JOSH. T. JAMES, Editor & Prop'r.

WILMINGTON, N. C.

WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 12, 1887.

Entered at the Postoffice at Wilmington, N. C., as second-class matter.

Christian unity is a subject that is being discussed by some of the most eminent theologians of this country and it has been a matter of earnest prayer and conference in various deliberative bodies. By this is not meant the gathering together of all under one body and one temporal head, or the surrender of conscientious opinions and denominational differences, but a hearty cooperation of all for the furtherance of Christian views and the dissemination of Christian doctrines. The thought is a grand one, one of the grandest that this enlightened age has yet conceived and to our mind is little short of inspiration. There is nothing incongruous in the thought, nothing that militates against the true spirit of a genuine Christianity. All bodies of Christian people are fighting the same fight, in the same cause and against the same foe. The idea, as we understand it, is simply to embody these different forces, the infantry, the artillery, the cavalry, the naval forces, the reserves, all under one head and all under one leadership, that of Him whose name is inscribed on every banner and on every shield and in whose name every battle is fought and every victory won. Heretofore the warfare has been desultory, all calling upon the same name, all fighting in the same faith, yet without unity or concert of action.

The movement to this end seems to have assumed at last practical shape and form. A number of the most distinguished scholars and divines in the New World have united in calling a "General Conference of all Evangelical Christians in the United States," to be held under the auspicious direction of the Evangelical Alliance and for the United States, in the city of Washington, December the 7th, 8th and 9th, 1887. The purpose of the Conference is announced, in an address that has just been published by the promoters of the movement, to be the study and discussion of the following important questions, relating to the welfare of the Church and State alike:

- 1st. What are the present perils and opportunities of the Christian Church and of the country?
  - 2d. Can any of them be met best by a hearty co-operation of all Evangelical Christians, which, without detriment to any denominational interests, will serve the welfare of the whole Church?
  - 3d. What are the best means to secure such co-operation, and to awaken the whole church to its responsibility?
- The plan of the campaign is thus outlined. The attitude and duty of the Christian Churches are thus plainly set forth:
- "The necessity of planting Christian institutions in the formative West, and of strengthening them in the older States, the duty of overtaking the rapid growth of our cities with adequate Church provisions, the importance of closing the widening chasm between the Church and the multitude, and of bringing the regenerating form of the Gospel to bear upon every character and life, demand the instant attention of the Christian Church and the full exercise of all its energies."

"We are now beginning to approximate European conditions of society. The existence of great cities, severe competition, an unemployed class, increasing pauperism and crime, are the occasion and evidence of a wide-spread discontent, for which the ballot affords no remedy. Has not the time come for us to make demonstration of the truth that the Gospel can do what popular suffrage cannot do? Is not this the nation, and is not this the generation, providentially called to make such application of the Gospel to the life of the people as has never yet been made? Will not those who have enjoyed government of the people, by the people, and for the people, be the first to learn that the essential evils of society are caused, not by misrule, but by sin, and that the Gospel, therefore, must furnish the solution of the great social problem?"

The Christian Church has not yet fully recognized its relations to the entire life of the community and the nation. Even Christian men, preoccupied with private concerns and overburdened by the demands on their time, are prone to neglect the public welfare, and are loath to accept any responsibility for existing evils.

"Denominations and local churches, each intent on its own good work, have fallen into a harmful competition instead of engaging in an intelligent and comprehensive co-operation."

"Our marvellous material growth and the progress of invention have produced new conditions, to which business has been quick to adapt its methods. Do not important changes in population and in the habits and temper of the people require some changes in the methods of Christian work?"

The Review Job Office is the place to get good work at moderate prices.

OCTOBER ODDS.

A teacher in a boys' school in an adjoining county found forty big pupils out of sixty-three who had never read the Constitution of the United States, and were ignorant of the cause which led to its preparation. Every mother's son of them, however, could tell of the standing of each base ball club in the National League and the American Association.—Norr Her.

"My father is a very genial man," she said, "and desires that I shall extend the hospitalities of the house to every caller. Will you take something before you go?" "Well, yes," replied the youth, "I will, with your permission, take a kiss from you." The maid was abashed, but the youth was equal to the occasion and the hospitalities were extended.—Boston Courier.

Jim Webster—I say, Sam Johnson, don't yer see how that yaller barber am a flirtin' wid yer wife? Sam—I see him. "Ain't yer a victim ob de green eyed monster?" "What's dat?" "Ain't yer jealous?" "No, I jess want dat yaller moker get better acquainted wid my wife. I has a spite at him."

"You never drink or smoke, do you, George dear?" she said. "You know I could never marry a man who drinks or smokes." George, in a broken-hearted tone of voice, admitted that he did smoke and drink a little, and turned to go. But a pair of white, 27 year old arms were around his neck in a moment. "Never mind, George," said the girl; "perhaps my wifely influence will induce you to give them up."

"Cease to lament for that thou canst not help, And study helps for that which thou lamentest;" If it is thy cold take Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup.

The strongest of us will be nothing but a memory to our friends by and by; the better we live the sweeter that memory will be.

"Is there no balm in Gilead? Is there no physician there?" Thanks to Dr. Pierce, there is a balm in his "Golden Medical Discovery"—a "balm for every wound" to health, from colds, coughs, consumption, bronchitis, and all chronic, blood, lung and liver affections. Of druggists.

A newspaper poet demands to know "Where are the girls of the past?" Bringing up the girls of the future, don't you think?

Give Them A Chance!

That is to say, your lungs. Also all your breathing machinery. Very wonderful machinery it is. Not only the larger air-passages, but the thousands of little tubes and cavities leading from them.

When these are clogged and choked with matter which ought not to be there, your lungs cannot half do their work. And what they do, they cannot do well.

Call it cold, cough, croup, pneumonia, catarrh, consumption or any of the family of throat and nose and head and lung obstructions, all are bad. All ought to be got rid of. There is just one sure way to get rid of them. That is to take Boschee's German Syrup, which any druggist will sell you at 75 cents a bottle. Even if everything else has failed you, you may depend upon this for certain.

This land adjoins "Southern Pine", a recently established health resort (or sanitarium), and is especially adapted for Fruit Culture, as well as all the cereals. A number of New England people have bought lots in the town of "Southern Pine", and it is the desire of the owners of this land to induce small farmers, mechanics and others from the New England and Middle States, as well as elsewhere, to locate here. No State in the Union offers greater inducements to settlers than North Carolina. Nowhere else so better farming country or as fine a climate to be found. This is the opinion of Northern men who have settled in North Carolina. This is a home site offer, and is limited.
