THE DAILY REVIEW.

VOL. IX. WILMINGTON, N. C. THURSDAY, JULY 30, 1885. NO. 176

PLEASE NOTICE. We will be glad to receive communication from our friends on any and all subjects; general interest but the name of the writer must always be attached to the Editor. Communications must be written on one side of the paper. Personalities must be avoided. And it is especially and particularly understood that the Editor does not always endorse the views of correspondents unless so stated in the editorial columns.

Gen. Grant's name was not Hiram Ullyses, notwithstanding the assertions to the contrary. His father, Jesse R. Grant, has attested over his own signature that his name, first, last and all the time, was Ulyses Simpson Grant.

Sir Moses Montefiore, the great Hebrew philanthropist, died at Ramsgate, England, on Tuesday afternoon, aged 100 years and 9 months. The cablegram announcing his death says that "Ramsgate is in mourning. The majority of the shops are closed. The Mayor, at a meeting of the Town Council, spoke of the death of Sir Moses Montefiore as a great loss to the town. The Council resolved that the Town Hall should be draped and that the municipal authorities should attend the funeral." The following is from the notice of his death in the Herald:

Sir Moses Montefiore, whose one hundredth birthday was celebrated in Europe and in the United States last year, was born on the 24th of October, 1784, at Leghorn, Italy. The baronet's earlier years were passed in Italy, but he received his education and began his business career in England. In 1812 he married Judith, the daughter of Mr. L. B. Cohen, the sister-in-law of Nathan Meyer Rothschild, the founder of the London branch of that house. Judith Montefiore, who lived happily with her husband for fully fifty years, though childless, was his unwearied assistant in all his good works. She was a lady of great mental endowments, and she wrote an interesting account of one of her numerous philanthropic journeys with her husband, published in 1844, under the title, "Notes of a Private Journal of a Visit to Egypt and Palestine." She died September 25, 1862, and Sir Moses embodied at once his love and his bereavement in his noble, declared determination to embalm her memory by "redoubling his benevolence toward the living." This he did by his annual gift in her name to Bell Lane Jews' Free School for Girls and in countless other ways. The Convalescent Home at South Norwood was built by the English Jews in memory of Lady Montefiore. Sir Moses also endowed the Jewish college at Ramsgate in her name. A few days after the accession of Victoria Mr. Montefiore was elected Sheriff of London, the first Jew who had ever been chosen for that office, and he received knighthood at the hands of Her Majesty when she visited the city on the following Lord Mayor's Day. This compliment was well merited, for he had already acquired world-wide fame for his philanthropy. He had amassed enormous wealth and his whole life has been characterized by large hearted benevolence, and civilized people of every race and nationality had given him honor for his good works. To understand the motives of Sir Moses Montefiore's life it is necessary to follow the progress of his intellectual development.

Said handsome Tom to smiling Nell, "Where did you find that mystic spell That hovers round your every smile, And would my throbbing heart beguile." Quoth laughing Nell, "You silly boy, In ZOZODONT, the cream of joy."

The Fair Daughters of Fashion Prefer SOZODONT to every other article for the teeth, because nothing renders those ornaments of the mouth so spotless, or imparts such an agreeable odor to the breath. Moreover, experience proves the article to be perfectly wholesome, which cannot be said of all dentifrices.

Washington letter in Alexandria Gazette: "It is currently reported among the few Democratic clerks in the Interior Department that the Mahone negro employees there are so well satisfied that their positions are secure, that some of them have already gone to Virginia to work for their party."

The Iowa Prohibition law has been in force over a year, and is fairly successful in the small places, while in cities there is thought to be more drunkenness than under the license system. Reports from twenty-two leading cities and towns show 150 more open drinking places than there were a year ago.

Miss Blanche Roosevelt, Miss Chamberlain and another American, considered a rival of the last named beauty, and mentioned as the "Vice-Chamberlain," were together in the royal quadrille at the Buckingham palace state ball, and among the vocalists employed on the same occasion were the Yankoes Marie Van Zandt and Albani.

A Georgia physician took the precaution to secure a certificate from a woman whom he had treated, stating that it was his services which had given relief. When some praying visitors announced that their petitions to heaven had brought about the result, the doctor triumphantly shook the document in their faces, and they retired from the scene discomfited.

Prof. J. A. Harrison of Virginia says that the fertility of the negro dialect is really wonderful, not only in the ingenious distortion of words, by which new and startling significance is given to common English words, but more especially in the imitation of animal utterances. It is an ear language altogether. The only wonder is how the negro could have so truly caught the sweetly uttered sounds about him.

War News. Our expected letter from the seat of war, promised in yesterday's correspondence, did not arrive this morning very much to our disappointment. That it is somewhere on the road and may reach us by the time the troops return home, we confidently and devoutly believe. There is room for much improvement in the postal facilities between Eastern and Western North Carolina.

In the absence of our regular correspondence we make to-day some interesting extracts from an article in Monday's Asheville Citizen, which reached us this (Thursday) morning:

Monday morning broke bright and beautiful upon the Camp, the rain of Saturday putting a new aspect and feeling upon every man and everything. The men have adapted themselves to camp life with wonderful facility, surrounding themselves with the comforts that an old campaigner might suggest. One thing may not be forgotten. While the men make themselves comfortable as soldiers, they do not forget that they are gentlemen. There is not a single case of deprelation on corn-fields or the stores of the orchard or the fowl yard, things under such circumstances conventionally free property.

The 2nd Regiment gains addition to its strength; numbers join every day; and while gaining in strength, gains also in discipline. It is the favorite with many; but we cannot justly make discriminations, for the whole constitute a fine body of troops. They are ready for instant actual service, and would be ready to meet the order to move to any part of the United States in twenty-four hours notice. Much is due to the ordinance officer, Lt. Col. Olds, for the complete equipment of the troops. There is nothing in details or in fullness wanted. Col. Black pays a high compliment to the efficiency of this officer when he says no troops in the Southern States are so amply and perfectly equipped.

