THE DAILY REVIEW.

VOL. X.

WILMINGTON, N. C., MONDAY, AUGUST 2, 1886

NO. 182

Abbe Franz Liszt, the great composer, died at Bayreuth on Saturday night.

Rabbits are becoming so abundant in portions of Colorado that it is suggested that the Legislature offer a bounty for rabbit scalps, to prevent them from overrunning and laying waste the country.

W. H. Malone, of Asheville, has announced himself an independent candidate for Congress in the Mountain district. They have a Billy Malone in Virginia but we trust that the gallant Democrats of the Ninth district will see to it that there is no Billy Malone in North Carolina politics.

The ballet is an expensive luxury to the French Government. The corps de ballet of the Paris Opera comprises 1,627 women, exclusive of the hundred odd employed in the five workshops where the costumes are prepared.

Our friends of the Asheville Citizen are again in trouble. This time it is a case of contempt of Court. Shaford is the name of the presiding justice of the Buncombe County Inferior Court and his dignity has been ruffled.

Judge Shaford's Inferior court, seems to be playing the mischief with its juries. It adjourned Monday evening with two hung juries. Now, if they would hang the court and the bar and all the plaintiffs and defendants, we really do not know but that the country would be helped.

It is hardly probable that the Citizen really meant anything like a disrespect to the Court and if the presiding justice of the court, yielded through courtesy "Judge" Shaford, could have seen into the thing he might not have had his feelings so seriously outraged.

We lose this month 58 minutes of daylight.

That was a glorious rain which fell here this afternoon.

This month has five Sundays, five Mondays and five Tuesdays.

Eggs are being retailed at some of the grocery stores for ten cents a dozen.

Attention is invited to the advertisement of the Acme Saloon, Mr. J. G. L. Gieschen, proprietor, as it appears in this issue.

Oh, it is so warm again. Well, that's all right. Go to Heinsberger's, buy a hammock, and the sight of it will make you feel cool.

Stoves: A very large assortment at prices to suit all. Ask your neighbors and friends who have tried our stoves, and they will tell you of their merit. JACOBI'S Hdw. Depot.

The British bark Enterprize, 600 tons burthen, Capt. Carroll, is now at the wharf of the Carolina Oil and Crocete Works, loading with crocete railroad crossings for South America.

If anybody has had the idea that the hot wave has passed they have been very much mistaken, for there seems to be no perceptible diminution of the excessive heat. Yesterday was very hot, and last night, although it blew a gale of wind at times, was uncomfortably warm.

The Sunday School of the Second Advent Church will, on Wednesday, the 4th inst, give an excursion to Smithville, the Rocks and the Forts on the steamer Passport. As is well known all of the excursions given under the auspices of the members of this church have been exceedingly pleasant, and there is no doubt that this will be equally so. It is the only excursion thus far announced for this week.

Sale of Valuable Real Estate.

VanAmringe was the auctioneer and the First National Bank was the purchaser of all the property. The D. A. Smith property, on Front street, brought $17,000; the Jas. Anderson property, on Princess street, brought $1,500; the Jas. Anderson property, on Market street, brought $2,000; the J. W. Taylor property (known as the Harrison mill property) brought $20,000; and the timber pens, on the West side of the river, brought $500.

Death of Mrs. McIlhenny.

The sad news was received here yesterday, by telegraph, of the death of Mrs. Mary McIlhenny, wife of Mr. John K. McIlhenny, formerly of this city but for some months past a resident of Jacksonville, Fla. Mrs. McIlhenny had been ill for some months past and a month ago passed through this city under care of her husband, for her mother's residence in Warrenton, where she died yesterday. She was a most estimable lady in every department of life and her loss is indeed a sore affliction. During her residence in this city she was a consistent and devoted member of St. John's Church and was foremost in every good work and work. She left this city only a few short months ago, in all of the bloom of health and youth and beauty, and none thought that in a few short months she would be laid away to rest. She leaves a devoted husband and two young children to mourn their irreparable loss.

The Atlantic.

The trial of the new steam fire engine Atlantic was made this forenoon by Mr. James P. Teller, of Seneca Falls, N. Y., who represents the manufacturers. The test was made at the corner of Seventh and Market streets, under the supervision of Capt. C. D. Myers, Chief of the Fire Department, and the Committee on Fire Department of the Board of Aldermen. A large throng of citizens, prominent among whom were many of the firemen of other companies, were present to witness the test, and, of course, the inevitable small boy was there in full force. The engine is a beauty to look upon and she did excellent work during the trial. There was a strong wind blowing at the time of the trial from the Southwest, which would have been favorable had it not blown so strong as to break the stream into spray almost as soon as it left the pipe. As it was, however, the engine threw a stream 263 feet, which is 43 feet more than the guarantee, through an inch and a half nozzle. All of the members of the company, with whom we conversed, appeared entirely satisfied and, in fact delighted, with the engine, and they seemed confident that she would do even better work than she did today after she has had a few trials and the "new" gets worn off.
