THE DAILY REVIEW.

VOL. IX. WILMINGTON, N. C. WEDNESDAY, MARCH 25, 1885. NO. 70.

The Daily Review has the largest bona fide circulation of any newspaper published in the city of Wilmington.

A perfect skeleton, to which was attached a ball and chain, was lately unearthed twenty-five feet below the surface of the earth, near Savannah.

Parisians ate 13,000 donkeys, mules, and horses last year. The Academie de Medecine has awarded a prize to an essayist who strongly recommends a more general use of such diet.

It is hardly to be wondered at that Frenchmen prefer adulterated wines to Seine water. Le Journal de Micrographie gives a long list of dead animals taken from the river in 1884, and among the items is one of 3,929 dogs.

A rich citizen of Lemberg, noted for his gallantry, died recently and left by his will 1,500 florins to the handsomest woman in the town. The will says that the judges of the fair contestants must ignore the question of morality in rendering their decision.

A sprinkling of the ladies who attended the last court ball at Berlin wore erminelines. On the Princess Friedrich von Hohenzollern rests the responsibility of reviving the use of what a French journal, referring to the matter, calls the "horrible cage."

The Edinburgh Town Council has decided to place memorial tablets on all spots of historical interest in that city. The first place to receive this mark of attention is the site in Chambers street (formerly College Wynd) of the house where Sir Walter Scott was born; and it has also been decided to erect a memorial stone over the grave of the novelist's father in Greyfriars' Churchyard.

At Leicester, in England, ten persons, the first batch of 5,000 to be prosecuted, were charged the other day with non-compliance with the Vaccination acts. The defendants pleaded guilty, and expressed their willingness to pay any fine, but were determined not to have the operation performed, because it was useless for protection and very dangerous. Each parent was ordered to have the operation performed in a month. These prosecutions are exciting a very bitter feeling.

The Pall Mall Gazette says: "There is a great field for the philosophic epicure in the United States. Boston beans may be dismissed at once as delusions, but soft shell crabs, terrapin, canvas-back ducks, bluefish, and the pompano of New Orleans are wonderful delicacies, particularly when one gets them at Delmonico's. Indeed, the two most remarkable bits of scenery in the States are undoubtedly Delmonico's and the Yosemite Valley, and the former place has done more to promote a good feeling between England and America than anything else has in this century."

Statistics which have just been published show that out of 150,000 Germans who in the course of last year became liable to military service, considerably less than one and a half per cent. were illiterate. Of the Wurtemberg recruits, every one, without exception, could both read and write; and it was only in the eastern provinces and districts of Prussia that anything approaching to an unsatisfactory educational average was observed. Elsewhere the proportion of illiterates per 10,000 recruits ranged from two among the Saxons and eight among the Bavarians.

Not long ago one of Barnum's elephants was found to be in danger of losing his sense of sight. A surgeon who had been called to examine the huge animal declared that if the elephant could be induced to submit to an operation the eye could be saved. Accordingly the poor animal was tied down, and some caustic fluid was dropped into one of his eyes. He roared with pain, for the treatment was severe. On the following day the eye that had been treated was much better, but the surgeon thought he was going to have a terrible time in operating on the other eye. Fancy his surprise to find that as soon as the great beast heard his voice he stretched himself on the ground and peacefully submitted to the painful ordeal. The elephant had simply recognized the skill and friendly purpose of his benefactor.

"Lives of great men always remind us that we are all subject to die," says an exchange, but never forget yourself as long as you can raise twenty-five cents for a bottle of Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup.

In Ceslon, says the Tropical Agriculturist, a patch of four acres planted with cardamoms yielded $6,000 in one year. The statement may be worth the attention of those who are trying to raise dates, olives and tea in California and elsewhere.

A little pain in the back is often a death warning; but despite the warning, St. Jacobs Oil, will cure it.

LOCAL NEWS.

INDEX TO NEW ADVERTISEMENTS. C. W. YATES—Easter Cards. HEINSBERGER—Easter Cards. WILL WEST—Another Supply. F. C. MILLER—A Fresh Supply. MUNDY BROTHERS—Easter Cards. E. G. BLAIR—Commission Merchant. MRS. KALE C. WINES—New Spring Goods. E. D. HALL, Mayor—Notice to Liquor Dealers.

The receipts of cotton at this port today foot up only 9 bales.

You can't register to-morrow unless you are 21 years old on that day.

