The Daily Review.

JOSH. T. JAMES, Editor & Prop WILMINGTON, N. C. FRIDAY, MARCH 27, 1885.

Entered at the Postoffice at Wilmington, N. C., as second-class matter.

Sir John McDonald says he has not received a copy of the bill passed by the Legislature of British Columbia, which prohibits the landing of Chinese, and declares that when it does arrive it will be disallowed. He says, however, that the Courts of British Columbia, in the case of a similar bill passed by the provincial Legislature last year, declared the bill ultra vires, and that the present bill will share the same fate and become non-effective even without the Dominion Government exercising its prerogative in disallowing it, if carried before the Courts.

St. Louis has a big gas light on hand. The two companies having a plant in the city want their franchises renewed till 1910, and offer to reduce their prices from $2.50 to $1.75 for 1,000 feet, and to pay into the city treasury 15 per cent. of their gross earnings in return for the extension asked for. A water gas company desires to get a foothold in the city and is accused of trying to bribe members of the city government. One branch of the government has voted to extend the privileges of the old companies, and the other fellows are getting up public indignation meetings to protest against the monopoly.

The United States Court in Utah has made a stroke which almost rivals that celebrated coup of Gen. Butler, in his youth, of putting an "attachment" on the water wheel of a mill. In subpoenaing President Taylor as a witness to Mormon marriages, they have "attached" the high priest of rebellion, who celebrates the plural marriages at the "Endowment House," and consequently is a most direct witness. Unfortunately Taylor, unlike the water wheel, was not a fixture, and he fled. His flight shows how good the Government's case is. If all the priesthood of Salt Lake City could be sent into self-protecting exile in the same way the United States would start a counter-irritation that would cause even the sharp strategy of Mormon rebellion considerable botheration and loss.

A firm of granite dealers at Quincy, Mass., have received a contract from William H. Vanderbilt for the building of a family tomb. The tomb, which was designed by a New York architect, will be in the Romanesque style, 100 by 110 feet on the ground, and sixty three feet from the surface to the apex of each dome, of which there will be two. The exposed portions of the structure will be composed of Quincy granite, while the vestibules and catacombs will be built of marble, and the arches and piers of limestone. The structure is to be erected in the Moravian Cemetery, at New Dorp, Staten Island. It will require about 8,000,000 pounds of granite, marble and limestone combined to complete it. The cost is estimated at $250,000. The tomb is to be finished by December.

Vaccination has been triumphantly vindicated at Durham, England, where the smallpox has been very virulent. The disease has been entirely stamped out. There were 103 cases treated in the hospital, of which ten were fatal. Of those who died not one had been vaccinated. Of the other ninety-three not one had been revaccinated. These conclusive facts speak for themselves. Compulsory vaccination is a true safeguard against the ravages of this terrible disease. At the present time smallpox is raging almost like the plague in a large parish in the north of London, and its devastations in a large poor population are traced to a potman in a public house not only serving at the bar when he had the smallpox, but actually delivering beer from house to house.

The aggregate of appropriation made at the last session of Congress for the fiscal year 1885-6 was $217,689,243.44, or an excess of $23,851,747.62 over the appropriations for the current year. The excess is more than accounted for by the increased appropriation for the pensions, the increase amounting to over $39,000,000, but last year there was a large unexpended balance which was reappropriated, which more than covers this difference—exceeds it, in fact, by $27,000,000. This year there is no river and harbor appropriation, and last year it amounted to nearly $14,000,000. If the pension item is omitted from the account, the appropriations made for the next fiscal year appear to be less by $15,938,252.38 than those for the current year, or about $2,000,000 more than the amount contained in the river and harbor bill of last year. This does not represent a very wide margin of retrenchment.

J. H. NORTHRUP, of LANSGIBURG, formerly captain of the Troy police, writes: "I know that Dr. Kennedy's 'Favorite Remedy' is an honest preparation. I suffered from liver complaint for years and was cured by 'Favorite Remedy.' Sold by all druggists at one dollar bottle."

Ross O'Connell says in Notes and Queries that a letter written in 1602 mentions "a Desdemona in the flesh" at Venice who had been murdered by her husband in a fit of jealousy which the people believed to be without cause. Like the Moor, he sent his wife to confession before slaying her. Mr. O'Connell suggests that this murder would be known to the Venetian ambassador in London, and that thus Shakespeare may have heard of it.

Temperance legislation in Connecticut is in an unfortunate way. The State has a license law, loosely administered by county commissioners. The revenue from licenses is about $175,000 per annum, a very small per cent. of the retail sales of liquor in the State, which are thought to amount to $20,000,000. The prosecution of offences against the liquor law is not placed in the hands of the State attorney, but prosecuting agents are appointed, to have a uniform fee of $10 for each case brought. This leads to some gross abuses. When a prosecuting agent gets a good case, he splits it into several offenses, each of which brings him a fee. In some towns large numbers of cases are brought to suit without any advantage to the cause of good order, as most of them never reach a result. All the expenses fall upon the State and they are quite serious making quite a hole into the net receipt from licenses. The law seems to work well in spots. The temperance law does not seem to have been discovered yet which will work well in all kinds of communities. The present law in Connecticut might, without doubt, be much improved.
