The Daily Review has the largest circulation of any newspaper published in the city of Wilmington.

Secretary Whitney has returned to Washington and is again on duty.

The resignation of Captain Warren C. Beach, 11th Infantry, has been accepted by the President, to take effect June 1, 1886.

Senator Sharon is dying, but he does not relent towards Sarah Althea Hill, who claims to be his wife. Among his last acts was to direct his heirs to keep up the fight against her.

Chicago News: "If General W. T. Sherman could be stereotyped and worked off in octavo form, we would have the most complete history of the United States since the war."

The lord mayor of London has handed over to the trustees of the Gordon Bays Home the sum of $101,600.83, collected by him for a national memorial to the martyr of Khartoum.

M. Bartholdi arrived in New York last week. He came over to explain to Gen. Stone how to mount his Statue of Liberty Enlightening the World. He also brings a model for the national statue of Lafayette.

A promotion society has been organized in Baltimore and $15,000 has been subscribed toward building a crematory. The society has a membership of over a hundred and the money was raised in shares of $25.

In acknowledging a complimentary serenade in New York, Governor Hill paid a high tribute to General Fitzhugh Lee, and said Lee's election placed Virginia in the hands of men who will not financially dishonor her good name.

Sam Jones: "Christians should not be long-faced, but bright and happy. God never made a man who loved fun more than I, and I'll say right here, Judge Bleckley told a mighty big truth when he said: 'The next best thing to religion is fun.'"

The French Salvation Army has a member, Major Fakir, whose claim to distinction is the writing of the name of God on thousands of slips of paper, which he throws into the rivers to sanctify their waters and the fish they contain.

"A lawyer in this section of the country, who was employed by an Augusta, Ga. merchant, the Savannah News says, 'to collect a debt of $2,100, obtained the money and sent the merchant $900, keeping $1,200 for his own services.'"

According to the New York Sun, the late Gen. McClellan expressed his wish, while visiting the battlefield of Antietam, on the 30th of last May, to be buried there, on the field of his renown. "I should like to be buried here when I die," he is reported to have said to his wife, "and then I can get up with my boys when the reveille sounds."

In his speech at the Prohibition meeting in Atlanta on Monday evening, Rev. Dr. Hawthorne, of the Baptist Church in that city, is quoted as saying: "Alfred H. Colquitt was worth all the politicians in the State." Indirectly he pitched into Senator Brown, strongly insinuating that he was "a skulk, too cowardly to come out either for or against Prohibition."

Joaquin Miller told a Washington correspondent of the Denver News that all the money he had made in this country came from his dramatic writings. McKee Rankin gave him $5,000 for "The Danites," and afterwards for a breach of contract he recovered $10,000 damages. His new play, which is soon to be produced at New Orleans, he is led to believe will be successful. A Bible, he says, is the only book which he keeps in his log cabin, near Washington.

For an impartial opinion regarding business prospects, unmingled with the bias of party, the commercial papers are generally reliable. The New York Commercial Bulletin, such a journal, has this to say: "The prevalent feeling may be described as one of increasing confidence in the recuperative energies of the country, with an almost universal expectation that the coming year, barring unforeseen accidents, is to be one which will compare favorably with the most prosperous seasons of the past."

Our November Trade

Opened with wholesome promise of a lively business and finds us thoroughly prepared: Our stock, notwithstanding the great rush we had, has been renewed, increased and strengthened when necessary and is now in splendid condition. Our enormous purchases from the country this Fall enables us to give bargains in all grades of clothing that others in the trade have found it impossible to approach. Hence it is that our trade has exceeded all former years. Should it become necessary, we can do still better, for we are determined to deserve and hold the patronage we have won and to increase it by all honorable and legitimate means. We have never published an untruth. We stand ready and prepared to discount in value qualities and inducements any house may offer in the State. SHREVE, the Old Reliable Clothier, 114 Market street.

Gold Medal Contest.

The members of Germania Connet Band will attend the Catholic Fair in the City Hall this evening to look after their interests in the contest for the gold medal, to be presented to one of the bands in this city. The friends of the Cornet Concert Club are also, we understand, wide awake on the subject.

The Catholic Fair.

There was a large attendance last night at the City Hall to see and admire the many and varied beauties of the Catholic Fair now in progress there. There seemed to be no abatement of interest in the undertaking and the different tables were not only admired, but well patronized. A good deal of interest was manifested in the voting for the silver pitcher for the firemen. Several articles were raffled for, among which were a smoking jacket, won by Mr. J. H. Bromley, of Portsmouth, Va.; knife, fork and spoon, won by Mrs. Nathan Mayer; Parisian diamond ear rings, won by Mrs. T. H. Thompson; plush toilet set, won by Miss Mary Alderman; handsome toilet set, won by Mr. Henry Thompson; handsome gold pen and pencil, won by Mr. M. O'Brien; plush cabinet, won by Mr. W. Flanagan, and fine cut glass berry dish, won by Miss Katie Bauman.

Death of Judge McKoy.

It is with unfeigned regret and sorrow that our readers will learn by this of the death of Hon. A. A. McKoy, which occurred at his residence at Clinton, Sampson county, at 6 o'clock this morning. He had been in failing health for several months, although he has attended to his regular judicial duties until the close of Carteret County Superior Court a week or two ago when he was obliged to go home in the hope that a short rest might enable him to hold the regular term at Onslow, but he sank rapidly until death came to his release.

