

THE DAILY REVIEW.

VOL. IX. WILMINGTON, N. C. FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 25, 1885. NO. 224.

THIS PAPER published every evening, Sundays excepted by JOSH T. JAMES, EDITOR AND PROPRIETOR. SUBSCRIPTIONS POSTAGE PAID. Year $4.00. Six months, $2.00. Three months, $1.00. One month, 35 cents. The paper will be delivered by carriers free of charge, in any part of the city, at the above rates, or 10 cents per week. Advertising rates low and liberal. Subscribers will report any and all failures to receive their paper regularly.

The Daily Review has the largest circulation of any newspaper published in the city of Wilmington. The revival, will soon be up the iniquitous Baltimoreans. Bayard and Secretary En have returned to Washington. National Committeeman Ham thinks Democrats have a fair show to win Iowa this Fall. An English Church has just been built on the top of the Eggs-chorn, in the Alps, 730 feet above the sea level. Some one food of figures calculates that $100,000 were spent by those who went to see the Puritan-Genesta trials.

Queen Victoria has caused a great deal of wrangling among the members of her family by giving Beatrice all her old lace. Plans are in preparation in New York for a popular movement to increase the height of the Grant monument by means of a great fair in Madison Square Garden.

United States Minister Cox and Consul-General Heap have succeeded in obtaining a revocation of the order expelling American Hebrews from Jerusalem.

Mr. Fred Gebhard got a life-sized painting of his Lily through the New York customhouse by taking an oath that it was a "household effect," and was liable to duty as a work of art.

Judge Mitchell's attempt to remain a Democrat and yet get elected as an Independent to Congress from the Third District of Arkansas failed badly. The majority for his opponent will be 5,000.

Wine grapes are cheap in California this season, although the crop is light. The finest varieties will not bring over $30 a ton. The wine makers are making more discrimination in varieties than formerly.

Dr. Edward Warren, the popular American physician in Paris, is about to publish his personal memoirs, and as he has lived and practiced in America, Europe and Egypt, Dr. Warren feels warranted in printing his experiences.

Frank Siddals, the Philadelphia soap manufacturer, has bought the fast paces, Westmont and Lorraine, from Mr. J. M. Hill, the manager of the Union Square Theatre, of New York, for $50,000. It is said to be the fastest pacing span in the world.

The Philadelphia Times thinks that if Governor Hoadly continues the work of replying to Senator Sherman and improves at each new trial, it is not at all improbable that the people of Ohio may conclude that he is just about the size of man they want for Senator.

The New York electricians say that the reports of the wonderful telephone invented by a Texas genius are untrue. The longest distance that a telephone has yet been operated is two hundred and fifty miles, so there is not much probability of the success of the proposed submarine line from New York to London.

The New York Herald of Tuesday contained interviews with a number of the most prominent business men of the metropolis. The demand for goods in almost every line is increasing and prices are rising. Some of the more enthusiastic think they see good times ahead.

The Washington Star learns from the United States Treasurer that the supply of $5 and $10 notes in the hands of the Government is sufficient to meet all demands, and added in response to an inquiry on the subject, that so far as he knew there was no immediate prospect of a resumption of the issue of $1 and $2 notes.

Things Worth Knowing. That Alcock's are the only genuine porous plaster. That all other so-called porous plasters are imitations. That their makers only get them up to sell on the reputation of Alcock's. That all so-called improvements and new ingredients are humbugs. That no one has ever made an improvement on Alcock's Porous Plasters. That when you buy Alcock's Porous Plasters you obtain the best plasters made.

Senator Manderson, of Nebraska, who spent several weeks in Utah studying the Mormon problem and making other personal investigations, expresses doubt whether the Edmunds law will be found effective enough to destroy the practice of polygamy. He is strongly in favor of additional legislation on the Utah question.

