THE DAILY REVIEW.

VOL. XI. WILMINGTON, N. C., WEDNESDAY, JUNE 1, 1887. NO. 129

We will be glad to receive communications from our friends on any and all subjects of general interest but the name of the writer must always be stated to the Editor. Communications must be written on one side of the paper. Personalities must be avoided. And it is especially and particularly understood that the Editor does not always endorse the views of correspondents appearing in the editorial columns.

A Rev. John Rhey Thompson was the Orator of the G. A. R. at the decoration of Gen. Grant's tomb, at Riverside Park, New York, on Monday and here is a part of his feeling and eloquent and appropriate address: "We are here," he cried, "to express our undimmed faith in the soldier. When the war broke out the men said that and show better than I can say. They said that the young men of the North could raise crops and men of the North could raise crops and men of the North could not fight. The answer is that citizen soldiers put down the most gigantic civil war in the world's history. We want no standing army while we remember the Civil War. I am not a T. Tucker; I have not joined a peace society; I do not want the West Point Military Academy abolished, but I want to see Grants and Sherburnes raised to command our army of citizen soldiers. We want no breeding officers in this country except just enough to give an air of respectability to the land. "We hear strange sounds in these piping times of peace. I read last week in a New York newspaper, speaking of the Confederates, that they were as sincere as we and as patriotic. Why, when I was younger, and they met in the groves near my native town in Ohio, they were called traitors and they were as patriotic as Grant? Never, never with my consent. What did they do? They tried to destroy free government on the North American continent. It was wicked, desperately wicked. "In these days of slush and gush let it be remembered that one man intends to teach his children that the war for the Union was right, eternally right, and that the war against the Union was wrong, eternally wrong. I will not be deterred from my duty by reference to the bloody shirt. Call me a Northern Bourgeois if you like. "On the same day, and at about the same hour, we read that 'for the first time in the history of the capital of the late Confederacy the graves of the dead of the North and the dead of the South were alike honored.' Mr. Burchard's—we beg pardon—Mr. Thompson's remarks should be read extensively in Richmond. But what we wanted to say is this: Where was Moses when the lights went out? Where was this post-prandium belligerent about the time that the great struggle was going on? Possibly a refugee from conscription or one who valiantly fought the battles of his country in the person of a hired substitute. He certainly could not have been in the army for those who served and fought do not talk now as Revs. Burchard and Thompson talk. As to the fighting qualities of the Northern soldiers we of the South are disposed to do them full justice and we think that justice should be done to all. But they were not all of the North who fought its battles. Many of them were utter strangers to the language. They were from almost every nation in Europe and were as much mercenaries as the Hessians whom King George clad in red coats and helmets sent to this country to fight for him during the Revolutionary war. But the Hessians made good soldiers and so did the substitutes sent out South during the late war by Messrs. Burchard, Thompson & Co. If the great North had been forced to depend alone upon its own resources, as was the South, then the history of that great struggle would have been written in different terms, and it would not have taken four years to decide it. As witness this: The Confederate soldier opposed immense odds. In the seven days battle around Richmond, 80,000 drove to the James River 115,000 of the enemy. At Fredericksburg, in 1862, 78,000 of them routed 110,000 Federal troops. At Chancellorsville, in 1863, 57,000 under Lee and Jackson whipped and but for the death of Jackson would have annihilated an army of 132,000 men—more than double their own number. At Gettysburg, 62,000 of them assailed the heights manned by 112,000 men. At the Wilderness, in 1864, 62,000 met and successfully resisted 141,000 of the enemy. At Appomattox, in April, 1865, 8,000 half-starved and barefooted soldiers surrendered to 80,000 fat, well-fed, well-shod and well-armed troops commanded by Grant. The United States government, at the end of the war, mustered out of service 1,000,000 of men, and had in the field, from first to last, 9,600,000. If the Confederate soldier had then had only this disparity of numbers to contend with, he would have driven every invader from the soil of Virginia. Probably Messrs. Burchard and Thompson were not to blame for hiring others to do their fighting for them. It is not a pleasant thing in its results to stop a strap or a minie ball. The substitute seekers undoubtedly showed level heads about that. The rough part about the whole matter is that they falsify their own share in the matter. The fighting was done for them but not by them and they are too shallow-pated to see that there is a distinction here as well as a difference.

