WILMINGTON, N. C., TUESDAY, AUGUST 4, 188510V

Thirty years ago an attempt to raise sufficient money to buy a town clock was made by the citizens of Farmington, Me , but failed. Last week a fair was held there for the same purpose, and enough money was raised, together with that collected three decades of years ago, to buy the long-sought-for time-piece which will be placed on top of the new county buildings now being constructed.

Personal.

Mr. Charles E. Taylor, of Fayetteville, brother to Mr. James H. Taylor, of the firm of Parker & Taylor, arrived here this morning on the steamer A. P. Hurt. Mr. Henry Morriss, of Tarboro, Grand Commander of the American Legion of Honor of North Carolina, is in the city to-day. Mr. J. G. Snyder, of Rocky Mount, Grand Treasurer of the American Le gion of Honor of North Carolina, is in the city to-day.

The following lines were written by a young gentlemen in this city. They were suggested by seeing the body of a drowned sailor float past the ship while our young friend was on a voyage

To look at a treasure, Old but ever new to him. As he looks his eyes grow dim With thoughts of olden days, Of his mother's loving ways, Her parting kiss on his brow Yet lingers, he feels it now, As he gazes on her picture old, Knowing that in heaven rests her soul, But to him she's ever living, (Although now in heaven), Words of cheer she's ever giving

To help him fulfil life's duty,

And go to God's land of beauty.

Thus he muses and the hours glide by. The hour of mideight will soon draw

Still he lingers, lingers on Over his mother's face so dear Bringing back days that are gone Since leaving home, with mother there.

Till light brings the morn, And they find him dead. On the face of his mother He had bowed his head, And went, without a shudder, Above, to Heaven fair With mother there!
