The Daily Review.

JOSH. T. JAMES, Editor & Prop. WILMINGTON, N. C.

THURSDAY, APRIL 2, 1885

Entered at the Postoffice at Wilmington, N. C., as second-class matter.

A cable dispatch from Berlin to the New York Herald says: "In the best informed political circles the belief prevails that the difference between Russia and England will be peaceably settled. Very skillful was the answer given to the Prince of Wales by the Russian military plenipotentiary in Berlin, Prince Dolgorouki. 'Well, Prince,' said he of Wales, 'so we are to fight soon.' To which the Russian dignitary answered: 'Certainly, Your Royal Highness, so soon as we have your money and you our soldiers.'

A Democratic official of high authority is reported as saying that Mr. McDonald's recent visit to Washington was to receive an assurance from the President that there would be a resignation in the Cabinet at the end of this year, and that McDonald might have the place if he desired. Upon Mr. McDonald asking what portfolio he was expected to accept, he was told the post-office. It is said that Col. Vilas will leave the postoffice department January 1, 1886, to resume his law practice in Wisconsin, and that he accepted a Cabinet portfolio with that understanding.

American heiresses seem to have a penchant for Italian noblemen. In addition to Miss Mackay, the leading names on the list comprise Miss Field, Princess Brancaccio; Miss Lorillard Spencer, Princess Vicarara Cenci; Miss Broadwood, Princess Ruspoli; Miss Conrad, Marchesa Tendoli; Miss Kinney, Countess Granotti; Miss Fisher; Countess Gherardesca; Miss Roberts, Countess Galli; Miss Fry, Marchesa Torropani; Miss Lewis, Countess Barbolini Amadei; Miss Gillinder, Marchesa di San Marzano, and Miss Hungerford, Countess Telfener.

There seems to be no doubt among business men that a war between England and Russia would be a good thing for this country. One indication of the result the war would have upon American trade has been given already in an order for canned meats which entirely clears out the "visible supply" of those provisions. But if war is to occur the general belief that it is a good thing for business will tend to make it so irrespectively of the grounds for that belief. That a war would at least increase our export of grain at the expense of the Russian producer seems tolerably certain. But there will be no war.

Manufacturers of firearms of New York said last week that trade had been picking up considerably of late. The Winchester Company are working 1,300 men. The Remingtons have recently received a foreign order for rifles, the magnitude of which they decline to state. The Union Metallic Cartridge Company is working on a large order, and the Ames Company, at Chicopee, Mass., has a large order for swords, it is said, for the Russian Government. One dealer said that the English would send no orders to this country in the event of war with Russia unless they bought cartridges. The Russians have been making their own rifles for some years, but they cannot make enough to supply the army, should war be declared.

A London paper announces that Herr Rudolph Kalb, whose theory of earthquakes has for some years been much discussed in scientific circles, and whose predictions have frequently been substantiated by events, has just promulgated a new theory with reference to choke damp in mines. He says that explosions coincide for the most part with earthquakes, and he predicts a very critical state of things shortly, when, he says, the greatest caution should be observed in mines. The next dates when he anticipates danger are the 30th of March, the 13th of June and the 12th of July. So far as the first of these dates is concerned the prediction has been verified, earthquakes causing more or less damage having occurred in the South of Spain.

The three per cent. consols, the varying prices of which in the English market indicate the feeling of the business community in regard to public matters, are securities representing the greater part of the British national debt. They derive their name from the consolidated annuities act, under which a variety of annuity stocks created as a means of raising money were funded in 1757 in one account, to be kept in the Bank of England, bearing three per cent. interest. They have been increased at times, and at other times have been diminished by the operation of sinking funds or the application of surplus revenue. They are redeemable only at the option of the Government, and constitute a transferable stock in which there is daily speculation.

If you are bilious, take Dr. Pierce's "Pleasant Purgative Pellets," the original "Little Liver Pills." Of all druggists.

For the last twenty years one of the most regular applicants for a letter at the Bath (Me.) Post Office has been a man wearing a blue army coat, who is upward of 75 years of age. He has hardly missed a day during this time. He is expecting his papers giving him a pension. He enlisted in 1864, the last of the war, and only went to Augusta, where he claims he contracted what is known as the "straw rheumatism," and immediately at the close of the war applied for a pension. He is "living in hope," as every day he has an idea that the papers will arrive. He makes a scanty living by repairing umbrellas, and people assist him in many ways.

The report of the New York Society for the Suppression of Vice for 1885 classifies the crimes of the youth of both sexes (under 21) as follows: Murder, 74; attempted murder, 104; burglary, 179; highway robbery, 84; grand larceny, 72; larceny 230; forgery, 18; arson, 4; manslaughter, 2; counterfeiting, 5; train wreckers, 3; mail robbery, 4; picking pockets, 8; suicide, 37; attempted suicide, 24. A band of a dozen boys is mentioned—all under 10 years of age—who had voted to kill their mothers. One of them proposed to practise upon a seryant girl first, but she objected, and the plot was discovered.

