THE DAILY REVIEW.

VOL. XI. WILMINGTON, N. C., WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 23, 1887. NO. 46

It is said that Queen Victoria owns property in the District of Columbia.

The beggars of Rome, it is estimated, receive $2,000,000 a year, and 500 are said to be worth from $15,000 to $25,000 each.

There is a bill now before the Nevada Legislature dequalifying from holding office any one who is a victim of strong drink.

Mgré Di Ronde, the Papal Nuncio at Paris, who is to don the red hat next month, will be only thirty-nine years old.

Bull fights are growing in popularity in Mexico, and large prices are paid for superior animals. Three bull fights were recently given at San Pillo in aid of a hospital, and netted $875.

Mgré Marcell, Bishop of Perferio, and sacrista of Leo XIII, died a few days ago. He was a member of the Order of St. Augustine, confessor of Pius IX, and was the prelate who administered the last sacrament to that Pontiff before death.

At a recent election in Washington Territory, where women vote, all but two candidates on the Republican ticket were elected. It is now said that the women knew that these two men were domestic tyrants, and party lines disappeared before this fact.

There is a depression in the English marriage market. Population is increasing, but marriage is decreasing. Divorces are increasing. The registrar general decides a vexed question. Is a divorced husband a widower or a bachelor? Is a divorced wife a widow or a spinster? They are bachelor and spinster, he says.

Alma Tadeua has a quaint iron bell, copied from an old German or Dutch model, in the shape of a woman with enormous petticoats, who hangs from a wrought iron bracket, while her streaming hair flies out in ten rays. It is placed eight or ten feet from the floor and is rung by a long iron chain, delicately wrought, which hangs straight down from it.

Gen. Basil Duke's daughter, a young, pretty and charming girl, is in Washington City delighting everybody by her wonderful mastery of the violin. The New York Star's correspondent calls her "Kentucky's Violin Queen" and says this:

She has devoted herself to art and has already accomplished wonders. Her touch is singularly sympathetic and full of passion and delicacy. There is strength and power, combined with great smoothness, accuracy and finish. Her playing is that of a man in her command of the instrument, while there runs throughout it all the tenderness and sweetness of a woman's dainty hand. I was charmed with the beautiful manner in which her phrasing is done. The notes are bound and woven together in all of the weird network of harmony, while her melodies stand out from the canvas of instrumentation, living, burning with a subtle and appealing pathos and expression quite wonderful in the playing of so young an artist.

The young lady's father, Gen. Basil Duke, was a gallant Confederate and is now a brilliant lawyer at the Louisville bar. She is nearly related to Gen. John Morgan and to the late Mrs. George H. Pendleton.

OUR WASHINGTON LETTER

(Special Cor. Daily Review)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 21, 1887.

It is hoped that Congress, notwithstanding so short a time remains to it, will make it convenient to change the day for the inauguration of the next, and future Presidents. Independent of the fact that it will give two more months to Legislation, and thus prevent any important measures, it will add greatly to the pleasure of those who participate in or look on at the ceremonies incident to a change in our rulers.

The 4th of March is almost uniformly a disagreeable day in this latitude. About this time look for rain or snow, as the almanacs say. In the olden time, when the old Hall of the House of Representatives was large enough to hold those who came up to the Capitol to witness the event, it made but little difference whether there was a storm of sunshine. But that was in the days of the slow coach, when railroads and cheap fares were unknown, and only such as were very rich or within a day's journey of Washington could indulge in the luxury. John Quincy Adams was the last who took the coach under shelter. When General Jackson was to be sworn in, arrangements were made for the ceremonies in the great rotunda in the Capitol—originally intended for such purposes—but the old hero's popularity brought such a crowd that no hall in the world would have held it, and they had to stand on the rotunda and go out on to the portico on the East front of the Capitol, and there,

There are 17 boarders now in the County Jail. The receipts of cotton at this port today foot up 296 bales. There was a good supply of meats in the market this morning of fair quality. Eggs are plentiful and 12 1/2 cents per dozen is the price at which they are sold.

This has been a really disagreeable day, and news gathering has been but poorly rewarded. You will save money and get the best work by sending your clothes for repairs to John Dyer and S. n.

One case of drunk and down was brought before the Mayor this morning, and the defendant was discharged. Steamboatmen report that there is about 20 feet of water in the river on the shoals in the Cape Fear with the river on the rise.

The weather for the past few days has been a set back for the truck farmers and gardeners, but they are doing their best to be fully prepared for their work when it shall become warmer. The ladies will find a new and attractive advertisement of Mrs. E. B. Wiggins' art emporium in this issue. There are many things offered besides new and attractive styles in millinery goods.

The parade and inspection of the Wilmington Light Infantry and the Cornet Concert Club, which was to have been held yesterday afternoon, but was postponed on account of the weather, will be held at 5 o'clock on Friday afternoon, in front of the City Hall.

Ger. barque Trospero, Krueger, cleared today for Riga, Russia, with 3,420 barrels rosin, valued at $3,219, shipped by Messrs. Worth & Worth. Br. schr. Erland, McWinnie, cleared for Barbados, for orders, with 115,000 feet lumber, valued at $1,725, shipped by Messrs. J. H. Chadbourne & Co.; making a total of exports foreign amounting to $4,944.

Indications. For North Carolina, local rains with winds shifting to Southerly and warmer. Drunken Row. A couple of drunken men engaged in a quarrel which resulted in one of them being knocked down, was the disgraceful sight at the corner of Front and Market streets this morning. Both men were arrested and locked up, and they will probably receive the Mayor's attention to-morrow morning.