Representative Warner has completed the draft of the compromise silver bill that he intends to present to Congress when it assembles. Gen. Warner says he does not care to make public the provisions of the bill until he has submitted it to persons of various shades of opinion upon the silver question and secured the benefit of their suggestions.

The Snelbacker Theatrical troupe seem to have given the city the go-by as they were booked to appear here on Monday next and no agent has yet put in an appearance. If they do not come the next entertainment will be by the Zoo Zoo Comedy Company, which is booked to appear here Oct. 12th.

Criminal Court. To-day was set apart by the Court for the trial of Thomas W. Gordon, charged with burglary, but upon affidavit made the case was continued for the defendant until the next term of the Court, and as no other case had been set for trial to-day, the Court adjourned until 10 o'clock to-morrow morning. A large number of jurors had been summoned for the day, but they were discharged.

Military. The parade and inspection of the Wilmington Light Infantry, which was held last night according to previous announcement, was well attended. The company turned out with full ranks and acquitted themselves in a soldierly manner. Lieut. Eastman, of the U. S. It makes no difference what inducements other houses may offer in the way of prices, we can always save you at least from 15 to 33 per cent. on the dollar by dealing with SHRIER, the Old Reliable Clothier, 114 Market st., sign of the Golden Arm.

Keep them There.

Two negro burglars were arrested at Charlotte a few days since for robbing the residence of Capt. S. J. Strickland, of that city. They gave their names as A. N. Davis and Newton Steward and hailed from this city. The missing goods were found in their house, together with a large quantity of other stuff which is supposed to have been stolen, as the two men have not been known to work for a living.

The State Fair.

The annual Fair of the State Agricultural Society will be held at Raleigh, October 12th, 13th, 14th, 15th, 16th and 17th, and promises to be one of the best of the kind ever gotten up in the State. The management are making every exertion to accomplish the purpose and appearances now indicate that they will be entirely successful. Generous premiums have been offered for the best displays of the several sorts of farm products, including animals and poultry of all kinds. The ladies are thoughtfully remembered and extra inducement, are offered for the dear creatures to exhibit specimens of their handiwork. In fact all North Carolina industries are included in the list of premiums. It will be a grand affair.

Wilmington Presbytery.

Wilmington Presbytery met at Burgaw on the evening of the 23d inst., and after a sermon by Rev. George McMillan, was opened with prayer. Rev. K. McDonald was chosen Moderator and Rev. A. Kirkland temporary Clerk. The roll of churches was called and 13 out of 35 answered. The following were present and answered to their names:

Ministers—Revs. D. B. Black, Colin Shaw, B. F. Marable, D. D., A. McFadgen, K. McDonald, J. W. Primrose, A. L. Phillips, A. Kirkland, G. W. McMillan and J. M. Rose, Jr.

The following order of exercises was adopted:

The first half hour of each day's session to be spent in devotional exercises, after which a sermon was to be preached, to be followed by the business of the Presbytery. In accordance with this arrangement Rev. J. M. Rose preached yesterday morning and Rev. Colin Shaw preached last night.

Mr. Willie Monroe is visiting the family of Mr. M. C. Collins, near Burgaw, and we are indebted to him for a box of fine seedling grapes picked from Mr. Collins' vine.

Mr. Morris Bear, of Morris Bear & Bro., returned to the city last night after a two month's absence. A portion of his time while absent was devoted to the purchase of goods in New York for his house and the remainder was spent in pleasure and health seeking in different parts of New England and chiefly among the White Mountains of New Hampshire.

Chadborn Times: Mr. J. R. Kenley General Supt. of Transportation, of the W. C. & A. R. R. was in our town on last Saturday. Mr. Kenley is said to be one of the most efficient Railroad men in the South. He is prudent, energetic and alive to every thing of mutual interest to the people and the company. He seeks to build up the country, accommodate and benefit the people, as well as build up the road. He has made a lasting impression here.

Bad Loss.

