OUR WASHINGTON LETTER

(Special Cor. Daily Review.)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 27, 1887.

The true friend of General Grant has much to regret in the reopening of the question of his personal habits. He had gone down to his grave attended by honors that are accorded only to the few. All but the good in his character had been forgotten, and all were disposed to think of him at his best. His people remembered him as the hero of the war, and the Confederates against whom he had fought his legions were mindful of the fact that he honorably kept the terms of the capitulation at Appomattox, and stood between them and an ambitious, embittered and over-zealous partisan President. Even his unfortunate connection with the Grant Ward swindle was overlooked—all charged to Ward. Around his memory there circled a halo of glory, and his tomb at Riverside was, in the minds of many, a Mecca that almost rivaled in patriotic grandeur that at Mount Vernon. The idol of his countrymen, he slept there.

"As sleep the brave who sink to rest, By all their country's wishes blest. But, in an evil hour it is deemed expedient to parade and excrete, with much ostentation, a letter that ought long ago to have been committed to the flames. A letter arraigning the hero as a miserable drunkard, who indulged his appetite at times and under circumstances that would have cost any soldier in his command his life, jeopardizing alike the army he commanded, and the cause he represented. Unhappily, the discussion has resulted in establishing the facts stated in the letter, beyond the shadow of a doubt. Boynton's paper on the subject is conclusive. It shows that the real hero of the war was the wigwagging Virginian, Rawlins, the man who did for Grant what he was too weak to do for himself.

More unfortunate still, the glamour thus dissipated puts the hero before the people as one of very common mould, with infirmities that may seem to justify the reopening of the scandals of his administration, which made, for the first time in American history, "The post of honor the private station," which presents a picture that brings a tinge of shame to the cheek of every citizen and against which they gladly closed their eyes.

And, there too, the loan (?) of his name in the Ward business will also be recalled! Was ever partisan zeal more foolishly indulged than in thus unnecessarily awakening the echoes of the past? Well, perhaps it could not be helped, after all. Some one has said, or might have said, that there comes a time when the child looks at his father as a man. And so posterity, looks at the world's heroes, and gaudy trapping have been ruthlessly torn away before now.

Every now and then some little incident brings to mind that Ward episode. A few months ago one of the victims died in this city; a relative, it was said, of the senior member, whose relationship should have protected him.

"But come they strangers or come they kin, They gathered them in, they gathered them in." The unfortunate fellow had accumulated a few thousand dollars, which he was persuaded to put into the concern. It went with the rest, of course, and he never recovered from the loss. He died broken hearted! Friends secured a small place for the widow by which the money kept soul and body together. "The evil that men do lives after them."

There are two names that eyes have united never to be separated. Those two are Grant and Lee!—they represent Victor and Vanquished. During the war the family of General Lee were quartered in an humble rented house in Richmond. The citizens anxious to testify their appreciation of his sacrifices and services, bought and

I am not suggesting contrast, but only stating facts. Quite a handsome display card is now shown in some of the windows on our principal streets, illustrating the prospective drill. Soldiers of various arms are seen manœuvring on the grounds south of the President's House (where the drill is to take place) and the white tents fill the monument ground at the back. It is hoped that North Carolina will be represented on that occasion by some of her crack volunteer companies. Applications for entry have already been received from the State.

There was the usual rush and crush at the grand ball at the Chinese minister's last night, especially about the supper room, which was little short of disgraceful. The crowd of lounging adventurers who manage in some way to get into such places, often uninvited, "went for" the good things as if they hadn't had anything to eat for a month past, and didn't know when they would have another chance. A lady near me very aptly quoted, as she looked at the struggling mass:

"Here every prospect pleases, And only man is vile." JACOB'S.

A wonderful gold mine has been discovered in Sonora, Mexico. The miners got pure metal by breaking the quartz with hammers.

An imposing statue of the first Aztec Emperor, Guatemoczin, will be unveiled with imposing ceremonies in the City of Mexico on the 28th of February.

The question of maintaining an Anglican Bishop of Jerusalem, which has been in abeyance for several years, has lately been revived and under circumstances that leaves no doubt of the speedy re-establishment of the See.

One of the newest things in New York is a steographer and type writer who pays rent for a place in the reading-rooms and does work for the patrons of the hotels. The merchant from afar can dictate his letters just as he does at home for a small fee. The idea is proving to be quite popular.

Natural gas is by no means a recent discovery. Even its utilization for the purposes of the mechanic arts was long ago successfully attempted in China, where, by pipes of bamboo, it was conveyed from natural wells to suitable furnaces, and, by means of terra cotta burners, consumed.

The Lynchburg, Va., Virginian having intimated that the Richmond, Va., Times is run in the interest of holders of Virginia State bonds, the editor of the latter paper denounces the editor of the former as an "ass and liar." The editor of the Times, Capt. Page McCarty, is one Virginia's noted duellists, and the public are anxiously looking for what ever may follow these newspaper animosities.

