Accordingly one of them managed to secure a seat near the cabinet from which the spirits were materialized. The clothing of the medium was sewed securely to a chair in the cabinet, the circle formed and the lights turned down. Soon the spirit of one of the company was materialized and reached out to shake hands with his son, whereupon the young man near thecabinet grappled with the messenger from the other world and threw him to the floor. The believers immediately tend. harled themselves on the daring young man, and the skeptic's friends reigned, with the spirit believers amazement of the believing circle, the materialized spirit proved to be the nedium in exceedingly airy attire, while the clothing out of which he had slipped remained fast to the chair. Krazy Kwilt.

The women-God bless them-seem to have all gone crazy on the subject of crazy quilts. They are as sane and lovable as they have ever been since the days of good mother Eve upon nearly all matters pertaining to domestic or social life, but in crazy quilts they can contrive more odd fancies and unaccountable vagaries to the square inch Mr. John Werner returned to the than it would be possible for our poor New York, after an absence from the self-asserted superiority, to imagine. city of about six weeks, during which There is a noted specimen of this womanly peculiarity now on exhibition at the dry goods store of Col. J. J. Hedrick, on Market street, in the shape of the most unique and most atterly crazy crazy quilt that the fertile ingenuity of women could invent. It contains sixteen squares, each of which was made by a different lady, and each containing an indifferent number of small pieces of every conceivable shape and color, as if thrown together by a hurricane, and fastened with some sort of a cyclonic needle. The fabrics used in the construction fof the quilt are of aristocratic silk, satin and velvet; no plebeian cotton being allowed. The quilt will be disposed of and the proceeds will be devoted towards defraying the expenses of building the new St. Paul's Episcopal Church, of which Rev. T. M. Ambler is Rector Two of the squares of which it is composed were made by two ladies in the England State who were formerly his parishioners, and their handiwork shows conclusively that they are just as crazy as their Southern sisters.
