THE DAILY REVIEW.

VOL. XI. WILMINGTON, N. C., MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 26, 1887.

NO 229

The Board of Directors of the Wilmington & Weldon R. R. have declared three and a half per cent. interest on the certificates of indebtedness, payable on and after Octbeor

Nor. barque Moland, Hansen, leared to-day for Fleetwood, Eng. with 1,000 casks spirits turpentine, valued at $14,650, and 2,442 barrels rosin, valued at $3,625, making a total amounting to $18,275, shipped by Messrs. Alex. Sprunt & Son.

Indications

For North Carolina, slightly warmer and fair weather and light to fresh variable winds, generally easterly.

The Next

The next attraction booked for the Opera House is the appearance of the eminent tragedienne, Mrs. D. B. Bowers, who will occuppy the stage on Tuesday next, October 4th. It is possible that some other company may appear here previous to that time, but no engagement to that effect has been made thus far.

K of P.

Grand Vice Chancellor Thos. D. Meares will deliver an address before Stonewall Lodge No. 4, K. of P., at Castle Hall to-night at 8 o'clock. The two lodges will hold a joint meeting for the purpose of listening to the address, the subject of which will be upon the beneficent purposes of the Order. There will undoubtedly be a large attendance of the members of the two lodges, as the address will be interesting and in structive.

WESPRINGER & Co-Builde 's Hard ware There is nothing particularly striking about the new one cent stamp except that it is not quite so elaborate as the old one. The head o Franklin still adorns the frontispiece so to speak, and the old man wears a somewhat more intelligent smile than formally and what looks like a wig powdered with corn meal. The profile is said to be from his bust by University Address.

The Raleigh News and Observer were quite small to-day and they says that Hon. Alfred M. Waddell. a graduate of the class of 1853, by invitation of the faculty will deliver an address at the University on the evening of October 8th on "America before Columbus." By invitation of the Shakspeare Club he will speak on the evening of the 10th on "Shakspeare's Legal Knowlege." The students and faculty of the University and the people of Chapel Hill have a rich treat in store, as Col. Waddell is one of our most accomplished orators.

Away to School.

The young people may begin to get their school books and satchels in order and be prepared to go to school next Monday, as some of the schools will commence on that day. The pupils have had a long vacaloday foot up 2,743 bales, against tion and we hope that they have bales for corresponding day had lots of real enjoyment, so that they will bring fresh vigor to their studies and will make the next session even more beneficial than the last. The teachers are all ready for the task before them and will devote every energy to the advancement of the pupils, and we trust that their efforts will be appreciated.

Yom Kippur.

Yom Kippur, the most solemn day of the year to the Hebrews, opens at sunset to-morrow, and closes at the same time on Wednesday. we have said it is the most solemn of the entire year to all Hebrews. It is the day when atonement for any sins committed during the year is publicly asked. Every Jew on this day endeavors to be at peace with his Creator and with all mankind. Charity is one of the prominent features of this, as it is of all Jewish holy days. During the public services those whose relatives have died during the year rise, while the memorial service is being read, and each of those who have entered eternal life during the year is mentioned by name by the minister.

The day is one of strict fasting, and all abstention from business, no food or drink being taken for the wenty-four hours from sundown to sundown.

City Court.

There was an unusually heavy docket for the Mayor's consideration this morning, which is often the case on the first day of the week. Fortunately none were of an aggravated character, and they were quickly cleared from the docket in the following order:

Cornelia Johnson, a hard-looking specimen of humanity, was charged with being drunk and using profane and boisterous language on the streets. She denied the drunk, but confessed to the profanity and was required to pay a fine of $20 or work on the streets for 30 days.

Millis Morris, a colored giantess, was charged with keeping an unlicensed dog, but as there was no witness against her and as she made it quite plain that she did not own a dog, she was discharged, and judgment nisi was entered against the prosecuting witness. David Moore and Stephen Jones, both colored, jointly charged with fast driving, was the next case, and absence of the prosecuting witness. Thomas McCure, a tramp, was furnished with an escort outside the turn.

Citizens' Meeting.

A meeting of the citizens generally of Wilmington is called for the Produce Exchange on Thursday next, the 29th inst., at 12 o'clock.— The object is to discuss ways and means in regard to the extension of the Cape Fear & Yadkin Valley R. R. to this city. This is an important matter and one in which every citizen has a vital interest. The road is going somewhere to the coast, as it is bound to find a deep-water outlet. It is not necessarily compelled to come here, as formerly appeared to be the case, as other places are hold ing out inducements. And to get it here we must hold out inducements. The meeting is called to discuss this question, and it is hoped that all who can will attend. The time has arrived when something sure and Correction. definite must be decided upon.

A Joke in Police Circles.

A good joke is told upon some of our vigilant police. A few nights ago a gentleman in this city, who has rented a house for the ensuing year, had moved therein a lot of handsome furniture but as he did not intend to occupy the house for several days he asked that the policeman on that beat be instructed to keep an eye particularly on those premises. An order to this effect was given and the two men who were told off from duty in that section of the city went, as they thought, to the house, entered the yard, went around to the pump and got some water and examined very carefully all of the doors and windows. They then separated and later in the night the first man on the beat was relieved and the relief also took another turn around the vard and a very careful survey of the premises. The next night, on approaching the house, they discovered lights within and a careful investigation revealed to them the fact that they had been zealously guarding a house already occupied. The residence they were told off to guard was on the opposite corner.

Wilmington Enterprise.

This morning we visited the estab ishment of Mr. S. H. FISHBLATE. who is appropriately termed the King Clothier of North Carolina. We were astonished to see such an immense stock of goods; in fact it is the largest stock of clothing that we ever saw at any one time in our life. We looked at it in wonderment and asked Mr. Fishblate if he expected to sell all these goods this Fall and Winter? He answered: "Sell them: Of course I will and a great many more besides." He continued by saying: "My dear sir: My trade has grown to immense proportions. Last year I doubled my business. This season it has started out like the receipts of cotton at this port. much beyond any season I ever had in Wilmington." We asked: "How it was continued on account of the do you account for such an increase for single gentlemen. Apply at this office. of trade?" His answer was: "In the first place, Wilmington is increasing in population daily. More people are visiting this city than over was city limits, with a caution not to re- known before, and again, you must recollect that the class of clothing I have always sold my customers is residence of Mrs. W. D. Mahn, Red Cross, bc such as never has been sold by any other house in this city. The people have found it out and it is natural they should patronize a house that they have full confidence in and receive stylish and well made clothing at prices they pay elsewhere for ordinary made goods." We then asked: "How can you afford to sell goods cheaper than any other house?" "That is very easily told. I buy first for spot cash, saving all the discounts. Secondly, I buy in discounts. Secondly, I buy in all cheap. such large quantities that it stands sell cheap. to reason that I can sell at prices that those who imitate have to pay for their goods.
