DOLLAR'S WEAKLY WEBSTER.
Judging from the following, which we clip from the Raleigh correspondence of the Petersburg Index-Appal, those whose longing after the flesh pots of Radicalism caused them to leave the Democratic party two years ago are somewhat anxious to return to the fold:
There is an evident disposition on the part of some of the prominent Democrats who arrayed themselves on the independent list last year to return to the fold, and one, at least, comes to the front with a declaration of an ultimatum upon which he will resume his allegiance. It has been lately going the rounds of the press that Mr. Webster, the editor of Webster's Weekly, of Reidsville, Rockingham county, would offer as an independent candidate for congress from the fifth district next year. In the last issue he declares that he has no desire for the office and will not offer for the same if the Democratic majority in the next House of Representatives will in good faith urge and vote for a total repeal of the internal revenue laws. On the other hand he leaves the inference that if the party fails to seek an accomplishment of that end, he may again come to the front in an alliance similar to that which secured for him the speakership of the lower branch of the general assembly.
What effect this open proposition will have upon the Democracy, either in the national congress or in the nominating convention of the party in this State, remains to be seen. It is evident, however, that in the light of the recent elections, particularly in New York and Virginia, the Democratic party of North Carolina can well afford to pursue the even tenor of its way without the acceptance of compromise from those who at the last election aided to impair its usefulness.
No, no, Mr. Webster. That will not do at all. The Democratic party in North Carolina has no compromise to offer to you or to accept from you. We gave Cleveland nearly 20,000 majority without you last time and we can double this next year just as well without you as with you. If you want to come back you can do so, but you will not be received with a flourish of trumpets and a series of complimentary resolutions. There is no fatted calf in the party for you, Mr. Webster. That business is played. The party in this State was pledged to a repeal of the infernal revenue laws long before you began to conspire with the enemy. Your defection made no difference in their platform or their plans nor will your return to the ranks have the slightest influence in that direction. You were found conspiring with our enemies and battling against the party last Winter and, seriously, Mr. Webster, we think you had better stay where you are. The Democratic party has no particular use for you at this time.

Lieut. Gen. Sheridan makes one suggestion which we can cordially endorse. In case of emergency the people of this country must look for protection to the militia forces and not to a large standing army. Gen. Sheridan says:
"I am strongly in favor of the general government extending all possible aid to the national guard of the different States, as they constitute a body of troops that in any great emergency would form an important part of our military force. They should be armed with the best weapons, amply provided with complete camp and garrison equipment, and instructed in the various drills and exercises according to the tactics and systems followed in the regular army. According to my observation and experience, most of the State troops now march well and handle the gun well, but they are deficient in discipline and in all the duties that teach the soldier to take care of himself while in camp or upon the march. This defect can best be overcome by establishing some system of encampment under the control and direction and at the entire expense of the general government. In the development of such a measure the entire army, as well as myself personally, will be glad to render such assistance as lies in our power, and I recommend that favorable consideration of the subject may be commended to Congress."
The Annie K cause has suffered another severe loss. Johann Most has mysteriously disappeared. It is thought he became frightened at the sound of his voice last Sunday and has gone into voluntary retirement—under a bed somewhere—for a few days.

The Drinking Fountains.
One of the drinking fountains which recently arrived from New York has been dumped down near where it is to be located, which will be in the centre of Market street, thirty feet West from Front street, and will be placed in position as soon as possible. The other—only two have arrived—will be placed on Market street, between Fourth and Fifth.
Next Year's Eclipses.
There will be two total eclipses of the moon visible here next year.—The first of these will take place on January 28th, beginning at 3:19 in the afternoon and ending at 9:04 at night. The second is booked for July 22d and will commence at 9:47 p. m. and close at 3:36 a. m. The January moon fills on the day of the eclipse and the July moon will be full during the eclipse. There will be three eclipses of the sun during the year, but none will be visible in this country.
Concordia Hall.
The entertainment recently given by the Concordia Society of the Temple of Israel at Concordia Hall was a most enjoyable affair, and it is to be deeply regretted that so many were deterred from attending on account of the inclemency of the weather. It will be repeated, however, to-night at the same place, and as there is every indication of pleasant weather there will undoubtedly be a large gathering, and the entertainment will be one that will be heartily enjoyed.
Southport Items.
The pilot boat Louise F. Harper, Capt. William St George, will make her trial trip to-day, and went to sea for that purpose early this morning.
Mr. Joseph Henry Newton, a Ferdinandia pilot, formerly a pilot at Southport, left the latter place to-day for his home in Florida. He had been absent 19 years and had returned to pay his old home a visit. His wife accompanied him. Mrs. Hattie Forlaw, Miss Anna Doshier, Miss Kate Carlett and Mr. Calendar Newton also accompanied them on their trip to the South.
Mr. and Mrs. Adrian Moore, Mrs. L. A. Galloway, Miss Newton, Capt. Walker Newton, Mr. John Swain, Mr. Robinson and Mr. Harry Carlett, came up from Southport on the steamer Louise this morning.
Col. Rowland is Better.
We are pleased to learn of Col. Rowland's improved condition. Recently, when he left Lumberton for Baltimore, grave fears were expressed by many of his friends that he would never return to them alive. The following from the Robesonian conveys cheering news as to his condition now and the prospects of his early recovery:
This gentleman, we are glad to learn, has greatly improved since leaving home last Monday week.—Dr. Lewis, who returned last Saturday, reports that he stood the trip finely, and that a careful examination showed that he had no organic trouble. His friends in this section are more hopeful of him than they were in two months previous, and but little if any doubt is now entertained of his speedy and permanent recovery, and that he will be able to take his seat when Congress assembles next month. His city address is No. 816 Cathedral Street.—Mrs. Rowland writes hopefully of his condition.