In connection with discipline and equipment it may be added that the camp is well policed, and there is little sickness among the men and none that is all serious. Everybody is on the qui vive for Gov. Scales' arrival. Wednesday is the grand day of review, and we presume the world will be there to see. The boys are somewhat disappointed at the comparatively small numbers attending the afternoon drills.

At 3 o'clock yesterday morning the long roll was suddenly sounded, and in five minutes every man was in ranks to repel a night attack. There was rapid and heavy firing along the lines; and the enemy were driven back without the loss of a man on the part of the defenders. The camp witnessed a more quiet scene when the Sabbath sun was somewhat high in the heavens. Bishop Lyman, of the Episcopal church, assisted by the Rev. Dr. Carmichael, Chaplain of the Second Regiment, held divine service, the improvised pulpit being placed under a tree in the ravine near the camp. On the sloping sides of the ravine the troops were grouped of the Second Regiment in full strength. Other troops were present, and a considerable number of citizens. Bishop Lyman preached a most admirable sermon, the leading idea, that the soldier equipped for physical battle had suggested to him that he was engaged in a great moral battle, of which the world was the field, but the consequences of victory or defeat reaching into eternity. The reference made by the Bishop to the dead General Grant was feeling, eloquent and most beautifully expressed in language and tone. The music by the choir from the Second Regiment, was touching and exquisite, made more impressive by the surroundings.

Serious Accident. Mr. John Williams, of Onslow county, was playing with a mule last night at the cart house of Mr. B. H. J. Ahrens, on the corner of Market and Ninth street, when the animal kicked, one foot hitting Mr. Williams in the breast and the other in the jaw, inflicting serious if not fatal wounds. The wounded man was taken to the hospital where he now lies in rather a critical condition. Mr. Williams is about 30 years of age and is, we believe, unmarried.

Base Ball. We learn that a new battery for the Seaside is expected here soon from Baltimore, Mr. Monroe, the new manager, having gone to that city, for the purpose of securing the services of professionals. It is also said that there is to be an entire reorganization of the club and that for next season they intend entering the Southern League with a nine composed entirely of professionals.

It will be to your interest to call and see our goods and prices before you spend a dollar. Never before could you make a dollar go as far in clothing as at the present time. We have yet a large stock of Summer Clothing, which must go. We do not intend carrying over one dollar's worth this Fall, so have put prices where we know they cannot help but go. You know our reputation; when we say goods are cheap you know they are. SHRIER, the Old Reliable Clothier, 114 Market st. Sign of the Golden Arm.

The First Gets It. After all the Second Regiment failed to secure the prize flag offered by the ladies of Asheville to the best drilled regiment. All previous telegrams and letters to that effect are incorrect. The following special from Col. W. C. Jones to this paper shows that the flag was actually awarded to the First Regiment:

ASHEVILLE, N. C. July 30. EDITOR DAILY REVIEW.—Your informant was incorrect as to the Second Regiment winning the prize. The drill camp of yesterday and the prize was awarded to the First Regiment. W. C. JONES.

Painful Situation. An old colored woman went to police headquarters this morning and reported to Capt. Brock that there was a wounded and helpless young colored man under the Peabody School House, on Fifth street, between Red Cross and Campbell, where he had been for several days. Sergeant Bishop, of the police force, was sent to investigate the matter and upon his return stated that the wounded man was Thomas Smith, colored, about 13 years of age. He was injured at Kidder's mill on Monday last by a log rolling against his ankles. He thought at first that the accident was trifling and started to walk to his boarding house on the North side of the railroad. When he reached the school house in question he sat down to rest and upon attempting to start again, found that he was helpless, it being impossible to move his ankles in the least. He had lived and slept at the school house ever since, making his bed upon benches underneath the building, and some of the colored people of the neighborhood supplying him with food. He had tried to get word to the City Hall of his condition, but without avail until to-day. Sergeant Bishop found the sufferer in an utterly helpless condition so far as locomotion was concerned and had him conveyed to the city hospital for treatment.

Personal. Mr. J. W. S. Robinson, representative to the General Assembly from Sampson county, is in the city to-day.

Mrs. H. H. Kasprovicz, who has been sojourning at Smithville for a few weeks, returned to the city this morning.

Mr. T. B. Henderson was taken quite sick this forenoon while at the office of Messrs B. F. Mitchell & Son and had to be conveyed home.

A letter was received in this city to-day from Capt. W. A. Cumming. He was at Blowing Rock when the letter was written, and was having a good time.

Rev. Mr. Brown, of Charlotte, who has been sick at Smithville for some time, was brought to the city this morning and conveyed to the residence of Rev. F. W. E. Peschau, on Sixth street, between Market and Princess.

Our valued friend, Mr. Asa A. Brown, who has been in Mexico and Texas since leaving here a year ago, is expected to arrive in the city to-night. He is a genial hearted, clever gentleman and we shall be glad to bid him welcome back to Wilmington.

Col. John D. Taylor has so far recovered that he was able to be down at his office to-day. He has been confined to his house nearly seven weeks, during which time he has been an intense sufferer. It was pleasant to see him in his accustomed place at the City Hall to-day and many were the hearty congratulations he received upon his recovery.

Mr. D. F. Colwell, a prominent citizen of the Black River section, in Sampson county, is in the city to-day. He reports that the crops were never in a more prosperous condition in his section than now. He states also that the acreage in cotton is somewhat larger than it was last year, and that the prospects for a good crop are excellent.
