make it rather than fall behindhand with their watchful rivals. At any rate, the "disaster" was confined to their columns. We are sorry to learn that Augusta has experienced a touch of earthquake so recently and alone, but it was slight even there, as reported. There has been nothing of the kind in this part of the Union for so long a time that we cannot now recall the exact date of the last manifestation. The fact is that we believe, and with good reason, that Charleston is about the safest place now in the United States, so far as earthquakes are concerned. We have had our "shake" and have got over it. Other parts of the country have not so much reason for expecting safety in future. It had been generally known, indeed, in Charleston, on last Saturday morning, that communication with the rest of the United States had been suddenly cut off, we should have felt very much concerned—for the rest of the United States.

It is refreshing to see with what frankness and freedom from restraint some of our leading Northern editors can speak of their cotemporaries. This is shown in a very striking and forceful manner by the New York Star, of the 18th inst., by the following:

Under the lead of the audacious and mercenary scoundrel who controls the World an attempt has been made to intimidate the judiciary of New York. This is only a small part of the forcible language used regarding the World, but it is sufficient to show in what esteem the editor of the latter paper is held. The language has an odd sound as coming from the chief city of the country and as being spoken by the editor of one leading paper against the editor of another, both of which claim to belong to one political party. It is language such as is seldom heard in the South, and which we think would be a cause of much peril to whomsoever should make use of it in the columns of the press.

The rainfall for the last 24 hours has been .52 of an inch. The indications are that to-morrow we shall have Westerly winds, with cooler, fair weather.

On account of the absence of the Mayor from the city there was no City Court to-day. There was but one case for consideration, and that was continued.

R. L. Hutchins, the well-known painter and decorator, has opened a cosy little shop on Second street, which he has filled with articles in his line of business. He is also proprietor of a magic polish, samples of which will be given away to all who apply at his store on Tuesday and Friday.

For North Carolina, rain, cooler weather and fresh to brisk North-westerly winds.

The Review Job Office is the place to get good work at moderate prices.

Connubial.
Mr. M. H. Kelley, of Duplin county, and Miss Nelly T. Barry, daughter of Capt. John Barry, Superintendent of the Bishopville & Atkins Railroad, were united in marriage yesterday at St. Thomas' Catholic Church, Rev. Father Moore officiating. Immediately after the performance of the ceremony the happy couple left for a brief visit to Richmond, Va. They have the cordial good wishes of a host of friends.

Corra Van Tassel.
A part of the scenery of the Corra Van Tassel company arrived here last night, but the troupe did not reach here until 5 o'clock this afternoon, having come from Goldsboro through the through freight. In speaking of this artist the Batavia, N. Y., Daily News says:

In the character of "Capitola," in Hidden Hand, the brilliant star, Corra Van Tassel, gave evidence of the possession of positive genius. She is bright and vivacious, has a pretty face and figure, and her road to fame and fortune seems perfectly smooth. Last night she was called before the curtain at the close of every act.

A Move in the Right Direction.
An effort is to be made at the next session of Congress to have the salaries of the fourth class postmasters increased, the amount of pay to be determined by the number of mails opened and closed per week, instead of as at present. The plan on foot is for every postmaster of this class to get up a petition and have it sent to the member of Congress from his district. The Home and Farmer of Louisville, Ky., will send printed petitions free of charge on application.

This is a move in the right direction as the fourth class postmasters are poorly paid, and we hope it will succeed.

Disastrous Fire.

The Clyde Line steamship Regulator, Capt. Ingram, was discovered to be on fire at about 12 o'clock last night, while lying at the dock of the Champion Compress Company, where she had just taken on board as a part of her cargo 1,000 bales of cotton. The alarm was sent out immediately from box 51, and the Fire Department were soon at the scene, doing all in their power to suppress the flames, but without success. The fire originated in the fire room and spread fore and aft, enveloping the entire ship from stem to stern, and it was only by the most persistent and determined efforts of the firemen that the flames were prevented from spreading to the wharves and to other vessels in the vicinity. As it was found impossible to extinguish the flames, the burning vessel was taken in tow by the steam tug Mario and hauled up the river, opposite the Upper Compress, where she was made fast to a piling and left to her inevitable destruction.

