The only piece of ground possessdby the United States of America, else where than in America itself, is the little plot of land on which the American legation is built in the town of Tangier. This was given to the Amer ican nation by the Sultan of More cco. The legations in all other countries stand on ground rented, but owned by the American Government.

Mr Labouchere continues to be very sacy toward the Queen, in his paper. In receiving the Russian minister not long ago the Queen arrayed herself in the Bulgarian Red Cross Order, an act which Truth "takes leave to denounce as an execrable piece of bad taste under the peculiar circumstances; and it is hard," the paper goes on to say, "that the country should be held responsible for such a hare-brained betise."

The letter which appeared in the London Times, alleged to have been written in 1882 to Mr Egan, apologizing for having denounced the Phoenix Park marders, has been pronounced by Mr. Egan "unmitigated and wilful slans ders." He further says that Mr. Parre'l did not write to him any such letter and that "the whole thing a base fabrication." A suit against the Times will probably be the outcome.

> > Not Funny.

A story is told of a couple of Congress men who were on a Southern bound train of the Atlantic Coast Line a few days since. They both had "passes," which the conductor duly honored, and health. they inquired of him concerning the effect of the Inter State commerce law and how it was liked by railroad men &c, to which the conductor replied that, so far as he was concerned it was all right, and that he had heard no fault found with it by other railroad men. This rather pleased the Congressmen of Managers of the Produce Exchange and they congratulated each other upon baving voted for the measure, which, they were sure, would be quite popular. | congratulated the new board, and ex-In fact, they were quite jubilant over pressed the best wishes for a prosperthe matter until the train reached Fair Bluff, which is the last station in this State, before reaching South Carolina, when the conductor politely informed them that, by the provisions and restrictions of the Inter-State Commerce law the "pass" would be no longeravailable and they would have to pay their will be on the 27th inst.; one week fare to Charleston, or any other point Robinson, W. Bazaine, the ex Marshal of ed with disorderly conduct. for which city, but is a positive disadvantage .-Any one can go from Wilmington to New York, spend a day there, and return here in just the time it will require to go to Clinton, spend a day there, and return to Witmington. For instance you leave here on Monday morning for Clinton, arriving at Warsaw about 11 o'clock; as the train does not leave for Capton until 6:10 p. m.-there being but one train a day-you remain all day in Warsaw. You get to Clinton Monday night, too late, of course, for business, and as the train leaves Clinton at 8 a. m. you are compelled to stop over there all day to transact your busi ness, and then all night to wait for your train. This orings you to Wednesday morning. You leave Clinton at We have received from the publish | 8 a. m. on that day, arriving er. Mr. C. W. Like all the saw, waiting for the night train, and on this you embark, reaching Wilmington on Wednesday night. And it is just about the same way from Clinton to Wilmington and return. A Clintonian can go to Goldsboro and spend the day and return home the same night, but it requires three days' absence from home to spend one day in Wilmington.

It will thus be readily seen how the schedule works against us. It is plainy to the interest of our merchants to make an attempt to have the schedule corrected and we believe that it will be readily done by the railroad authorities, if it is possible for it to be done, if the matter is presented to their attention by the Produce Exchange.
