HEINSBERGER'S—To Our Friends and Customers

MUNSON requests a general settlement.

The receipts of cotton at this port today foot up 657 bales.

New Year cards, you will find a large assortment at Heinsberger's.

Nor. barque Candace, Johanson, from Hamburg for this port, sailed from Dover, Eng., Dec. 31st.

You will save money and get the best work by sending your clothes for repairs to John Dyer and Son.

On the 3rd day of January, 1866, we first put our feet on the soil of North Carolina; just 21 years ago yesterday.

Hewlett's creek, on Masonboro Sound, was frozen clear across this morning, at the bridge on the turnpike.

The ice hereabouts is not yet thick enough for skating but twenty four hours more of this weather will do the work.

Mr. S. VanAmringe, Clerk of the Superior Court, probated last year 351 deeds and 142 mortgages, which is a slight falling off from the year previous.

The cold wave came along yesterday, and the weather kept growing colder until 7 o'clock this morning, when the thermometer indicated 19 degrees above zero.

The commissioner's sale of valuable real estate in various parts of the city, advertised in the REVIEW for to-day, has been postponed until Monday, the 24th inst. Full descriptions of the property will be found in this issue.

Knights of Honor.
Carolina Lodge No. 434, Regular annual meeting this (Monday) evening, at 7:30 o'clock. Full attendance is desired. Installation of officers.

Sudden Death.
At Vineland, Columbus county, Mr. William Schulken suddenly dropped dead at about 8 o'clock on the morning of the 1st inst. The deceased was the son of Mr. Martin Schulken, formerly of this city. We have no further particulars concerning the sad event.

Cotton.
The receipts of cotton at this port for the month of December, 1886, foot up 25,604 bales, as against 15,472 bales for the same month last year, an increase of 10,132 bales. The receipts for the crop year up to Jan. 1st, 1887, foot up 114,787 bales, as against 78,923 bales for the corresponding time last year; an increase of 35,864 bales.

Pension Money.
Mr. S. VanAmringe, Clerk of the Superior Court, has in his office State pension money for three different parties, which remains unclaimed. The amounts have been held by him since October 20th, and if not claimed by February 1st, the warrants will be returned to Raleigh. Mrs. Catharine Coleman, Mrs. Susan A. Jones and Mrs. Alice Craig are therefore notified to call at the Clerk's office and get their money.

If you want to commence a new set of blank books, such as ledgers, journals, day, cash books or records, go to Heinsberger's, where you can get suited both in quality and price.

Do you need a good heating or cooking stove? Then go to JACOBI'S. There you will find a large assortment to select from. His low prices will please you.

THE DAILY REVIEW.

VOL. XI.

WILMINGTON, N. C., MONDAY, JANUARY 3, 1887.

NO 2

A Knock Down.
As the large truck in the employ of the Carolina Rice Mill was turning out of Water street into Chestnut street this morning, one of the horses struck a colored man and knocked him down, inflicting some rather rough bruises, but no serious injuries. We failed to learn the name of the wounded man, but it was the opinion of those who saw him that he had a large dose of benzine on board, which was perhaps as much the cause of the accident as was the carelessness of the driver.

Stock of overcoats tho' greatly depleted is reasonably good at MUNSON'S.

Military Services.
The Wilmington Light Infantry turned out about 30 muskets yesterday afternoon to the divine service, at St. John's church, specially arranged for them. They were under the command of Capt. Jno. H. Daniel. It was the first time that officer had appeared on public parade with the corps and he handled them with the ease and skill and facility of a veteran. The church was crowded and the services were very interesting. Dr. Carnichael, Rector of St. John's and Chaplain of the Second Regiment, preached a powerful and effective sermon.

Criminal Court.
New Hanover county Criminal Court, Judge O. P. Meares presiding, convened at the Court House in this city today. The morning hours were mainly devoted to the empanelling of the grand jury and in the delivery of the customary charge to the same. The following are the grand jury for the term:
G. W. Chesnut, foreman, J. L. White, G. S. Willis, B. S. Montford, L. G. Cherry, T. L. Rowell, S. P. Collier, Thomas Hicks, L. R. Mason, E. S. Conway, M. G. Chadwick, D. W. Chadwick.

The Cold Wave.
The cold wave which was promised arrived in due time yesterday morning. Last night was the coldest thus far this season. At 7 o'clock this morning the thermometer at the signal office here indicated 19 degrees above zero. At the same hour it was 22 degrees at Charleston; 19 at Augusta; 10 at Atlanta; 10 at Norfolk; 7 at Knoxville; 6 at Nashville; 5 at Memphis; 2 at Louisville and at Cincinnati it was 4 degrees below. It is thought that the coldest point has been reached and that the weather to-night will not be so cold by several degrees as it was last night.

Attempted Robbery.
When Mr. J. G. Barrentine, who resides with Mrs. T. W. Player, No. 507 South Third street, went home last Saturday night, and just as he was preparing to go to bed, he discovered a young colored man secreted in the passage-way of the house. The former caught the would-be thief, but having a lamp in his hand, the scamp managed to break the hold upon him, and ran through the parlor, where he knocked down a hanging lamp, thence through a bed room and out of a rear door into the backyard where he managed to get out of sight of his pursuer. The thief got nothing in return for the risk he ran, but he left one of his shoes and a hat in his hasty exit.

New Year's Calls.
It we recollect rightly there were no receptions here last New Year's. On Saturday, however, the custom was revived, with the difference that the receptions were held at night instead of during the day. The hours generally were from 7 to 12 o'clock, and promptly at the latter hour the lights were turned down. Quite a number of ladies received and a great many calls were made. Some of the cards carried by the young gentlemen were very handsome and unique, one which we saw being of wood, about the size of a square envelope, decorated with tiny flowers and tulle, all hand painted by a lady in this city, and with the legend "Happy New Year," across the face and bearing the names of three young gentlemen with that of a married man at the bottom as chaperon.