City Court.
The following were the cases for the Mayor's consideration this morning:
Eliza Merriman, colored, disorderly conduct. While it was not clear this was not a prosecution founded on malice it was clear that the defendant violated one of the ordinances of the city and a fine of $5 was imposed, which she paid.
James Williams, colored, charged with an assault with a deadly weapon, when called proved to be not the man who was wanted. It was a case of mistaken identity, and Williams was discharged.
Thomas Artis, colored, drunk and down. In this case it appeared that the defendant was drunk and helpless in a store, where the police were called to take him. Case dismissed.
John Ciler and August Bunhoffer, who hailed from Washington, D. C., applied for lodgings. It was ordered that they be escorted outside the city limits without delay.
The Review Job Office is the place to get good work at moderate prices.

The Methodists.
The following is a corrected list of Stewards for the ensuing year of Grace M. E. Church elected on the night of the 14th inst, which was the fourth conference of that church:—Messrs. S. D. Wallace, W. M. Parker, W. M. Poisson, J. W. King, G. M. Altaffer, George H. Kelly, J. W. Perdew, W. W. Hodges, J. H. Davis, D. H. Walsh, H. M. Bowden, H. P. West, Mr. W. M. Poisson was elected recording steward and Capt. W. M. Parker was elected district steward.
At the same time Mr. John B. Sawyer was licensed to preach and was recommended to the annual conference for admittance into the travelling connection.
The Opera House.
The entertainment at the Opera House next Friday and Saturday nights will be a rollicking musical extravaganza entitled "Two Old Cronies." It has been successfully presented in nearly all the Northern and Western cities and is now making its Southern tour. In all the cities where it has been presented it has received the warmest praise of the press. The following is from the St. Louis Critic:
"Pope's Theatre has held laughing crowds all week with the 'Two Old Cronies.'" Frank M. Willis, John E. Henshaw and Miss May Ten Broeck, with a good supporting company, bundled up an olla podrida of minstrel, variety and specialty work in such a clever and skillful way that the audiences were held till the final drop of the curtain, and departed, their sides bursting with laughter.
Skipped by the Light of the Moon.
At about half past 11 o'clock last night a boy called at the residence of Mr. W. G. McDermott, and stated that the latter's place of business at Front Street Market was open. McDermott immediately left the house and went ostensibly to see what was the matter at the restaurant, that it should be open after he had closed it for the night. Since that time he has not been seen, and this morning his wife was in great distress of mind, as a matter of course, fearing that he had either been foully dealt with or had committed suicide. Enquiry of the boy who had called in the early part of the night, however, revealed the fact that the missing man had skipped as he had said that he was going to California and had given the boy instructions to call him at the time named, and to state that his place was open, in order that no suspicions should be aroused until after he had gotten off. That McDermott had skipped became tolerably certain when further investigation developed the fact that he yesterday drew the insurance money on his property which was recently burned. It was a convenient hour for his departure, as he would have plenty of time to catch the midnight train going North, which he probably did.
Where New and Fashionable Goods are to be Found.
Mr. A. Shrier's new store on Market street is complete with the latest styles in Fall and Winter clothing. His stock is the best assorted one in Wilmington, as yet it is unbroken, and therefore he has no difficulty in giving a perfect fit. The prices are lower than the lowest and he guarantees to give you more than your money's worth and satisfaction with every purchase.
Rock Crystal Spectacles and Eyeglasses.
Advice to old and young: In selecting spectacles you should be cautious not to take more magnifying power than has been lost to the eye as in the same proportion that you pass that point of increase, will cause you further injury to the eye. Using glasses of stronger power than is necessary is the daily cause of premature old age to the sight. You can get the best at Heinsberger's.