Sudden Death. A little son of Mr. Robert Green, on Chestnut street, between Fifth and Sixth, died at about 11 o'clock this forenoon, after a sickness of but a few hours' duration. He was apparently in good health yesterday evening, and was playing with other children in front of the house about dark. He was taken violently sick at about 10 o'clock last night, and the little fellow kept growing worse until he died at the hour named.

Lippincott's Magazine. Lucy C. Lillie contributes the complete novel to Lippincott's Magazine for March. It is entitled "Kenyon's Wife," and the scene is laid partly in "Little Fenn," a quaint island off the coast of Maine, and partly in Boston and its vicinity. Robert J. Bardette contributes the "Confession of a Reformed Humorist." Another personal article of great interest is the Rev. W. H. Milburn's "Autobiographical Notes of a Congressional Chaplain." Henry C. Lea attacks "The Policy of Insurance" in a paper full of pith and vigor. Fred. Perry Powers discusses "Rent and Taxes" from the point of view of an enthusiastic disciple of Henry George. There is a short story, "Was it Worth While?" by Barnett Phillips. But perhaps the most important article in the number is "General John A. Logan," by "One who Knew Him."

Excitement in Texas. Great excitement has been caused in the vicinity of Paris, Tex., by the remarkable recovery of Mr. J. E. Corley, who was so helpless he could not turn in bed, or raise his head; every body said he was dying of Consumption. A trial bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery was sent him. Finding relief, he bought a large bottle and a box of Dr. King's New Life Pills; by the time he had taken two boxes of Pills and two bottles of the Discovery, he was well and had gained in flesh thirty-six pounds.

Excitement in Texas. Trial Bottle of this Great Discovery for Consumption free at W. H. Green & Co's. An End to Bone Scraping. Edward Shepherd, of Harrisburg, Ill., says: "Having received so much benefit from Electric Bitters, I feel it my duty to let suffering humanity know it. I have had a running sore on my leg for eight years; my doctors told me I would have to have the bone scraped or leg amputated. I used, instead, three bottles of Electric Bitters and seven boxes Bucklen's Arnica Salve and my leg is now sound and well."

Electric Bitters are sold at fifty cents a bottle, and Becklen's Arnica Salve at 25c. per box by all W. H. Green & Co. A Good Investment. Get from 25 to 33 per cent. interest on your money by purchasing new suits or overcoats at I. SHIMER'S. It will pay you to buy them for next winter at the low prices, besides having the good of them for the balance of the cold snaps.

If you want to commence a new set of blank books: such as ledgers, journals, day, cash books or records, go to Heinsberger's, where you can get suited both in quality and price.

Back Again. The steamer D. Marchison, after having been laid up at Fayetteville for nearly three weeks, during which time she has been overhauled and repaired, made her appearance here again this morning. There is some work yet remaining for the carpenters to do, but as that can be done while she is engaged in her regular trips, they have been resumed, and will be continued without further interruption.

The Sociable. The Sociable at Howard Relief Engine Hall, given last night by the Germania Cornet Band, was a most decided success in every particular. The attendance of ladies and gentlemen was unusually large, and they much enjoyed the pleasures of the dance under the inspiring music furnished for the occasion by the Italian harpers. All with whom we have conversed are unanimous in pronouncing it an excellent as well as elegant entertainment, at which all were "sociable."

Genealogical. Mr. William R. Fail, of Grant township, Pender county, claims to be a cousin, two degrees removed, of the late General Robert E. Lee. Mr. Fail was born in Duplin county 64 years ago. His father was born in Johnson county, but his mother was born in Duplin county. His mother's mother was born in Virginia, and was the sister of Gen. Lee's grandmother. Mr. Fail is a farmer and fisherman, with but a limited education, and is aware of his relationship with the illustrious Southern chieftain and statesman, only by hearing it spoken of by his uncles in former years. We give the statement as it was given to us.

Literary. The March number of Scribner's Magazine has been received, and a perusal of its pages reveals the fact that it fully maintains the excellence of the previous numbers. In the present number are continued the interesting "Reminiscences of the Seige and Commune of Paris," by Ex-Minister E. B. Washburne; "The story of a New York House," by H. C. Banner; "Seth's Brother's Wife" by Harold Frederic; and "The Residuary Legatee," by J. S. Dale. Many of the articles are appropriately illustrated. There are other papers in the number, all of which are interesting, instructive and entertaining. Published by Charles Scribner's Sons, New York, at 25 cents per number, or $3 per annum.

A Itara Avis. At the store of Messrs Holmes & Watters today was a hen which may appropriately be called a varavava. It grew up like other feminine chickens, wearing the modest suit of her sex, and in due time laid a lot of eggs, and hatched a brood of chickens, with the usual fuss and clucking of maternal hens. After weaning her chickens, she was sick for a considerable time, during which her feathers all came off—Eventually she recovered her health and with her recovery came a new coat of feathers, but the last had all the gorgeousness of a genuine masculine biddy. In fact she looks and acts just like a rooster.

Physicians Have Found Out. That a contaminating and foreign element in the blood, developed by indigestion, is the cause of rheumatism. This settles upon the sensitive subcutaneous covering of the muscles and ligaments of the joints, causing constant and shifting pain, and aggregating as a calcareous, chalky deposit which produces stiffness and distortion of the joints. No fact which experience has demonstrated in regard to Hostetter's Stomach Bitters has stronger evidence to support than this, namely, that this medicine of comprehensive uses checks the formidible and atrocious disease, not only but positively established that it is preferable to the poison of opium to arrest it, since the medicine contains only salutary ingredients. It is also a signal remedy for malarial fevers, constipation, dyspepsia, kidney and bladder ailments, debility and other disorders, see that you get the genuine.
