Complaint is made of the unusual severity of the examinations now in progress at the Naval Academy for candidates for naval cadetship. Out of sixty five applicants only eleven have been able to pass successfully the first trial. Although not required to stand the examination, the Japanese youth, H Nire, entered with the rest of the boys and showed a wonderful proficiency in some branches of study, particularly in Spirits turpentine, 132,217 gallons, mathematics. 1124 11

At "engagement dinners" in Phila delphia the father or nearest male relative of the lady usually makes the announcement at the close of the dinner, and a pretty practice sometimes in dulged is for each guest to pick up a flower and throw it at the fiancee, who is thus met with a rose shower from all sides of the table. On this occasion, reports an observer, "the bridegroom elect often kisses his mother-in-lawelect, and the father of the benedict in urn kisses the fiancee."

The Awnings.

Some of the policeman of the city have been engaged during a part of the day in giving notice to those whose awn ngs were an inconvenience to pedes trians, on account of their coming too near to the ground, that they must be raised. No awnings will be allowed to come within seven feet of the ground, which will cause a good many of them to be raised, or else be taken down entirely.

[S . Corr. DAILY REVIEW ] Boston, Mass., May 30th, 1887.

Being in this lar away city on Decoration Day, which is observed by all business men, consequently throwing me out of employment. I bethought myself of the the idea of dropping you a few lines, hoping dec. At an early hour this morning the military began to assemble on Washington street, where my quarters (the Adams House) are situated. There was plenty of music, it seemed a band for almost month of May: every company, and the soldiers looked well. Being by nature fond of music and having a curiosity to see how this day is observed outside of Wilmington

I followed the procession almost over the city, and have just returned as tired as any of the soldiers I have been following. Memorial Day North and Memorial Day South are two separate affairs. Here it is a day of hilarity, of trolicing-every body going to see a game of base bail or to the theatre or 74.3; some other place of amusement. In fact it resembles more our Fourth of July than our Memorial Day. With us, you know each person's lace, no matter who it is, man, woman or child, is an index to the aching heart. Here I saw no green wreaths on the bayonets of the soldiers, no flowers carried by children with eyes swimming in tears.

Col Smith was a native of this city a d identifie with its I terests. A true Wilm.ng. tonian, he was always keenly alive to what ever might increase her prosperity, and was active in the furtherance of all measures tending to her improvement, giving freely of his time and means for that purpose He was a man of sound judgment and liberal views, of great independence of character and scorned concealments of every nature He was a l.v er of truth and did not hesitate at all times oldly to utter what his convictions and sense of honor might prompt him to declare. He was true to every obligation of life, devoted to his family and kinstolk, to his triends unshrinkingly loys, to the poor and needy a friend upon whom they could always rely, for no appeal of worthy charity was ever made to him in vain. Be was entirely reliable, one who could be trust ed and depended on, whose word was as good as his bond, who would do what he believed unimpeached and unimpeachatle 'i be death of such a man is a loss to any community at any time Col. Smith held many positions of honor and trust during bis life and was faith ful in them all. Prior to the war he was Cashier of the Bank of Wilmington, for a short time after the war. Vice President of the Law son Bank and subsequently Mayor of the city for two years. He was a so an active and iufluential member of the Order of Odd Fellows and did as much perhaps as any one man to increase 1 s efficiency and extend its sphere of us fulness. He was one of the oldest insurance agents doing business here and Presi dent of the Board of Underwriters of this city and was an active, energetic, reliable man of business We shall miss his well known ace, his pleasant greeting, his generous sym pathy, for a true friend and a good citizen has gone to his rest.
