second-class matter.

Entered at the Postoffice at Wilmington, N.C.

William Welch, an eccentric law ver and former neighbor of Postmaster General Vilas, at Madison. Wis, has been indicted on nine counts for slandering Mr. Vilas. Welch has of late been publishing a little newspaper which he uses to pay off old scores against his enemies. In his paper he has accused Mr. Vilas of stealing funds and papers belonging to the Madison Fire Insurance Company and finally of ruining the company by embezzling $175,000 of its money. He also a scheme whereby the city of Madison was defrauded of $75,000, and that he appropriated that money to his own benefit. These purely imaginative charges have aroused Mr. Vilas to a pitch of righteous indignation, and he has brought suit against Welch for slander and libel. Welch dollar to pay tor the trouble of writing. Full is generally considered crazy, and the probable outcome of the matter will be that he will be placed in an insane asylum.

> The promptness with which Spain has hurried her troops into Morocco on the report of the death of Sultan Muley-Hassan is remarkable. Six thousand men have already been sent forward. The object is said to be that of protecting Spanish interests should anarchy result from the Emperor's death. The commercial interests of Great Britain and France those of Spain, but the latter country naturally looks upon the region across the Straits as one in which, by virtue of her proximity, she is specially entitled to interfere. She and return to us, and we has not wholly relinquished the hope thing of great value and perhaps of some day getting a stronger foothold in Morocco, and remembers how easily, in 1850, Mar shal O'Donnell invaded the country. and how, after bombarding a few seaports and fighting a couple of battles, she obtained not only apologies for insults but a cession of territory, a war indemnity, and sundry trade privileges. In her present novement she seems to have en countered no objection from other

It is expected that by January 1 next nearly all the last year graduates of the Military Academy at West Point who now rank as "additional" second lieutenants will be GLISH" and take no other, or inclose 4c. assigned to companies and cease to to be extras. This expectation is based upon prospective vacancies. At the beginning of next year, unless unforeseen casualties occur. there will be still unprovided for five additional second lieutenants of cavalry, one of the engineer corps and one of the atillery. It is generall supposed there will be some vacancies in the infantry corps, to which can be appointed the noncommissioned officers who successfully pass the examination before the Fort Monroe board. What will be done with the large graduating class of the coming academic year is an open question. There will certainly be but few vacancies for the class, and if the number of graduations continue to exceed the number of vacancies, a state of affairs will soon be reached such as Secretary Belknap found when he the family of throat and nose and head took charge of the war department. There will be an army of supernumerary officers, some of whom of necessity will have to be discharged. Hazing has always been practiced > has so cruel and heartless an example of it been made public as that recently perpetrated at Williams College. Young George Choate, the son of wealthy and influential parents, was sent to college when he was really in no physical condition for the work that would be required of him. He was a victim of the saddest kind of melancholia, and his mind was constantly brooding on gloomy religious subjects. The sophomores seeing his condition decided to work what they called the 'religious racket" on him. They talked to him constantly and held mock religious meetingsat his room. The result was that he was soon crazed and utterly unfit for his class duties. He would wander about the campus and ask any person whom he might by chance meet, "Why he was allowed to go to hell? Why some one did not try to save him? He has been taken back to his father's elegant home a complete wreck. His physicians have no hope of his recovery. This sad case has aroused the college presidents, and at all the great colleges extra efforts are being made to break up a senseless and cruel habit of the older stu-

at the principal colleges, but never

It is said that sneezing has become fashionable in certain circles. Good! the time has gone by then, when a fellow must clutch his nose and strain enough to lift a barrel of flour over a gate, in order to keep declared that Mr. Vilas concocted from startling the company .- Free