A Southern Senator and "a prominent Southern politician" bet $1,000 that Cleveland would not carry Virginia and North Carolina if nominated. The politician offered to bet $10,000 against Cleveland and afterwards the Senator asked to withdraw his bet. So reports the New York World. The New York World, the paper which a few years ago advocated mixed schools in the South, and which is Democratic only in name, will not do to tie to, and its reputation for veracity is none of the best. The Herald calls it "our gift enterprise cotemporary." If the World expects to be believed in its assertions, as quoted above, it must be more explicit and give the names of the parties referred to. The time has gone by when the simple, unvarnished word of the World will be believed. There must be something to back it up. The truth of the matter is that Mr. Cleveland was never stronger in the South than he is to-day. He is far stronger now than during the last campaign—North Carolina may be a "mighty on-sartin" State in some things but she generally manages to turn her best side to the world on election day. She gave Cleveland nearly 20,000 majority in 1884 and she will double this next year. Tar Heels have a way of grumbling and complaining between whiles, but they always come up to the scratch. They did this during the war and they have been doing it ever since the war and they have generally managed to acquit themselves like men. What the outcome in Virginia will really be we do not know, but we are under no fears for the result there. The recent elections in that State showed Democratic gains and these were distinctly an endorsement of the administration. Let the World tell the world who the Southern Senator is to whom it alludes. Something more than its undisciplined word is necessary before we will believe that any man has made such an ass of himself as the World would have us believe.

"And June with the roses is staying." This month has five Wednesdays and five Thursdays.

June, the first of the Summer months, is with us to-day.

Headquarters for base ball supplies is at Heinsberger's.

We make a net gain this month of only 11 minutes of daylight.

Ger. barque August, Grabe, hence, arrived at Riga Russia, May 24th.

We understand that a large party will go down to the Rocks on the Louise to-morrow afternoon.

Paints and Varnish. Best in city at JACOBI'S, and at lower prices than you have to pay elsewhere for more common goods.

Mr. N. B. Rankin has become associated in the grocery business with Mr. P. L. Bridgers and the firm name hereafter will be Bridgers & Rankin.

The graduating exercises of the senior class of Tilston Normal School will be held at Tilston Upper Room on Friday evening, the 3d inst. We acknowledge, with pleasure, an invitation to be present.

The May Queen entertainment, yesterday and last night, at St. James' Home, was well attended and was a very enjoyable affair. The young folks acquitted themselves very creditably and we are glad to know that a handsome little sum was realized.

After all, last night was clear and pleasant and the excursionists on the Passport had a good time. It was a pleasant, sociable, agreeable crowd and all who were on hand confess to an enjoyable time. There will be another on Friday night, when the moon will be nearly full.

Harbor Master's Report.
The arrivals of vessels at this port during the month of May, 1887, as taken from the books of Capt. Joseph Price, Harbor Master, were as follows: American—5 steamers, 4,212 tons; 1 brig, 188 tons; 14 schooners, 3,870 tons, making a total of 20 vessels and 8,270 tons.

Foreign—6 barques, 2,812 tons; 1 brig, 314 tons; 1 schooner, 138 tons, making total foreign of 8 vessels and 3,264 tons, and a grand total of 28 vessels, aggregating 12,534 tons.

Cotton.

The receipts of cotton at this port for the month ended May 31st 1887, foot up 360 bales, as against 1,678 bales for the corresponding month last year; a decrease of 1,309 bales. The receipts for the crop year to date foot up 133,389 bales, as against 101,057 bales for the corresponding period last year; an increase of 32,332 bales.