Kangarooing is the most interesting sport in Australia, and is one of the most exciting in the world. Large meets are organized, parties of from twenty to thirty joining in these hunts. They ride to the kangaroo ground, and as soon as an animal is sighted the two dogs are released, and the horses are given their heads. In the Australian horse is well up in his business, and if you let him take you, instead of your trying to take him, he will carry you safely, avoiding trees and underbrush. A good, strong kangaroo will give you a long chase, and very often the dogs cannot follow him. In this case, when the horseman gets up to the kangaroo he takes off his stirrup and strap and knocks the animal over the head, which effectually stuns him. He is then killed and skinned. The hind quarters are given to the dogs. It is good enough for eating, but too strong to be palatable to those of delicate taste. The tail, on the contrary, is considered delicious when made into soup. The average size of a kangaroo is about 3 feet high, but the old man kangaroo is often 6 feet, and is very fierce when cornered; he has even been known to rip men open with a single blow from one of his hind legs.

Bad, But not Hopeless.

When you have pain in your head, lameness in your side, distress in your back, shortness of breath, and frequent spells of coughing, it seems pretty bad, does it not? Many physicians would give up such a case as beyond restoration. But Mrs. Nettie Hastings of Cambridgeport, Mass., who was thus afflicted, took Brown's Iron Bitters and gratefully writes that the Prince of Tonics completely restored her to health. It will restore you, too.

Perils of Love.

Eulalia—Oh! you false, base—oh! don't you dare to come near me. Take your ring, and leave me this instant. Algeonon—Really, Eulalia, I am amazed, shocked. What has produced this sudden change? "Oh, you are very innocent, very, you fickle, wayward, Lothario. Never presume to speak to me again!" "But what have I done?" "What have you not done? How came that dab of soot on the end of your nose? Tell me that, you—!" "Why, my darling, I have just been looking through a smoked glass at the eclipse."

"How stupid I am. Forgive me, dear, I thought you had been kissing a Pittsburgh girl."—Philadelphia Call.

Upon this bald old Earth of sin, Which whirls from day to day, There are many things to make us grin, And laugh our breath away. But there's nothing will a man invest With mirth, and make him boller, Like finding in a last year's vest A last year's unspent dollar.

It is said that every convict in the Ohio penitentiary is compelled to write an essay each month. When he is refractory his essay is read to him. The Ohio authorities are making the prison discipline more severe every year.—Graphic.

"If man wants to own the earth, what does woman want?" inquired Mr. Grab of his better half, after a family matinee a few days ago. "Well, my dear," responded that lady in a gentle smothering tone, "to own the man, I suppose."—Boston Post.

Gayly the rash young man Puts on the skates, Saying, "I think I can Astonish the States!" Then he strikes wildly out—Faster and faster; And with a bump and shout Yells for court-plaster.

"You see," he explained, "I have a little railroad back here in Wisconsin. That is, I have organized one, and secured the right of way across the two counties. I came down to Chicago to float out a little loan. I want a hundred thousand dollars." "I see?" "Well, I've been here a week, and haven't accomplished anything." "Why?" "Well, the best offer I've had yet was to furnish me the money at twenty-two per cent. interest, and charge me sixty per cent. commission for making the loan. What's left won't pay me for lying to the farmers."—Wall Street News.

A Cure for Gravel.

A COMMON AND PAINFUL COMPLAINT—A STATEMENT YOU MAY CONFIDE IN. There are few diseases with which the patient is called upon to endure greater inconvenience and pain than with Gravel. In its more advanced stages the agony it produces is often so great as to call for the use of narcotics in extraordinary doses before any relief can be obtained. Young manhood and womanhood are comparatively exempt from it, and in middle life and age it is fearfully common. Like gout and rheumatism it travels in the temperate climate of the North, and of cold, combined with other predisposing causes which vary with different individuals. When the calculi, or stones, are fully formed in the kidneys or bladder, they render the sufferer's life one constant scene of misery and apprehension. Few physicians or surgeons will promise or undertake the removal of these stones except by an operation, and they rarely are removed to be able to do it by means of medicine alone.

It seems to have been reserved for Dr. D. KENNEDY, of Roundout, N. Y., to accomplish, through his preparation widely known as KENNEDY'S FAVORITE REMEDY, what others have failed to compass. The subject of it will be found of great interest to sufferers from gravel, and to the general public.

ALBANY, March 10, 1884. Dr. D. Kennedy, Roundout, N. Y.: I have never been partial to proprietary medicine, and I believe the majority of them to be nothing better than methods of obtaining money from people who are suffering from a disease which they hope to be relieved of. I have been a sufferer from Gravel for years, and had resorted to many eminent physicians for relief, but no permanent good came of it. About three years ago you wrote me that your "Favorite Remedy" was the best, and I tried it, and it cured me completely. I am confident it saved my life. You can use this letter, if you think it of any use. NATHAN ACKLEY. Captain Nathan Ackley was for a long time connected with the Central Appraiser's office in Albany. He is well known and writes for no other purpose but to do good to others. As a medicine for all diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and digestive organs, KENNEDY'S FAVORITE REMEDY has fairly won its high reputation. Write if desirable to Dr. Kennedy, Roundout, N. Y. mch 17 d&w
