the city limits. It has always been a trouble and a tribulation to the managers of county affairs and has a knack of tumbling into the creek every few years.—It has been repaired and rebuilt a number of times since the war and the amount which has been expended upon it in that period of time would probably pay the cost of a good iron bridge which would last well into the next century. It would be economy, we think, to put up an iron bridge there and especially at this time while the material is so low in price.

Indications.
For the South Atlantic States, fair weather, followed during Wednesday by local rains, warmer Southerly, shifting to Easterly winds, and falling barometer.

The Art Amateur.
For February contains the usual profusion of designs for art work, including decorations for a dessert-plate (asters), a double tile (wisieria) panels in carved walnut and repousse brass, and embroidery designs for a blotter, a picture mount and six doilies (signs of the zodiac humorously treated.) The notable feature of the number is a striking double-page drawing by Geo. Wharton Edwards, representing two boatmen "putting off" in a stormy sea. Six clever sketches by this rising young artist, and three by Jan Chelminski, a Polish horse painter of much talent, are also given. There are articles of special interest on the lighting and decoration of picture galleries, on modeling in clay and wax, on recent Doulton ware, on "Some Possible Exhibitions," and on Bastien-Lepage, the famous French painter recently deceased. The supply of hints and directions for art workers is generously maintained, and "My Note Book" and the dramatic feuilleton are especially entertaining. Price 35 cents. MONTAGUE MARKS, Publisher, 23 Union Square, New York.

EDITOR REVIEW.—I see that your "esteemed cotemporary," the Star, rushes fearlessly into the breach in favor of the no-fence people. His opinions on all points, especially on those relating to agricultural matters, are of course highly valuable—especially in the way of keeping the crowd from the corn by eating the crow—but yet there are a few things to be said for the "fellows who depredate on their neighbors and who live at the expense of others," meaning thereby, we presume, all who differ with the agricultural editor of the Star on the fence law question. "Here the other side," he says, and then goes on to describe the other side as "fellows who live at the expense of their neighbors." Well, never mind, the Star is not the Legislature and it is to the representatives of the people and not to the Star man that the question of a no-fence law for New Hanover is to be submitted.

Respectfully yours,
JIM CROW.

No Failure Here.
I TAKE THIS MEANS OF SAYING THAT the report current, in the streets to-day that the undersigned had failed, is utterly untrue and without any foundation whatever. It arose perhaps from a suit in a Justice's Court against a person bearing a name that sounds similar to that of the undersigned. I have not failed and will not fail to keep on hand the finest liquors and cigars and to keep the finest restaurant in the city where all can drive dull care away by familiarity with the finest the market affords. The only failure around my way is the failure Walker Moore met with in collecting bills this morning but he will try again. WILL WEST, Prop. Gem Restaurant and Saloon. Jan 20 11.