Exports Foreign.

Nor barque Jaya, Engeströem, cleared to day for Antwerp with 4,600 barrels rosin, valued at $4,437, shipped by Messrs. Paterson, Downing & Co. Ger. barque Luz and Fant, Andries, cleared for London with 3,696 barrels rosin, valued at $3,472, shipped also by Messrs. Paterson, Downing & Co. Ger. brig Diana, Schroeder, cleared for Hull, Eng., with 1,500 casks spirits turpentine and 612 barrels rosin, valued at $24,975, shipped by Messrs. Alex. Sprunt & Son; making a total of exports foreign amounting to $32,874.

Shooting Affair.

Three colored boys at Wadesboro, last Sunday, became involved in a quarrel over a game of cards. Words were soon followed by blows, when two of the boys attacked the third and threw him to the ground and were beating him, when he managed to get from beneath them and drew a pistol, with which he shot one of his assailants in the back, inflicting a serious, if not fatal, wound. We failed to get the names of the parties. The boy who did the shooting fled and had not been arrested at last accounts, although it is thought that he will soon be captured.

Mortuary Report.

Dr. F. W. Potter, City Physician, has prepared his regular monthly mortuary report for May, 1887, from which we learn that the number of deaths during the month were as follows: Whites—3 males and 4 females; total 7. Of these 3 were adults and 4 children.

Colored—14 males and 9 females; total 23. Of this number 10 were adults and 13 were children.

Aggregate, white and colored 30. Of this number three were killed by gun shot wounds, one was accidentally strangled to death and one was still born, so the actual number of deaths from disease is reduced to 25, which in an estimated population of 25,000 is a very small per centage.

Personal.

Mr. W. J. Cornwall, of Wadesboro, is in the city to-day. He is in good health and gives the gratifying intelligence that the field crops of Anson county are looking unusually fine and flourishing. Mr. Cornwall will return to Wadesboro on to-night's train.

Rev. F. W. E. Peschau left on last night's train for Western North Carolina, where he will pass a few days and then go to Lutherville, Md., a few miles from Baltimore—where he will preach the Baccalaureate sermon to the pupils of the seminary at that place. Thence he will go to Pennsylvania and West Virginia, to visit relatives and friends. He will be absent from the city about three weeks.

Hon. A. M. Waddell left here last night for Oxford, where he is to deliver the address to-day at the Oxford Female Institute.

Rev. Dr. Pritchard was registered in Raleigh on Monday.

Capt. John T. Patrick, State Immigration Agent, is in the city to-day and paid us a pleasant visit this forenoon. He goes to Southport this afternoon on a brief visit.

Stoves. Our line of cook stoves includes a variety of standard patterns, embracing the very latest improvements. We will not only satisfy but save money to every customer who buys a stove from us. JACOBI'S HDW. Depot.

Our Advice to You

In buying clothing for men, boys or children, do not allow yourself to be guided by glaring advertisements which promise to sell clothing lower than the Old Reliable. It is simply to draw your attention in hopes of selling you something at a larger profit. Why will men work hard all day for $1.50, $2 or $3, then throw it away when that sum could be saved in from 10 to 30 minutes by trading with I. SHRIER, whom we can recommend and who will deal honorably with you in every respect.

Take care of your eyes. An agency for the LeMare's celebrated Rock Crystal Spectacles and Eye Glasses is established in this place at Heinsberger's.

Board of Aldermen.

The Board of Aldermen met in called session last night, and adopted the tax ordinance, with verbal amendments as recommended by the City Attorney, so as to make the sections concerning sales of real estate for taxes conform to the requirements of the State Machinery Act.

Petition of local board of Fire Underwriters for eight more fire alarm boxes was referred to committee.

The following resolution was offered and adopted:

Resolved, That the Chief of Police be required to instruct the members of the police, whether on duty or not, to report to the Mayor every owner of a dog or dogs who has failed to comply with the requirements of Art. I, subdivision 1, of the city ordinances, and make affidavit to the same.

