1885. Harper's Magazine. ILLUSTRATED.

With the new volume, beginning in December, HARPER'S MAGAZINE will conclude its thirty-fifth year. The oldest periodical of its type, it is yet, in each new volume, a seto mag azine, not simply because it presen's fresh subjects and new pletures, but also, and chiefy, because it steadily advances in the method self of magazine-making. In a word, the Magazine becomes more the faithful mirror of current life and movement. Leading features in the attractive programme for 1885 are: new serial novels by Constance Fenimere Woolson and W D Howells; a new novel entitled "At the Red Glove;" descriptive illustrated papers by F D Millett, R Swain Gifford, E A Abbey, Gibson, and others; Goldsmith's "She Stocps to Conquer," illustrated by Abbey; important papers on Art, Science, etc.

The foremost purpose of BRADSTREET is to be of practical service to business men. Its special trade and industrial reports; its weekly epitome of bankruptcies throughout the United States and Canada, and the summaries of assets and liabilities, are alone worth the subscription price; its synopses of recent legal decisions are exceedingly valuable. As commercial transactions, in the wider sense, are coming to be more and more conducted on a statistical basis, the information contained in BRADSTREET'S is of the first importance both to producers and middlemen.

The Trade and Agricultural Situation throughout the United States and Cenada is reported by Telegraph to BRADSTREET'S up to the hour of publication