Our friends in the Third Ward are respectfully requested to keep their eyelids elevated to-morrow.

There are combinations in every Ward looking to the defeat of the regular Democratic nominees.

The weather has grown materially and agreeably warmer within the last 24 hours, and we do hope that it may continue.

Turn out to-morrow, Democrats, and do your duty by keeping the control of the city government out of the hands of the Republicans!

Dyer save the scraps from all of suits made by him, and his customers can have their suits repaired at a low price and get the same goods for patches.

There was quite an increase of registration in the several Wards yesterday, which, if it has continued during today, will cause nearly a full vote to-morrow.

Mayor Hall gives notice in this issue that all barrooms in the city must be closed from 6 o'clock this afternoon until 6 o'clock on Friday morning, in accordance with the law.

Thanks to Mr. C. P. Lockett, Representative from this county, for a copy of the Captions and Private acts and the Resolutions passed at the last session of the Legislature.

Capt. B. G. Bates has authorized us to say that his nomination as Alderman from the Second Ward by the Republican primary was done altogether without his consent or previous notification to him. He is not a candidate and will not consent to run.

Dixie Cook Book. Miss Rose Alexander, of Atlanta, Ga., is in the city for the sale of the above work. No pains or expense seems to have been spared to make this the most perfect book of its class ever published. So plain and simple are its directions that even a young girl can become a good cook and model housekeeper without any other instruction. There are many elaborate and fancy dishes for the epicure, but, in the main, the recipes are for plain every day living, and are economical, a new feature in a cook book. The press all over the country and every lady who has used it give it unstinted praise, declaring it to be the book of books for the Southern matron of to-day. Here is one of the many testimonials: "Any housekeeper who will practice the recipes and directions of this reliable book will be better fortified to meet all the demands of a well ordered home than if the concentrated wisdom of a generation of grandmothers, mothers, and aunts of house keeping celebrity were at her side to direct her. MARGARET J. PRESTON, Lexington, Va."

Good materials properly proportioned which are the essential requisites in Ready mixed Paints can be best attained by using the N. Y. Enamel Paint sold at JACOBI'S Depot.

Indications. For the South Atlantic States, partly cloudy weather with local rains, warmer weather in the Southern portion, nearly stationary temperature in the Northern portion, variable winds, generally shifting to Northwesterly.

City Court. The first case this morning for the Mayor's consideration was that of Jennie Days, colored, who was charged with disorderly conduct. She was found guilty and a fine of $5 was imposed in her case. Robert Johnson, colored, charged with disorderly conduct, was sent below for 30 days.

Fire in Pender County. We learn of the destruction by fire on Monday night of the store and stock of goods of Mr. G. H. Bryant, at Long Creek, in Pender county. No other damage was done, but the large residence of Mr. Bruce Williams, only a few feet distant, narrowly escaped. The store and goods were fully insured in the North Carolina Home Insurance Company, represented in this city, by Messrs. Atkinson & Manning. The origin of the fire is a mystery.

Poor and Needy. There are a great number of men out of employment in the city. Many of these have families depending upon them for support, but as they can get nothing to do in the present depressed condition of nearly all kinds of business there must necessarily be a large amount of suffering which calls for the pity and assistance of our more favored people. We hope for a change for the better in business matters within a short time, or the suffering will become very hard to bear.

State Encampment. The annual encampment of the North Carolina State Guard will be held this year at Asheville. It will be held some time during the month of July, and every company in the State will be ordered out. It is expected that the encampment will be a grand affair, and that the different military organizations in the State will prepare themselves for the occasion by faithful drill and will make every effort to turn out with full ranks. We hope that our Wilmington boys will not be caught napping and we don't believe that they will.

Bold Burglary. Mr. David J. Jenkins, who keeps a shooting gallery on Front street, near the market, closed his place of business a little before 12 o'clock on Saturday night and went to his home on the corner of Wooster and Ninth streets. As he is kept up by his business until a late hour on Saturday night, a young lady goes to his house to keep his wife company. This young lady, with a little daughter of Mr. Jenkins, occupied a room just across the passage from the room occupied by him and his wife. He was aroused after having been asleep awhile by hearing the young lady in the adjoining room scream, and at once caught his pistol and ran to the door, but found it fastened upon the inside. He then went for the key of his own room, and when he returned the intruder had fled. An investigation and the statement of the young lady show that the burglar effected an entrance through a rear window, and after taking a couple of dresses into the passage and leaving them there, he returned when the lady awoke and screamed. The light which had been left burning in the room, had been extinguished and when she screamed the ruffian seized her with both hands by the throat and threatened to kill her if she made any more noise. She caught his hands and pulled them from her throat far enough to allow of another scream when the efforts of Mr. Jenkins to enter the room alarmed the burglar and he fled. It is not known whether the villain was a white or colored man, but his feet made very large tracks. He succeeded in taking nothing from the house. Last night a thief broke into Mr. Jenkins' gallery on Front Street and ransacked the place thoroughly, but succeeded in getting nothing.