A communication was received from the Board of Audit and Finance, stating that the W. & W. Railroad Co. was unwilling to contribute more than $4,000 towards the construction of an iron bridge over the cut on Fourth street, and that the board had adopted a resolution, that if the railroad company will build the abutments for the bridge in lieu of paying one-third of the cost of the whole, the Board of Audit and Finance will concur in the action taken by the Board of Aldermen for the purpose of carrying out the project.

The Board of Aldermen neglected to take action in the matter, but it is understood that they will concur in the recommendation of the Board of Audit and Finance.

Graded Public Schools.

The school committees of Districts 1 and 2, of this city, met in joint session yesterday. Prof. Noble presented his annual report, from which we make the following extracts:

The past session has been a most prosperous one. Public opinion is rapidly changing in regard to our schools. The people no longer regard the free school as a charity school, but as each citizen's private property. That this is true is shown by the fact that this year's enrollment is 1,972—an increase of nearly 400 over last year.—The teachers have worked faithfully and the pupils have applied themselves with greater diligence than ever before. Teachers' meetings have been held once a week for the purpose of studying the best methods of teaching. The increased excellence of the work done shows that our teachers have been greatly aided by these meetings, to which I attribute the greater part of our success for no one is so well prepared for the teacher's profession as not to be benefited by studying the science and art of teaching. Six of the best educational journals are taken and read by our teachers. In each school there is a small but growing library, and from the results that have so far rewarded our efforts, we are led to believe that in the near future we will have a full supply of carefully selected books for the children. In the two white schools the industrial feature was not so good as last year's success led us to hope for. This was due to the demoralization caused by the scarlet fever scare during the early spring. The same cause did not exist in the colored schools, and in both the Williston and Peabody schools the children made marked improvement in industrial work. I feel sure that if parents fully understood our regulations they would never feel alarmed as they were in regard to scarlet fever. For the past five years no child has been allowed in school who came from a home where there was any such disease as measles, scarlet fever, &c. This rule will continue to be enforced.

All of the school buildings are comfortable, well ventilated and well lighted. The Union building is a most excellent one in every respect, and I shall ever be thankful to the authorities for giving us everything asked for in its arrangement. The desks, blackboards, ventilation, lighting and heating are such as to please pupils, teachers, parents and school experts. Truly it is in every respect a model building and an ornament to the city. I hope that we will soon have more like it.

The committee then reelected the following teachers:

M. C. S. Noble, Principal of all the schools.

Hemenway Graded School—Assistant Principal, M. O. Wallace. Teachers—M. L. McLeod, Agnes McDougall, J. W. Myers, A. J. Noble.

Peabody Graded School—Assistant Principals, J. B. Dudley. Teachers—L. M. Smith, M. Mallette, I. Evans, E. C. Brady, S. B. Dudley.

Union Graded School—Assistant Principal, M. E. Cook. Teachers—Maggie Jones, A. S. Meares, M. B. French, M. J. Hawes, Eliza Meares.

Williston Graded School—Assistant Principal, M. W. Howe. Teachers—W. H. Norwood, E. F. Hooper, M. L. Whitman, J. H. Holt, F. Jarvis.

The next session begins on the 3d day of October next.

Killed by Lightning

During the prevalence of a thunder storm at Rocky Point this forenoon, a little daughter of Mr. Richard Eagles, of that place, was instantly killed by lightning, while standing under a sweet gum tree for protection from the rain. Two sisters of the deceased were standing near by, one of whom was severely stunned but the other escaped uninjured. Under proper medical treatment the one that was stunned has recovered, as has also a colored girl who was standing near them and was stunned at the same time. All four of the girls were at work in a cotton field belonging to Dr. E. Porter, two miles from Rocky Point depot, and when it commenced raining they went under the gum tree for shelter. The little girl who was killed was found in a few minutes after the vivid flash. She was thirteen years old and was bright and promising.
