The Daily Review.

JOSH. T. JAMES, Editor & Prop. WILMINGTON, N. C. FRIDAY, JULY 24, 1885. Printed at the Postoffice at Wilmington, N. C., as second-class matter.

New York bankers express much satisfaction at the almost unanimous sentiment in the National Cotton Convention at White Sulphur Springs, Va., in favor of the suspension of silver coinage. They say the fact goes to show that Southern public opinion on that question has experienced a whole some change, which will no doubt be reflected in the votes of their Senators and Representatives when they come to deal with it next winter. If there could be a similar assurance from the West and Southwest also they are disposed to think the silver question might be dismissed without further apprehension; but, as it is, it is not expected that the silver ring, who have their strongholds there, will surrender without a severe fight in and out of Congress. With the President and Secretary Manning on record as in favor of suspending the coinage, how ever, there is reason to believe that Democratic members of Congress who have heretofore been on the other side will be constrained, for obvious reasons, to reconsider their position, and that much of the opposition which was manifested at the last session from that quarter will be overcome.

The New York World has the following sketch of the Republican nominee for the Governorship of Virginia: "John S. Wise, who has been nominated by the Mahone Republican Convention of Virginia, for Governor, is in the neighborhood of thirty-eight years of age. His face is smooth and as he is quite blonde he looks much younger than he really is. His forehead is broad, his eyes are a pale blue, his nose is a short pug and his mouth is large; his face is broad, full and inclined to be double chinmed. He is a little above the medium in height and is quite stout. He has served one term in Congress, and while there failed to make any special point for himself. He is an al led orator. He has a wonderful flow of language, with very few thoughts in what he says. He has a style of wit, a fashion of telling stories and an assumption of jocose good nature which make him very popular with uncultivated audiences. He is called one of the orators of old Virginia. He has inherited, however, but little of the ability of his father. Because he was not recognized and pushed to the front by the Democrats of Virginia he went over and joined Mahone. People with good pedigrees, according to the Virginia standard, were very scarce among Mahone's followers. They, therefore, were very glad to have Wise as a recruit and have since made the most of him that is possible. Mahone sent him to Congress for one term. While there he disgusted his constituents by his lack of independence and his absolute servility to the iron rule of Mahone. He is one of the most complete dummies in Mahone's possession. If he should be elected Governor he would know no will except that of Mahone. Some of the dispatches from Virginia say that Wise is a fighter. This is not true. While he was a member of Congress he refused to accept a challenge."

The annual meeting of the Latin Union was postponed from January to February, and again to April, in order that the nations of which it is composed might ascertain the policy of the United States as to silver before deciding whether to renew their compact, which expires by limitation in 1885. M. de Freycinet, who welcomed the delegates to Paris for another conference, expressed a desire to have the convention renewed, and the result of the deliberations will be regarded with peculiar interest in this country because of the urgent importance of a change in our present system of silver coinage. The Latin Union was organized in 1865 by France, Belgium, Italy and Switzerland, and Greece was subsequently admitted. Its purpose was to establish uniformity in weight and fineness of the silver and gold coins of the countries it represents, and an annual conference was arranged to determine the amount and proportion of the coinage of the two metals during the succeeding year.

Ex-Gov. Hicks, of the Bank of England, declares that the advantages of uniformity would be very great, but it is not commonly believed to be possible to establish it, at least for many years to come. British India, whose coinage of silver has averaged about $50,000,000 annually for several years, is said to insist upon a ratio of fifteen and a half to one for the two metals, and that basis would not be accepted throughout the world. In this country there is a growing sentiment in favor of making the intrinsic value of silver coins identical with that of gold coins of the same denominations, and it is believed that a union of the great nations in a declaration of the relative value of the two metals would reduce fluctuation to a minimum, so that frequent changes would not be required. Whatever the standard adopted in the United States, it is certain that Congress cannot afford to delay the repeal of the law which has forced $2,000,000 a month of depreciated silver dollars into the vaults of the Treasury since 1878.

Information has been received at the treasury department of a very important character. It relates to the future of silver in France, as far as the Bank of France can control it. Bavaria is not in the Latin Union, and when a few weeks ago a large amount of gold and silver was deposited at the Bank of France from a house in Munich the directory of the bank resolved to accept the gold at its face value, but the silver coin was only taken at its bullion value.

The news which the Government has received from Gen. Sheridan, a part only of which has been made public, is said to contain the assurance that there need be no serious apprehensions of any trouble in the Indian Territory. But it is known from private sources that the General has very positive opinions as to the causes of the trouble, and it is not clear that the Administration is in a position to remove them. Gen. Sheridan has privately expressed the opinion that the difficulty with the Cherokees is to be attributed to the leases, the encroachments of the cattle men, and to the offensive intrusion of the cowboys. The Administration apparently does not quite see its way clear to annul the leases. As to some of the tribes in the Indian Territory there is hardly a doubt that the Government has no right to interfere. As to illegal fences the Administration is said to construe the law of Congress to mean that special jurisdiction was to be given to the Courts in the matter and that the law does not clothe the Executive with summary powers to remove the fences.