We do not know Judge McKoy's age, but think that he must have been about 60. He has served his native State with honor, trust and fidelity, in various positions. He was an officer of the Confederate government during the war, was a member of the State Constitutional Convention, held after the war, and afterwards represented Sampson county in the Legislature. In 1874 he was elected Judge of the Superior Court in this (the then Third) Judicial District and was reelected to the same position in 1882. For nearly eleven years he has held this position and the place which he gained in the esteem and confidence and respect of the people of North Carolina was indeed an enviable one. He was a pure, honest, upright gentleman, an incorruptible Judge and an honest man.

We have no particulars as to the sad event or relative to the time of interment Mr. W. B. McKoy, a nephew of the deceased jurist, and Rev. Dr. Carmichael left here to-day, overland, for Clinton.

Looks Like Business.

The Carolina Central people seem to be in dead earnest this time about their Western extension. They are going somewhere and are moving rapidly in that direction, but whether it is North, South or West of Piney Ridge, their present objective point, is yet to be made known. The Charlotte Observer gives us some interesting points on the subject. It says:

Col. Robison, Maj. Winder and Col. Jones, officials of the Seaboard Air Line Company, spent Sunday at the Central Hotel, in this city, on their return from an inspection of the new rail road work between Shelby and Piney Ridge. They went as far as Mooresboro, and report everything working satisfactorily. In conversation with these officials an Observer reporter was informed that there are now 400 hands engaged in grading the road bed for the Carolina Central extension, and that rapid headway is being made.

That no obstacles may be thrown in the way of the rapid completion of the extension to Piney Ridge, the present objective point, the Carolina Central officials have given the contract for an iron bridge to span Broad river two miles from Shelby, to the well known firm of bridge builders, the Phoenix Bridge Company, of Pennsylvania. This bridge is to be furnished as soon as the company is able to construct it, and will then be erected over Broad river without delay, so that there will be no gap to interfere with the running of material and construction trains along the line. The reporter was further informed that the Carolina Central Company has placed an order with the rolling mills for three thousand (3,000) tons of steel rails, to be furnished immediately.

We ask farmers and those in need of a corn sheller to examine our stock and bear our low prices before buying JACOB'S Hdw. Depot.

City Court.

The Mayor had quite a lively court this morning, Mary Eliza Lively, colored and a frequent visitor, being a prominent figure in the proceedings. She was drunk and disorderly in the Hollow last night and was "spillin'" for a fight with a sailor man, when she was arrested and locked up. She was required to pay a fine of $10 or work out the amount on the streets. A. A. Grice, Jimmie Shaw, Robert E. Hayes and James Oldham, four bad colored boys, charged with disorderly conduct on the wharf where fruit was being sold yesterday, and afterwards abusing the police officer, were fined $5 each or be confined 10 days in the city prison.

Wedding Bells.

Cupid, the son of Mars and Venus, and Hymen, the son of Bacchus and Venus, were busy in our city yesterday, as no less than three couples, after having paid appropriate homage to the former, were consecrated at the shrine of the latter. In other words, they were enticed by Cupid, who is the god of love, and were finally captured by Hymen, who is the god of marriage.

The first of these happy couples of whom we shall speak were Mr. W. J. Pogue, of Durham, N. C., and Miss Mamie Fannie, daughter of Mr. Walker Moore, of this city, who were united in marriage at Front Street M. E. Church, at half past 7 o'clock last night, by Rev. Dr. Yates, in the presence of a large throng of interested witnesses. At the conclusion of the ceremony the happy couple took a carriage and were driven to the depot where they took the Southern bound train for a bridal tour which will be extended as far as New Orleans, after which they will return to Durham, where they will reside. The presents to the bride were numerous, appropriate and elegant. The bride left here followed by the best wishes of her large circle of friends for her future health, happiness and welfare.

At Fifth Street M. E. Church, last night, there was a large gathering of friends and relatives to witness the marriage of Mr. Eugene V. McKenzie, of Savannah, Ga., and Miss Virginia Gertrude, daughter of Mr. W. J. Perry, of this place, which was solemnized at half past 8 o'clock, Rev. D. H. Tuttle officiating. At the conclusion of the ceremony the happy couple, accompanied by their friends and invited guests, repaired to the house of the bride's father, No. 715 Dock street, where a reception was held, and a sumptuous repast was spread, and to which all did ample justice. The happy couple received warm congratulations from their host of friends, and the bride was the recipient of many valuable and beautiful presents. The festivities of the occasion were kept up until a late hour. Mr. and Mrs. McKenzie remain in the city until Friday night, when they will depart for Savannah, Ga., which will be their future home.

The marriage of Mr. John S. Divine and Miss Malvina, daughter of Mrs. E. I. Hinton, was conducted at the residence of the bride's mother, No. 408 North Third street, at 9 o'clock last night, Rev. Father Moore, of St. Thomas' Catholic Church, officiating. There was a large gathering of the relatives and friends of the happy couple to witness the impressive ceremony and to offer them congratulations upon the happy event. The presents were many, appropriate and beautiful.
