Base Ball.

The second match game of base ball played in this city between the Seasides and Oxfords, came off on Saturday afternoon, although, on account of the rain, it was finished with the close of the fifth inning. The crowd present &c, at was larger than upon any previous occasion, and the excitement and enthusiasm among the spectators was, like the weather, at fever heat. The game was called promptly on time with Mr. H. Emerson as Umpire and the Ox fords at the bat. They failed, however, to make a single run before they were declared out and the Seasides went to the bat. The game was hotly contested upon both sides, and the two nines were kept alternately between the bat and the field in a manner that showed that they were evenly divided in point of skill. The Oxfords were larger and more muscular men, but what the Seasides lacked in size and strength was compensated by activity, skill a plucky determination to win. There was some remarkably fine playing which was appreciated by the large throng of visitors, who manifested approbation by hearty bursts of CE. applause whenever a lucky strike, catch or run was 'made upon either side. The victory was declared for the Seasides in a score of 4 to 3. We were sorry to see Kurtz, the pitcher of the Seasides, meet with an accident by DEFERRING TO THE ANNEXED CER spraining his ankle, which for a mo ment marred the pleasure of the con-
