J SH T. JAMES, Editor & Prop VILMINGTON. N. C.

SATURDAY, DECEMBER 12. '85 others' of the Postoffice at Wilmington, N. C. is second-class matter.

That part of the President's message which, as dealing with the relations of he United States to foreign countries, was of course prepared by Secretary Bayard, is, says the New York Sun, with the possible exception of a single suggestion, faithful to the soundes! traditions of the Democratic party The blunders of the last Administration are repudiated or retrieved, and the one creditable performance of the last Secretary of State is cordially ratified, It will also be noted with satisfaction make it colentarily and willingly on the 4th day of June 1881, I was taken with what was by our people that the impudent atcalled paralysis of the bowe's. The relative translation of the lastrian court to circumtempt of the Austrian court to circumscribe the right of our State Department to designate its diplomatic repre entatives has been repelled with dignity and firmness.

The Administration very properly condenined the unprecedented course of our regular and irregular representhe Remedy," and although opposed to patent tatives in the Congo Conference who medicines, I made the trial. On make a long it will be remembered, tried to make the United States a party to an adjudiforeign continent, and to a guarantee of the visionary rights of that so-called Atrican State. Mr. Bayard is much too sagacious to sanction an implied acquiescence in a waiver of the Monroe doctrine, and in a future reciprocal in-Blood, Kidneys, Liver, Stomach, Bowels and terference by European nations in controversies relating to Central America. Neither can he be imposed upon by the wire drawn distinction between a treaty and an "act" which seemed so specious to the late Secretary of State. Administration, but which lack either the sanction of the Senate or enabling legislation by the House of Representaand discrimination upon which we have repeatedly insisted in these columns. The Nicarauga treaty is summarily discarded for the strongest and most obvious of many cogent reasons. namely, that it would subject our Goveroment to fiscal burdens and international complications incalculable in extent and irreconcilable with our traditional policy. The Spanish treaty, also, which aimed to modify our commercial relations with the Spanish Antilles, is disapproved of on two grounds, the first of which would refer to the proof patent upon visions that our representative had been overreached by the Castilian dip-

More stress is naturally laid upon this consideration than on the obstruction offered by commercial compacts like fine mezzotint work. that proposed with Spain to tariff legislation, because the assent refused in this instance is accorded by Mr. Bayard of those who die from consumption into the inchoate treaty with Mexico. To this convention, also, the exception lessness; or, according to the new themight be raised that it operates to re strict the regulative power of Congress directly from others as an infectious over customs duties, but the drawback is probably a good deal to gain. The measures taken by the present State Department to redress the wrongs inflicted on American citizens in Ecusdor and Hayti are worthy of the examples of vigilance and resolution set by former Democratic Administrations .-From the tenor of the reference to Germany's harsh treatment of our paturalized citizens who may choose to sojourn for a season in the land of their birth, we inter that this Administration means to exhibit to the great powers of Europe, no less than to its feeble neighbors, an unflinching purpose to tulfill its fundamental duties. more money at once, than anything else in Although no similar infringement of home and work in spare time. Capital net required we will start you. Immense pay ed son of the American republic has of late been attempted by Great Britain, we should have been glad to see a peremptory affirmance of a determination to protect our Irish-American fellow citizens from unlawful molestation on British soil. But we have no fear that Mr. Bayard, when the occasion calls for action, will forget the immeasurable obligations of this matter or the weighty indebtedness of the Democratic party to the invigorating inflow of Irish blood. It must be owned, nevertheless, that the proposition put forth in Mr. Cleveland's message to avert by rigid restrictive legislation the alleged abuses of the privileges of citizenship will not strike all readers as well counselled or well timed. It scarcely seem to be the moment for emphasizing the necessity of precautions which, however-defensible in a few instances, could hardly fail in their broad and ultimate effect to materially abridge the benefits of asy lum and the inducements to emigration. Of course a Democratic Administration would not countenance anything that even in the popular imagination could be associated with the Alien law of most unfragrant memory. But, really, naturalization laws which, though capacious and elastic, have been held sufficiently discriminative during the last quarter of a century, might be endured for four years longer. Democrats need not be over-zealous to put up bars which the Republicans deemed Reduced in Price to $2 Per Annum it more prudent to leave down.