A supposed extinct American mammal, the mythical West Indian seal, is reported to have been discovered by Mr. Henry I. Ward, of Rochester, N. York. It has been believed that a skin and skull in the National Museum were the only relics of this mammal extant in any museum in the world, but Mr. Ward made a trip to the islands off Yucatan expressly to hunt for the "Monachus," and succeeded in obtaining several specimens.

Geo. Augustus Sala in the Tropics.

George Augustus Sala, the well-known English writer, on his last Australian trip wrote as follows to The London Daily Telegraph:

"I especially have a pleasant remembrance of the ship's doctor—a very experienced maritime medico indeed, who tended me most kindly during a horrible spell of bronchitis and spasmodic asthma, provoked by the sea fog which had swooped down on us just after we left San Francisco. But the doctor's prescription and the increasing warmth of the temperature as we neared the Tropics and in particular, a couple of Alcock's Porous Plasters clapped on—one on the chest and another between the shoulder blades—soon set me right."

Do you need a good heating or cooking stove? Then go to JACOB'S. There you will find a large assortment to select from. His low prices will please you.

The Gora Van Tassel Company will open their engagement at the Opera House on Monday night with "Fanchon," a dramatization of George Sand's celebrated novel of that name. It is the character in which Maggie Mitchell won fame and fortune.

Mr. Edward Daniel has become associated with Mr. H. L. Fennell in the saddlery and harness business and the firm name is Daniel & Fennell. Both members are clever young gentlemen and good business men. Now let our people show their appreciation of energy and enterprise by patronizing this house.

Indications.

For North Carolina, generally fair weather, variable winds, a slight fall followed by a slight rise in temperature.

Cotton.

The receipts of cotton at this port for the month ended January 31st, 1887, foot up 11,673 bales, as against 7,127 bales for the corresponding month last year; an increase of 4,546 bales. The receipts for the crop year to date foot up 126,460 bales, as against 86,080 bales for the corresponding time last year; an increase of 40,380 bales.

City Court.

H. Clouston was brought before the Mayor this morning to answer to the charge of disorderly conduct. He was found guilty and was required to pay a fine of $5 for the offense.

Gid Edwards, colored, found guilty of disorderly conduct, was required to pay a fine of $10 for the offense.

Dick Stine, colored, charged with disorderly conduct, was sent below for two days.

Exports Foreign.

The exports foreign from this port for the month of January, 1887, as taken from the books at the Custom House, were as follows:
Cotton, 19,265 bales, valued at $958,332; spirits turpentine, 48,949 gallons, valued at $18,097; rosin, 33,448 barrels, valued at $35,837; tar, 2,250 barrels, valued at $3,040; lumber, 781,000 feet, valued at $10,494; shingles, 135,000, valued at $716; making a total of exports foreign amounting to $926,516.

Harbor Master's Report.

The following were the arrivals at this port for the month of January, 1887, as taken from the books of Capt. Joseph Price, Harbor Master:
American—4 steamers, 3,536 tons; 1 brig, 453 tons; 13 schooners, 3,245 tons; making a total of 18 vessels and 7,234 tons.

Foreign—8 barques, 3,306 tons; 3 brigs, 948 tons; 2 schooners, 249 tons; making a total foreign of 13 vessels and 4,503 tons, and a grand total of 31 vessels, aggregating 11,737 tons.

The Old and the New

Col. N. Frederick, proprietor of the new Purcell House, to-day secured a lease of the entire premises and will at once put in new and handsome furniture and overhaul everything. The half of the building which he has heretofore had had proved inadequate to the business and it was imperatively necessary to have more room. Other improvements are to be made soon, which we will note.

Locked Up.

A party of ladies and gentlemen paid a visit to the new jail to-day, and were conducted through the building by the keeper, to be, Mr. James Elder. After while he was called away to attend to some matter, informing the company that they could come out when they pleased. When they did attempt to leave, however, they found, to their dismay, that they had been locked in, and for a few moments there was much alarm, especially among the ladies of the party, who did not relish the idea of being the first to be locked up in the building and right glad were they when the keeper came and let them out.

For Myrtle Grove.

The railroad which has its starting point on the Cape Fear, about 12 miles below the city, and runs thence to Myrtle Grove Sound, is rapidly approaching completion and will be ready for travel about the first of May next. The road bed is nearly all graded, the locomotive has already been bought and the cars are being constructed by Messrs. Barr & Bailey, of this city. The rails will probably be laid during this month. When completed this road will make another favorite excursion route from the city to the sea, combining the pleasures of a trip on the river with a ride by rail, and giving abundant opportunities for a day of recreation. We have no doubt that it will become popular as soon as it is opened to the public.