Our farmers will rejoice to learn that it has at last been decided that bees do not injure grapes, that neglected coids do unspeakable injury and that no better remedy can be secured than Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup.

Our New Dress Shirt.
18 inch square bosom with narrow platts, reinforced; a very handsome and elegant shirt. Manufactured and sold only at one dollar, at the Wilmington Shirt Fact ry, 27 Market street. J. ELSBACH, Proprietor.

What Caused It?
It is reported that there is evidence of a struggle of some kind upon the turnpike, something more than a mile from the city, as the road was bloody yesterday and a quantity of hair was found near by. It is thought by some that there may have been a serious fight there, but we have no information further than that stated above to warrant such an opinion.

Personal.
Mr. S. A. Craig, who is now engaged in business at Wadesboro, is here upon a brief visit to friends and relatives. Mr. J. D. Hanby left on last night's train for Wake Forest College, where he will resume his studies after a holiday visit to his parents. We are glad to learn that Hon. Daniel L. Russell, who has been extremely ill at his residence in this city, is reported as somewhat better to-day.

Mr. W. A. Wright, who has for several years past held a position with the Acme Manufacturing Company at Cronly, has resigned that position and has returned to the city with his family. Rev. Dr. J. C. Hilden, formerly pastor of the First Baptist church in this city, but now at Lexington, Ky., has received and accepted a call to become pastor of a Baptist Church at New Bedford, Mass.

Mr. A. J. Marshall will leave on tomorrow morning's train for Chapel Hill, where he will resume his studies in the State University, which were interrupted by a holiday visit to his parents in this city.

A good time to buy clothing and a good place to do so, is MUNSON'S.

Death of Gen. Loring.
Maj. Gen. W. W. Loring, one of the most prominent characters of the age, died in New York on Thursday evening last, at the St. Denis Hotel, of pneumonia, aged 70 years. He was a native of this city and his career was a varied and interesting one. We copy from the New York Star of Friday's date:

The event was unexpected. At the time of his death the only persons with him were his niece, Mrs. Knight, and her husband, his nephew, Mr. Charles Loring, and Major George W. Knight, and wife. General Loring was in excellent health on Wednesday morning, and toward noon he was stricken down, and he grew worse rapidly until the end. He was ill only eighteen hours. The career of General Loring has been an eventful one. He was born in Wilmington, N. C., in 1817, but while yet an infant his parents went to reside in Florida. While at school he ran away from his studies and enlisted in the United States army, but was speedily brought back by his father and forced to complete his education at Georgetown College, District of Columbia.

In 1835, when the Texan war of independence broke out, he once more enlisted and served there with changing fortunes, until the Mexican war into which he rushed with the impetuosity for which he was characterized, and in which he remained until the battle of Chalpatepac, where he lost his left arm, and retired with the title of major in the United States army. On the breaking out of the civil war Major Loring went to the front and became Colonel of the first regiment of mounted rifles to unfurl the banner of the Union, but his sympathies being with the Confederacy, he resigned his commission in the United States Army and sought service, and was at once appointed Major General in the Confederate army, and fought gallantly and with great distinction during the long period of the civil war.

In 1868 he crossed to Egypt, where he was eagerly received and invested with the rank of Pasha, and in spite of his crippled condition and advanced years he served with great distinction. He returned to this country in 1878, and has since lived principally between New York and Florida, the latter State holding an affectionate place in his memory up to the close of his life. Since his return he has followed literary pursuits chiefly and published a work entitled the "Confederate Soldier in Egypt," which is a history of his own life there, and he was busily engaged preparing another one which he intended calling "Fifty Years a Soldier."

No arrangements have as yet been made respecting the funeral. His remaining relative, a niece of his, Mrs. Royston, at Chicago, will be first consulted.

Exports Foreign.
The exports foreign from this port, for the month of December 1886, as taken from the books at the Custom House, were as follows:
Cotton, 32,696 bales, aggregating 15,110,801 pounds, valued at $1,408,675; spirits turpentine, 279,791 gallons, valued at $96,428; rosin, 24,407 barrels, valued at $21,626; lumber, 820,000 feet, valued at $12,030; shingles, 468,000, valued at $2,227; miscellaneous articles valued at $379; creosoted timber, 360,000 feet, valued at $479; making a total of exports foreign, amounting to $1,548,843.

Harbor Master's Report.
The total number of vessels which arrived at this port during the month of December, 1886, as taken from the books of Capt. Joseph Price, Harbor Master, were as follows:
American—4 steamers, 3,684 tons; 11 schooners, 4,388 tons; making a total of 18 vessels and 8,072 tons.
Foreign—6 steamers, 9,724 tons; 18 barques, 7,605 tons; 2 brigs, 678 tons; 2 schooners, 175 tons, making a total foreign of 28 vessels and 18,182 tons, and a grand total of 46 vessels aggregating 26,254 tons.

Clearance Sale.
Big reduction in clothing at SHIRER'S. All small lots where sizes are broken in suits; overcoats for men, boys and children, reduced in price $2, $3, $4 and $5. The real cost or actual value of the goods have nothing to do with the low prices. SHIRER has reduced them to some extraordinary values for very little money. Don't fail to see SHIRER for bargains; first come will have best choice to select from at the very low prices. New styles and reliable clothing can be had at I. SHIRER'S, the Old Reliable Clothier, 114 Market Street.

Indications.
For North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia and Eastern Florida. Northerly winds, shifting to Easterly, fair weather, warmer.