As soon as the engine ceased playing upon her the fire spread with fearful rapidity and the doomed vessel was soon one sheet of living flame. The fire continued to rage as long as there was any thing for it to feed upon and nothing now remains but the shell, which is under water.

The Regulator had nearly completed taking in cargo and would have cleared for New York this morning.

Besides the cotton we have mentioned, she had her usual cargo of spirits turpentine, rosin, tar and lumber. She had been running regularly to this port about 18 years, having been built in 1869, and has been on the line ever since.

It is pleasant to know that, in all the ruin that was made the men saved nearly all their clothing, and that the ship's papers, instruments and charts were also saved.

The cargo consumed, as near as can be estimated, consisted of 937 bales of cotton, 370 casks spirits turpentine, 300 barrels rosin, 235 barrels tar, 75 barrels crude turpentine, 60 barrels pitch, 10 barrels bulbs, 60,000 shingles and 80,000 feet of lumber, which was mainly insured in New York and Europe.

Largest assortment of pocket knives in the city at Jacob's Hdw. Depot.

50 good experienced hands wanted for making shirts and pants. Good wages and steady work guaranteed. Enquire at the Wilmington Shirt Factory, No. 27 Market street, J. Elsbach, Prop.

Fire Incidents.
The Atlantic hose reel had the first stream of water on the burning vessel last night. The Adrian was the first engine at the scene. There was some delay in getting the Atlantic on hand as the driver left yesterday morning, and the engine was delayed until the driver of the hose reel could return to the house to drive the engine horses. It was an unfortunate and unavoidable delay, which will not be likely to happen again. The firemen all did noble duty, as did also the Marie, under the cool and skillful control of Capt. Williams, who commands her.

A Short Road.
Brinkley's Station, on the Wilmington, Columbia & Augusta Railroad, and Cronly, on the Carolina Central Railroad, are but little more than a mile apart, and the two lines, we learn from the Chadbourne Times, are about to be united by a railroad, upon which work has already been commenced. This enterprise is undertaken in consequence of the fact that the works of the Acme Manufacturing Company are located at Cronly and that a large portion of their products are sent South over the first named road. Heretofore the guano, pine-fibre and pine straw matings made by the Acme Company, which were destined for the South, were conveyed from the works to Brinkley's by wagons, involving much labor, expense, delay and annoyance. With the completion of this short line of railroad, all of these troubles will be avoided.

The New Grapes.
Capt. S. W. Nobles tells us that he has had some of the new James grapes sent to him and that they are a very fine fruit and all that is claimed for them. The grapes are thus described by the Raleigh correspondent of the Petersburg Index-Appal:
What are known here as the "James grapes" is creating a great sensation in farming circles. B. M. W. James, of Bethel, Pitt county, claims to be the discoverer of this most luscious fruit. He says he found them in the woods of his county in 1885. The vine was about only a foot long, but had one large bunch of grapes upon it. He clipped and reset it and now the result is the sweetest, largest and most prolific of all the species is produced. The advantage is that the fruit can be produced for five months in the year. They commence to ripen in July and will remain on the vines until hard frost. They will neither blow off nor shrivel and are the fullest of all the varieties. They can be kept with ordinary caution until Christmas. Large quantities of the fruit have been brought to the market recently, and command a ready sale at ten cents per pound.

Rock Crystal Spectacles and Eyeglasses.
Advice to old and young: In selecting spectacles you should be cautious not to take more magnifying power than has been lost to the eye as in the same proportion that you pass that point of increase, will cause you further injury to the eye. Using glasses of stronger power than is necessary is the daily cause of premature old age to the sight. You can get the best at Heinsberger's.
