BROWN'S IRON BITTERS

TRADE MARK

QUALITY NOT QUANTITY

ON EVERY BOTTLE

THE BEST TONIC.

This medicine, combining Iron with pure vegetable tonics, quickly and completely cures Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Weakness, Impure Blood, Headache, Chills and Fever, and Neuralgia.

It is an unfailing remedy for Diseases of the Kidneys and Liver.

It is invaluable for Diseases peculiar to Women, and all who lead sedentary lives. It does not injure the teeth, cause headache or produce constipation—other iron medicines do. It enriches and purifies the blood, stimulates the appetite, aids the assimilation of food, cures Heartburn and Indigestion, and restores the muscles and nerves.

For Intermittent Fevers, Lassitude, Lack of Energy, &c., it has no equal.

Age: The genuine has the trade mark of a crossed red line on wrapper. This is not done by any other.

The Daily Review.

J. SH. T. JAMES, Editor & Prop.

WILMINGTON, N. C.

FRIDAY, JANUARY 30, 1885.

Entered at the Postoffice at Wilmington, N. C., as second-class matter.

A society has been formed in Boston to help its members purchase a home or commence business when they are married. Eligibility to membership consists simply in being unmarried. This surprising scheme provides that a member need have paid in only $250 to become entitled to the full benefit of $1,000 at the end of eighteen months. As the association has just begun operation, no benefit will become due until 1886. The Secretary claims a membership of 100 already, and happily predicts one of 12,000 within five years.

Gambetta's cottage at Ville d'Avray, to which he loved to retire from the worry and turmoil of political life, has been restored to the condition in which it was during Gambetta's lifetime, and will henceforth be preserved from all interference. The articles of furniture, pictures, and ornaments are again in the old corners and hang on the walls, and the admirers of the departed statesman are allowed access to the place where they may see how the man who was accused by his adversaries of indulging in every kind of extravagance really lived in great simplicity.

Mark Twain is an inveterate smoker. He smokes constantly while at his work, and, indeed, all the time, from half past 8 in the morning to half past 10 at night, stopping only when at his meals. A cigar lasts him about forty minutes, now that he has reduced to an exact science the art of reducing the weed to ashes. So he smokes from fifteen to twenty cigars every day. Some time ago he was persuaded to stop the practice, and went a year and more without tobacco; but he found himself unable to carry along important work which he undertook, and it was not until he resumed smoking that he could do it. Since then his faith in his cigar has not wavered.

The Sacramento River, says the Colusa (Cal) Sun, has for a few weeks past been a puzzle to many people. Sometimes it will reach the high-water mark at Grimes when it lacks several feet of that point at Colusa. Once last year it passed the high-water mark of any previous year at Colusa, but no great flood was seen farther down. At that rise it lacked a little of being up to high water at Butte City, and a couple of miles above Butte City it lacked a foot of high water. During the late flood the river lacked some two feet of high water at Butte City, and it came within five inches of the extreme high water at Colusa, and higher than ever before, except a few hours last year.

The London Lancet is glad to be able to give a satisfactory account of the health of Mr. Gladstone. "The disorder of his health," it says, "consisting chiefly of slight catarrh and lumbago, with sleeplessness, is only too easily explained by the late prevalence of east winds, following the exhausting work of the summer holidays and the autumn session, and coinciding with an anxious and complicated state of public affairs. It is not the first time that such attacks, occurring in similar circumstances, have shown that even Mr. Gladstone's powers have their limits. Happily, his ailments have promptly yielded to apt remedies and to comparative rest, and there is a fair prospect that, without public inconvenience, his health may be soon fully restored."

Recent facts and figures in the Times-Democrat concerning the population of New Orleans will create considerable surprise. In a population of 230,000 there are seven white women to every six white men, and four female to three male negroes. This is the largest excess of female population of any city in the Union, not excepting Boston. The death rate is very favorable to the gentler sex. For the first half of January the deaths were, males 156; females, 103. So it seems that in this remarkable city nine males die for every two females, and the death rate for the men is forty-six per thousand and for the women twenty-one. If nothing occurs to disturb this proportion in twenty years New Orleans will have two women for every man, and in a generation men will be so scarce that they will be too highly prized as ornaments to be of much service in the usual walks of life.

The religious condition of Harvard College is under discussion in Boston. Since the venerable Dr. Peabody retired from the preacher's chair, three years ago, it has been vacant. It is not the policy of the college to elect a successor. Morning prayers have been conducted by various clergymen, and the regular Sunday evening service in the chapel has been maintained in the same way. Beyond the perfunctory services it is impossible to discover the least effort on the part of the college authorities to minister to the spiritual needs of the students. The college seems content to develop the mind and the body of the students, and leave their spiritual needs out of the problem of education.

Charles Gayarre is a New Orleans Creole. He writes that such Creoles as Cable has described are creatures of his own imagination. The character of a amiable idiosyncrasy with which he has invested most of his personages, Mr. Gayarre says, may have been kindly intended by him as a harmless, if not a charitable conception, to be accepted with a sort of gratitude, because it might have been much worse. But the Creoles of Louisiana cannot admit that they have had any kinship with those effete and imbecile creatures who figure in Mr. Cable's books. They never had the manners, the feelings, and the language attributed to them, and an educated gentleman of the epoch depicted never addressed his wife and daughter, or any one of his equals, in the jargon of the negro. Gayarre declares that he challenged Cable to name two Creole families with whom he was intimately acquainted. He could not.