Mrs. Kate C. Wines, at 119 North Second street, has already received several shipments of new Spring styles in millinery, among which will be found some new and pretty things never seen here before. The attention of our readers is invited to advertisement in this issue. A fine assortment of Mocking Bird Cages can be seen at JACOBI'S Hardware Depot.

Removals. Mr. E. G. Blair has consolidated his two stores in this city and has removed the up-town stock to the establishment on North Water street, recently occupied by Mr. A. W. Rivenbark and purchased by Mr. Blair. Mr. A. G. Hankins is to occupy the store on North Second street, vacated by Mr. Blair.

Base Ball. In organizing for the Summer campaign of base ball playing, the Seaside, of this city, have selected 18 members—two nines—and from these they will take their best men when playing with clubs from other portions of the State. The two nines composing the Seaside club will wear different uniforms and are organized in such a way that when they are playing at home for practice or pastime they can appear as two separate and distinct clubs. They promise quite an amount of sport this season, during which time they will play twenty games in this city with clubs from abroad.

Roslyn's Fortune. From the publishers, Messrs. D. Appleton & Co., we have received, through Mr. P. Heinsberger, of this city, who has the work for sale, a copy of "Roslyn's Fortune," a new novel by the North Carolina authoress whose nomme de plume is Christian Reid.

We have read all of Miss Fisher's works but not one with more pleasure than this. It is not a great work, not one showing any particular profundity or research, but it is a light, simple, pleasing love idyll, one which was doubtless intended merely to charm away a few idle hours and which has certainly proved a success in that respect. Few readers who take it up will willingly consent to lay it aside until the end is reached. It is a Southern tale. The plot is pleasing, the incidents picturesque and graphically portrayed and the book throughout is charmingly written, few novelists in this country having a more perfect acquaintance with or a more thorough command of the English language, in all its purity and beauty, than has the author of "Roslyn's Fortune."

Death of a Good Man. We are pained to announce the death of Mr. John D. Carroll, which occurred at his late residence in Kenansville township, Duolin county, on the evening of the 23rd inst. Mr. Carroll was in the 77th year of his age, and had been in feeble health for several months patiently awaiting with Christian resignation for the hour when he should be called. His wife, with whom he had lived for more than fifty years, with five sons and two daughters survive him. Mr. Carroll had been for more than half a century a member of the Baptist church and his heart, his purse and the open-handed hospitality of his house were always promptly and cheerfully responsive to the calls of religious duties. He will be sadly missed, not only by his immediate family, but by a large circle of people who have been blessed and encouraged by his influence. One of his sons, Rev. J. A. Carroll, is an eminent minister in the Baptist denomination and is now located at Asheville, in this State.

Personal. Capt. R. W. Price is here on a short visit.

Mr. E. W. Kerr, of Clinton, Sampson county, is in the city to-day.

Col. F. H. Cameron, Inspector General of the State, left for Raleigh on last night's train.

Col. W. P. Craighill, U. S. Engineer, arrived in the city from Baltimore last night and registered at the Parcel House.

Col. S. L. Fremont has been in the city for a day or two, on his return from Smithville, where he spent last week. He is now engaged on the government works on the Trent river.

Mr. W. F. Ellis, formerly of this city, but now of the firm of Ellis & Muse, of Durham, was in the city yesterday on his return from New York where he purchased goods for the firm. He left last night for Durham.

Miss E. F. Smith, canvassing agent for the Oxford Orphan's Friend, arrived in the city last night. The paper she represents is published in the interest of the orphans of the State, at the Asylum, and the composition, press work &c is performed by the boys of the institution. The price of subscription is only $1 per annum and we hope that our citizens will respond cheerfully and subscribe in aid of this public benefaction.

There is nearly a foot of snow on the ground in the vicinity of Weldon.