Mr. J. G. Sutton, of Bladen county, while on his way from his home to this city last night with his horse and buggy, had the misfortune to have his horse taken sick, and the animal died in a short time. It was a valuable animal, a fast traveller and was much prized by Mr. Sutton. The horse died when about six miles from the city.

From Brazil.

A gentleman in this city has received a very pleasant and interesting letter from Ex-Gov. Jarvis, U. S. Minister to Brazil. The letter is dated at Rio de Janeiro, August 19th, 1885, and we have been kindly permitted to make the following extracts from its contents: We had a most delightful trip from Norfolk to Rio. We left Norfolk 3 p. m. June 13th, and arrived here at 11 a. m. July 7th. Everything went well with us. No storms or high winds or high seas. The sea was smooth and the weather pleasant all the way. I was greatly surprised in crossing the Equator, at the temperature. Instead of the burning heat that I expected, we had it cool and pleasant, and sometimes we actually had to put on wraps. The trade winds cooled the atmosphere to that extent that I saw men walking the decks with their overcoats on. The very day we crossed the Equator we were comfortably situated and are getting along fairly well. Rio is a nice city of about 500,000 inhabitants. In the old part of the city the streets are very narrow and the buildings are rather ordinary. In the new part the streets are wider and some of the residences are very fine and beautiful. It is now mid-winter and the climate is pleasant. It is so that we are comfortable in ordinary clothing and in our rooms are neither too warm nor too cold without fire. No house here has any place for fire. They all tell us that it is very hot here in December, January, February and March, but then we go to the mountains where it is still pleasant.

The letter further speaks of the cordial treatment he had received from citizens as well as officials and also breathes a spirit of love for North Carolina and her people which would almost indicate a feeling of homesickness on the part of the distinguished writer.

Westward Ho!

The Carolina Central people are in earnest now about extending their road on to the West. They are at last free from complications, as regards the control of the road, and can now turn their attention to an improvement of their stock and an increase of their lines. They have long desired to reach out further West, and this they are now doing. The latest relative to their operations at the other end of the line is from the Charlotte Observer, and is as follows:

At Shelby to-day, a force of fifty rail road hands will commence throwing dirt for the extension of the Carolina Central Railroad through Cleveland, Rutherford, McDowell and Mitchell counties to Shelby 76 miles. At Cranberry, the Carolina Central will find connection with the West, and this will give the Seaboard Air Line, of which the Carolina Central is a part, the shortest outlet from the Western States to the Atlantic seaports, by 150 miles, of any other road. The entire route from Shelby to Cranberry has not yet been surveyed, as the location of the line beyond Rutherford has not been definitely decided upon, the railroad authorities desiring to give the people of the counties through which the road is to pass, a voice in the route to be taken.

The Carolina Central authorities have been making preparations for this extension in a quiet way for several months past, and their sudden action in commencing work seems to surprise the people. The road between Shelby and Rutherford has been surveyed in former years, and is partially graded. It is contemplated to have the iron laid and the cars running to or within the vicinity of Rutherford by next February. It is yet a question about Rutherford being favored by a "close call," and the depot may be located inconveniently distant from that town. The Carolina Central authorities made the people of Rutherford an offer to give them the road, but they declined to entertain any proposition from that company, having just completed a contract with the Massachusetts Construction Company. Between Shelby and Rutherford, two large bridges will have to be constructed, and this will make the route an expensive one for the company. The distance is but 25 miles. The Carolina Central authorities have for years past been anxious to make this extension, but they have never been burdened with cash, and as it is, they are now enabled to commence work only through the aid extended by the Seaboard system.

It is one of the most important pieces of railroad enterprise in the State, and by its completion great results are expected from the opening up to the world of some of the richest sections of our State. The extension of the Carolina Central will cross the Western North Carolina track near Morganton. At present, work will be pushed vigorously from Shelby to the Rutherford terminus, and by time the grading is completed for that section, the route will be laid out for Cranberry and ready for construction.
