> The oldest Catholic paper in New York City, the Freeman's Journal, with reference to the dynamite outrages in London, employs this emphatic language: "Let no Christian Irishman defend deeds like these; they will bring curses on the heads and homes of those that do them. Crazy men, or ruffians. sitting in rooms in New York, if fostering or approving these acts, are accessories after the fact, and if not crazy, are accursed of God and his church, which they despise. They are also enemies of the human race, and as such shou'd be hunted from their lairs. As sassination is not politics, and murder is not legitimate war." At the same time the Journal declares that 'spite of the vaporing of such men as O'Donovan Rossa, there is no evidence, as yet. that Irish hands planned or perpetrated this attempt at wholesale destruction."

Gen. Sir Donald Marcin Stewart, G C. B; who was severely wounded in he battle of the Z reba, has an henorable history. He was born in Scotland iu 1824 and was educated at the Uni-Bengal Staff Corps in 1840 and distinguished himself by his gallantry in the Sepoy mutiny. He came to this country six years ago, landing in New York. His story is a romantic one. After the Russian-Polish war his father was banished to Siberia. The son was then an infant in arms, but was carried into exile by his mother, who soon died. The boy grew up and with his father Transcript. made his escape, and reached Paris in poverty and in rags. The father died. The son came to America, and after wandering around reached Dr. Patterson's farm and begged for work. He proved a good hand, and worked faithfally for two years. It was but a few days ago that Dr. Patterson found who the man was. His story is proved by documents in his possession He has now gone to Athens, Ga., but will soon return to Maryland.

A lady novelist in England, being at a loss for the names of her characters in a book she was writing, took them all in a lump from some subscription list in a provincial paper. In the course of events the book drifted into that particular part of the country. The result was a considerable stirring up of the inhabitants when they discovered. upon reading the novel, that the local banker had a linson with the Methodist minister's wife, that a respectable lawyer had seven years of penal servitude in his youth, that the proprietor of the most rowdy public house in town had been in the Balaklava charge, In the meantime your orders for Printing, Ruling or Binding could illegitimate son of a duke, and that the necessity and our readers will find the not be placed in better hands. that the chief cheese mong r was the substantial cook stove is an important consumptive ritualist curate had best at Factory prices at JACOBI's

From the Brookhaven, [Miss.] Leader. COMMUNICATION

FROM PROF. A. B. CHANDLER, PRINCIPAL OF THE ACADEMY, RROOKHAVEN, MISS. The following extract regarding Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy is taken from a private letter from Prof. A. B. Chandler, of this city. We have obtained his consent to its publication, thinking other afflicted ones might experience a like benefit from this unquestionably splendid medicine:

"I have been under Dr. Kennedy's freat ment for two months, taking only the medicine in question, FAVORITE REMEDY, and the effect on my disease is already wonderful. I weight, to be dragged about uncentrolled in the least. Now I walk all around the school Alexandria, John Bull, Esq , has got to house and grounds, unaided even by the accustomed walking-cane. I suffered from paraly-is and 'orpidity of the liver and bowels. All this has been removed, and my general health was never better than at present. Dr. Kennedy has a large professional practice in the Hudson river countles of New York, among the most intelligent and reflued people, and during the quarter century's service in this vicinity he ascricbes his great success as a physician and surgeon to the marvelous curative properties of his "Favorite semedy" The dector knows his medicine has the power to alleviate suffering, and he is auxious to have it known wherever disease and painexist "Faver te Remedy" has large sales at the North and I hope for the sake of suffering humanity it will soon be recognized in the South, where we are deluged with so many nostrums, many even injurious to health and happiness from their alcoholic properties, which give for a while deceptive stimulation "Favorite Remedy" is said to give a distante fer strong drink, a most powerful recommendation jan 16 tenrm tf
