The Daily Review has the largest bona fide circulation of any newspaper published in the city of Wilmington.

The city of Mexico has 16 daily papers.

Fruit trees are so heavily laden in places on the Pacific coast that hundreds of laborers are kept employed thinning out the fruit.

The German Reichstag has adopted, without discussion, the motion to put "literary productions and objects of art on the free list" of the tariff.

The Archduchess Maria Theresa of Austria has a passion for manufacturing jewelry, and labors under the instruction of a working jeweller.

Snow to the depth of two feet still remains in the woods of the Adirondack forests about Boonville, N. Y. The ice in the lake is solid and will not break up apparently much before June 1.

Miss Cleveland's correspondence consumes a great portion of her time. Office-seekers and other important cranks worry her with their letters.

Ex-Gov. Gilbert Walker, who died the other day, was originally endowed with a magnificent physical constitution, but he ruined it by excesses of various kinds.

Mr. "Sunset" Cox has finished writing his book. He does not know when he is to go abroad, but the President has promised him plenty of time to finish his business here before sending him to Turkey.

There is a love of the historic in every English heart. When Albert Edward succeeds to the crown he will drop his first name and reign as Edward VII. After him his son, Albert Victor Christian Edward, will also drop the prefixes and go down to history, if he lives to reign, as simple Edward VIII.

The Sultan of Zanzibar is a good deal of a sovereign. He rules after a fashion a strip of the East African coast about 1,500 miles long, and he views with alarm and apprehension the efforts of German colonists to effect a lodging within the somewhat vague and elastic limits of his territory.

This is the season for both the seventeen-year and the thirteen-year locusts to make their appearance. They have not come together before since 1654, and will not come together again until 2116—at least we hope not. Will not some modern St. Patrick do for the locusts what the patron saint of Ireland did so long ago for the snakes of the Emerald Isle?

The Kansas prohibitionists have run against a snag. A law authorizing the county attorney to institute a court of inquiry in cases of violation of the prohibitory section of the constitution and examine witnesses and administer oaths, has been declared unconstitutional by Judge Crosier. Of course this does not invalidate the amendment—only one of the methods enacted to enforce it.

Queen Victoria evinced a surprising and inconvenient amount of regard for Archbishop Tait's son-in-law, the new Dean of Windsor, sending for him in hot haste at all times and seasons, and receiving him almost on deshabille. It has at length leaked out that this partiality is due to an extraordinary resemblance which she has discovered in the very revered gentleman to John Brown.

A correspondent of the Boston Musical Record finds that a parallel can be traced between the works of Beethoven and Shakespeare, Schubert and Shelley, Mendelssohn and Swinburne, Wagner and Browning, Handel and Milton, Haydn and Wordsworth, Bach and Chaucer, Chopin and Edgar A. Poe, Weber and Coleridge, Schuman and Byron, Sterndale Bennett and Keats, and McKenzie and Tennyson.

The Mormons of Idaho are bolder and more desperate than their Utah brethren. Some of them have forcibly prevented the arrest of one of their number, indicted for polygamy, by the U. S. Marshal. The Marshal has sent for additional forces and will doubtless soon teach the Paris, Mormons a wholesome respect for United States law. It would simplify the Mormon question if all the polygamist would act in the same way as those of Idaho. Armed rebellion is easier and more effectually quelled than moral rebellion like that practised all the time in Utah.

Lamp Explosion.

At about half past 7 o'clock last night a kerosene lamp exploded in the house of Mr. John Casteen, the city lamplighter, on Seventh street, between Church and Castle, by which one of his daughters was very seriously burned about her hands and arms. The explosion caused an alarm of fire to be sounded and for a short time the bells were rung, but they soon ceased. The damage to property was very slight, the only injury being to Miss Casteen, who we regret to say, is suffering severely from the burns that she received.

The Iron Bridge.

A meeting of the Board of County Commissioners was held yesterday afternoon for the purpose of receiving the bids for the new iron bridge across Smith's Creek, on the county road. The bids from different parties were opened and duly considered, when the contract was awarded to Mr. J. R. Tillet, agent of the King Iron Bridge Company, of Cleveland, Ohio.

Work upon the bridge will be commenced as soon as the abutments, which are to be of brick, can be constructed, and will be pushed rapidly to completion. This will be one of the finest bridges in the State, when completed, and will prove an economical expenditure of money by the county.

A Worthy Deed.

Mr. J. H. It is an elegantly bound book of 350 pages, abounding in handsome maps and engravings and full of useful information. The work is donated through Mr. J. Dickson Munds, who will dispose of it by raffle, and can be seen at the drug store of Munds Bros. until the first night of the entertainment at the City Hall. Chances, which will be 25 cents each, can be taken at either place.