JANUARY JOKES.

"Don't talk to me about Wagner. I was an intimate friend of Rossini, and I admire his music above all other operas," said "William Tell" his best work. "Do you know his Barber?" "No, I always shave myself."

A chicken was killed in Wilkes county, Pa., recently, and three brass buttons and the shell of a pistol cartridge were found in its gizzard. Now we know what has become of the United States army.—Boston Transcript.

"I'd have you know, sir," said the irate citizen to a man on the street, "that my wife is a high-toned woman, and I won't allow you to say a word against her." "High-toned," replied the other, "I should think she is high-toned; you can hear her a mile when she is quarreling with the neighbors."

"Ah, yes," he said, "I love you." "I am not young, John. There is a little gray in my hair, and some younger woman may—"

"Never. Ah, my own darling, you remember what the poet says, 'The old is always the best'." The engagement was suddenly broken off.—San Francisco Chronicle.

"Gentlemen," said an auctioneer with true pathos, "if my father and my mother stood where you stand, and did not buy this stew-pan, this elegant stew-pan, going at one dollar, I should feel it my bounden duty as a son to tell both of them they were false to their country and false to themselves."—Argonaut.

Extract from a Private Letter.

Regarding Dr. David Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy," the writer, Prof. A. B. Chandler, Principal of the Academy, Brookhaven, Miss., says: "I suffered from torpidity of the Liver and Bowels and Paralysis, I used the Favorite Remedy for two months, and am now able to use my side which for a long time had been like a piece of dead flesh. My general health was never better than at present." fmv&w

"Who?"
"Was a very pretty blonde!"
Twenty years ago, became
"Sallow!"
"Hollow-eyed!"
"Withered and aged!"

"Malarial vapors, though she made no particular complaint, not being of the grumpy kind, yet causing me great uneasiness."
"A short time ago I purchased your remedy for one of the children, who had a very severe attack of biliousness, and it occurred to me that the remedy might help my wife, as I found that our little girl, upon recovery had "Lost!"
"Her sallowness, and looked as fresh as a new blown daisy. Well, the story is soon told. My wife, to-day, has gained her old-time beauty with compound interest and is now as handsome a matron (if I do say it myself) as can be found in this county, which is noted for pretty women. And I have only Hop Bitters to thank for it."
"The dear creature just looked over my shoulder, and says 'I never flatter myself in making you so happy, and that reminds me there might be more pretty wives if my brother farmers would do as I have done.'"
Hoping you may long be spared to do good, I thankfully remain,

Harper's Young People.

AN ILLUSTRATED WEEKLY.

The serial and short stories in Harper's Young People have all the dramatic interest that juvenile fiction can possess, while they are wholly free from what is pernicious or vulgarly sensational. The humorous stories and pictures are full of innocent fun, and the papers on natural history and science, travel, and the facts of life are by writers whose names give the best assurance of accuracy and value. Illustrated papers on athletic sports, games and pastimes give full information on these subjects. There is nothing cheap about it and its price.

An epitome of everything that is attractive and desirable in juvenile literature.—Boston Courier.

A weekly feast of good things to the boys and girls in every family which it visits.—Brooklyn Union.

It is wonderful in its wealth of picture information, and interest.—Christian Advocate, N. Y.

Harper's Magazine.

ILLUSTRATED.

With the new volume, beginning in December, HARPER'S MAGAZINE will conclude its thirty-fifth year. The oldest periodical of its type, it is yet, in each new volume, a new magazine, not simply because it presents fresh subjects and new methods of treatment, and chiefly because it steadily advances in the method itself of magazine-making. In a word, the Magazine becomes more the faithful mirror of current life and more the faithful mirror of the attractive programme for 1885 are: new serial novels by Constance Fenimore Woolson and W. D. Howells; a new novel entitled "At the Feet of the Cross," by Mrs. E. A. Abbey; F. D. Millet, R. Swain Gilford, E. A. Abbey, H. Gibson, and others; Goldsmith's "She Stoops to Conquer," illustrated by Abbey; important papers on Art, Science, etc.

On the Raleigh and Augusta Air-Line R. R.

1,500 ACRES OF LAND! IN THE long leaf pine region. For sale on easy terms in lots to suit purchasers. Four tracts for $15. Larger tracts $5 per acre, in monthly payments of $10. This land adjoins the "Southern Pine," a recently established health resort (for sandhills), and is especially adapted for Fruit Culture, as well as all the cereals. A number of New England people have bought lots in the town of "Southern Pine," and it is the desire of the owners of this land to induce small farmers, mechanics, and others from the New England and Middle States, as well as elsewhere, to locate here. No State in the Union offers greater inducements to settlers than North Carolina. Nowhere can a better farming country or as fine a climate be found. This is the opinion of Northern men who have lived in North Carolina. This is a bona fide offer, and is limited.