Young or middle aged men suffering from nervous debility or other delicate diseases, however induced, speedily and permanently cured. Address: World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y.

JULY JUMBLES. "Will the hair grow after death?" is a question that is being agitated by scientific people. This depends a good deal upon whose death it is. We have known a man's hair to grow right along after he was laid away in the silent tomb. "Siftings." "Yes, it may be angel cake," said Jones, who had been persuaded by his best girl to test her culinary abilities, "but for the last two nights since I saved it, I've seen mice, rats, dogs, snakes, wild cats and spoons that would crowd a seven-story pandemonium."—St. Paul Herald.

Just as a lover had dropped on his knees, and began popping the question, a poodle, who thought the proceedings rather strange, made a dash for him. With a remarkable nerve for a woman the girl reached over, seized the dog by the neck, and at the same time, calmly uttered: "Go on, George, dear; I'm listening to what you are saying."—Chicago Tribune.

"I like the mild spring air," said Deacon Gilpin, as he sat down on Square McGill's porch floor the other morning for a friendly chat. "How fresh it makes everything seem. Do you know of anything fresher than the gentle spring zephyr?" "No, I don't know as I do," replied the squire, "unless it is that 'ere paint you're sitting on." "Tain't been on the floor over two hours."—Marathon Independent.

IMPROVED QUOTATIONS. Roll on, thou giddy roller-skater, roll! Ten thousand folk fall over thee in vain. Too late I stayed—forgive the crime— Unheeded flew the hour: How needless falls the foot of Time! Your father's has more power, There is a tide in the affairs of men That goes to par and tumbles back again. I shot an arrow into the air; It fell to earth I know not where; But the man whose hen it chanced to kill Came in next day, and I paid the bill. Sensible Advice on Cookery. A wide-awake paper says, "A family fed on fried beefsteak, with the juice all solidified and the steak full of grease, and sodden potatoes and heavy bread suffers not only in stomach but in nerve and brain." Yes, and the family will have dyspepsia, debility and bad blood. Give them Brown's Iron Bitters and drive those diseases out. Mr. J. Hoehn, Delphos, Ohio, writes, "I have used Brown's Iron Bitters for impurity of blood, and am greatly benefited."

Advice to Mothers. MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP should always be used when children are cutting teeth. It relieves the little sufferer at once; it produces natural, quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub awakes as "bright as a button." It is very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for diarrhoea, whether arising from teething or other causes. Twenty-five cents a bottle. Jly 6 d&w

ECZEMA or SALT RHEUM. ANOTHER CLEAR and POSITIVE RECOVERY. AN OVERLY SUFFERER'S LETTER. "I ought often to express their wonder at the numerous cases of 'SALT RHEUM' cured by DR. DAVID KENNEDY'S FAVORITE REMEDY—accounts of which are brought to their notice through the newspapers. Although no other known medicine has anything like the same success, it is not strange that 'FAVORITE REMEDY' should accomplish these results, and gladden the hearts of so many sufferers. The reason is that SALT RHEUM, one of the most loathsome of skin diseases, is in reality a disease of the blood; and this new and scientific preparation is adapted, beyond all others, to purify the blood and keep it so by revivifying the Stomach, Liver, and Kidneys.

Among the numerous letters received by Dr. Kennedy's testifier to notable SALT RHEUM cures, the following will be found of first interest to our readers, who may accept our assurance of its perfect authenticity and truthfulness: Woburn, Mass., March 23, 1884. Dr. D. Kennedy, Rondout, N. Y.: DEAR SIR:—Until recently I have been for three years a sufferer from SALT RHEUM. It followed upon an attack of erysipelas, for which I was for a long time under medical treatment. I placed myself again in the hands of the physician who did it, I have no doubt, all that could be done. One thing is sure, however—I was none the better for all the medicine they gave me. The painful and unsightly disease made continual progress, until I began to fear I should never get rid of it. By means of one of those accidents that often result in so much blessing, I had my attention called to your 'FAVORITE REMEDY' which I was told would surely do me good. I used it, and within a much shorter time than I would have believed possible, I received a permanent cure. I am now perfectly free from SALT RHEUM. What a comfort this is, and how it places your wonderful medicine in my opinion, you may guess at, but never know. I keep it now constantly in the house, as a family medicine. Yours truly, Mrs. DINA H. PEAR. Mrs. PEAR is a widow lady in advanced life, of impeccable character. Sometime since, when on a visit in Kansas, she found a case of SALT RHEUM, could not get 'FAVORITE REMEDY', sent to New York City for it, and cured the case.