A Surprise Party.

Mr. Walker Moore, the dispenser of fluid refreshments at the "Gem" Saloon, was a victim of a surprise party last night. At about 9 o'clock he was called into the rear part of the saloon, where quite a number of friends had assembled, and where, very much to his surprise, he was presented with an elegant gold headed cane. The head of the cane bore the legend: "W. M., from T. E. W." and it was presented to Mr. Moore by Mr. T. E. Wallace, the proprietor of the "Gem," in appreciation of faithful services. The presentation speech was made by Mr. T. A. Radcliffe and was a terse, neat and felicitous effort. Mr. Moore responded gracefully and gratefully, after which there was the "feast of reason and the flow of soul," of which all present partook with a hearty relish.

Personal.

Dr. K. J. Powers, of Willard, Pender county, was in the city to-day.

Mr. Platt D. Cowan and wife arrived in the city last night and registered at the Purcell House.

Mr. J. W. King, Jr., who for the past seven years has been employed as a salesman by the hardware house of Messrs. W. E. Springer & Co., will leave on to-morrow morning's train for Savage's, in South Carolina, where he will engage in the general merchandising business. Savage's is on the Big Pee Dee River, about 20 miles from Marion, which is the nearest railroad station. Mr. King will become a partner with Mr. J. W. Holliday, and the firm name will be Holliday & King. He is a pleasant gentleman, of excellent morals, and good business qualifications, and we regret he has concluded to leave us, especially as he has recently brought a young and charming wife to our city. Our best wishes for welfare and prosperity for himself and wife attend them.

At the Hotels.

The Salvation Army, thus far, has been remarkably quiet in its attack upon the enemy in its strongholds. We hope that it may be the means of accomplishing much good in the city.

The REVIEW JOB OFFICE is the place to get good work at moderate prices.

The windows of some of the book-stores are bedizened with comic (so-called) valentines. The sending of these grotesque caricatures afford intense amusement to a certain class of people.

National Life and Maturity.

We invite attention to the attractive advertisement of the National Life and Maturity Association of Washington, D. C., as it appears in this issue. Mr. W. H. Gibson, Special Agent of the Company, is in the city in its interest and will explain the workings of its plans to our people. Mr. Gibson was here a year ago and did a fine business in this city. His company is endorsed by many of the most prominent people in Washington and its officials are men of tried experience and probity. This company has done a large business in this State during the past twelve months, and we note in the Greensboro Workman a fact which redounds very much to its credit. It is that among the policy holders in this State there were some who, after they had paid considerable on their policies, became "hard up" and could not meet the payment as required. The company, on learning this, instead of holding them strictly to the contract, by which they would have forfeited all they had paid, voluntarily took up the policies and returned to the holders 75 per cent of the money they had paid to the Company.

Mr. Gibson will remain here several days and we commend him to the courteous attention of our people.

Life Insurance at absolute cost.
No bother with death assessments.
Annual cost absolutely limited.
This is a guarantee and not an estimate.

Give order its Life Policies indemnity against death at cost, as low as Absolute Insurance can possibly be furnished. It is founded on a careful study of the two systems of life insurance, now competing for favor; and while it embodies the good features of both, it excludes those factors which experience has proved to be a source of weakness in each; in this way it attains the following:

A GUARANTEED POLICY.
Maturity value in cash at a fixed age.
Annual cost absolutely limited.
Only Four Payments per Year.
OR ONE IF IT SUITS BETTER.
NON-FORFEITABLE AFTER 3 YEARS.

Our Ten Year Maturity Plan.
Non-Forfeitable After 5 years.
This secures a class of people that can not pass a medical examination.

Our Five Year Maturity Plan.
Non-Forfeitable After 3 years.
This is something for a young man who cannot save money. He can at the end of five years start himself in business.

LAND PLASTER.

300 TONS NOVA SCOTIA LAND PLASTER, 94.36 per cent. of Sulphate of Lime.

The want of Plaster has been one of the greatest drawbacks to successful farming in this State, and it is an important service to this great industry and to the State.

It is quite indispensable in any judicious system of agriculture, and it serves several important ends, besides the direct one of furnishing lime and sulphur; it gathers nitrogen and prevents its dissipation and loss; it is a specific for clover and other leguminous plants, and it indirectly renders the potash of the soil available and so acts in the restoration of worn lands.

We have sold Plaster to many during the last year, all from whom we have heard, express their satisfaction at its results. The application of Plaster to animal manure, will increase the value of that manure beyond calculation.

Composting with plaster will improve the value of your compost 25 per cent. Sowing from 20 to 40 pounds of plaster to the acre, over your small grain after it is in the ground, will give you an increased crop of from 50 to 100 per cent.

It is infeasible in easily trucking for such as strawberry beds, asparagus beds &c. For sale in lots to suit by
