DYSPEPSIA.

That misery experienced when we suddenly become aware that we possess a disordered arrangement called a stomach. The stomach is the reservoir from which every food and tissue must be nourished, and any trouble with it is soon felt throughout the whole system. Among a dozen dyspeptics no two will have the same predominant symptoms. By specific of active mental power and a bilious temperament subject to Sick Headache; those who are thin and nervous are abandoned to the whole system. Some dyspeptics are wonderfully forgetful; others have great irritability of temper. Whatever form Dyspepsia may take, one thing is certain.

The underlying cause is in the LIVER, and one thing more is equally certain, no one will remain a dyspeptic who will

It will correct Acidity of the Stomach, Expel foul gases, Allay Irritation, Assist Digestion, and, at the same time Start the Liver to working, when all other troubles soon disappear.

My wife was a confirmed dyspeptic. Some three years ago by the advice of Dr. Singer, of Augusta, she was induced to try Simmons' Liver Regulator. I feel grateful for the relief it has given her, and may all who read this and are afflicted in any way, whether chronic or otherwise, use Simmons' Liver Regulator and I feel confident health will be restored to all who will be advised. —Wm. M. KENNEDY, Fort Valley, Ga.

President Cleveland has announced his intention to learn horseback riding this Winter.

Pigg is a probate judge in Ohio. Hogg is a member of Congress. Bacon is a custom house officer at Toledo.

Belva Lockwood has annexed to her law office at Washington a bureau for finding wives for men who are too busy to spend their time in courting.

Millionaire Coreoran and Stilson Hutehins, of Washington, are again agitating the subject of buying a home at the capital for the widow of General Hancock.

Lord Justice Bowen, of England, has translated Virgil into an English verse, which is said to be an ingenious modification of the hexameter, and his work is about being published.

The late Matthew O'Really Dease, formerly M. P. for County Louth, Ireland, left the bulk of his fortune, about $200,000, to the Chancellor of the Exchequer to be applied to the payment of the public debt.

Eugene Carter closed the billiard tournament in Chicago by defeating Shaefer in a handicap game of 170 to 200 points, the "wizar" scarcely playing Carter even. Carter will take away about $500 as first money having won nine games and lost one.

Selina Dolaro, the ex-prima donna, in her time was considered one of the most perfectly formed women in the world. She received several hundred original poems addressed to her by infatuated admirers, and a large selection of these poems she is about to issue in book form.

It is said that more favorable news has been received as to the German Crown Prince's condition. To show the estimation in which he is held by his people it is stated as a fact that a number of Germans, all sound and healthy men, have offered to submit their throats to all manner of dangerous or fatal operations, in the hope that by such experiments the Crown Prince's illness may be made the more easy to treat.

Col. Robinson, Commissioner of Agriculture, says in the Bulletin for November:

The farmer who has a hundred bales of cotton piled up under his shed may strike the passer-by as a thriving son of the soil, but he who has his crabs loaded down with corn, and his smoke-house reodent with sweet hams and cured bacon is a better farmer and a richer man than the one with the hundred bales of cotton, with his factor's claims unsettled, and no provisions on which to feed his family and stock. The successful farmer is he who makes what he needs to eat, and lives at home.

The late Hezekiah Smith, of Smithville, New Jersey, was something of a character. He began business on his own account at nineteen; and at thirty had passed through bankruptcy and paid all his debts. He spent $500,000 on improvements in Smithville, where he had a bicycle factory, and where he built a hall and hired a band-master to teach the operatives to play on musical instruments. It is said that Mr. Smith has left his millions for the establishment of a school for the instruction of young men in the mechanical arts, and that his factory is to be run by the trustee for the maintenance of the school.

So far as our observation has extended there is but one Democratic newspaper in North Carolina—genuine or alleged—that opposes the plank in the platform of the party relative to the repeal of the odious revenue laws, which has been reaffirmed recently by the State Executive Committee. Such influential papers as the Raleigh News and Observer, the Newbern Journal, the Charlotte Observer, the Asheville Citizen, the Statesville Landmark, the Chatham Record and the Greensboro Patriot have been plain and uncompromising in their endorsement. The position which the DAILY REVIEW has taken on this subject is well known.

The Washington Critic recently published a very interesting interview with Senator Riddleberger. Here are the salient points: "No, the result in Virginia was no surprise to me. We were licked fair and square. It was Mahone and his methods that defeated the Republicans. His management of the canvass and his abandonment of the only issues that we could have won with made it impossible for the Republicans to reply to the Democratic stump speakers.

"It is charged, Senator, by some of the Republican press that the Democrats carried the State by fraud, and that the Republicans were counted out. Is there any truth in such statement?"

"So far as I know, none whatever, and no one seriously believes the sensational reports. The charges printed by certain papers that we were cheated and counted out are the worst kind of rot. Why, one of our own men was elected by barely ten majority. If the Democrats wanted to count us out, how easy it would have been to wipe away the ten votes."

"Was the election an endorsement of the administration?"

"I think not. There are plenty of Virginia Democrats opposed to Cleveland. Whenever a Republican is discovered in office the Virginia Democrats damn the President's Civil Service policy. The Democrats cannot swallow Civil Service. It goes against them. They will never be satisfied with it. They support the President in everything else. I believe Virginia will send a solid Cleveland delegation to the National Convention and that Cleveland will be renominated. Virginia will support him because she believes he is the only Democrat that can be elected."

"How about the Republican candidate? Do you know any one who will carry Virginia as against Cleveland?"

"I seriously think that, with proper management, Blaine could wrest the state from the Democracy. He would have done it in '84 but for the ambition of William Mahone. Blaine only lost the State by four thousand. Blaine can have the nomination if he wants it."

Talking of his successor, he said the indications point to Mr. Barbour; but there were so many silent aspirants in the field that it would be almost impossible to tell who would succeed him. Barbour, he said, was a shrewd politician, but a mighty poor speaker. He was not the best man the Democrats could send. If the senatorship was given to Barbour, it would be tendered to him out of gratitude. In closing his remarks about the Senate, he said, with emphasis: "A poor man has no more right to be in the United States Senate than an iceberg has in the ocean or in Florida."

Rough Waters.

There was a heavy gale of wind on the river this morning. Steamboatmen who arrived from Southport say that they have hardly ever known the river to be so rough as it was while they were on the passage up this forenoon.

Young Men's Christian Association.

We understand that steps have been taken towards the formation of a Young Men's Christian Association in this city. It is an organization that has accomplished an incalculable amount of good in other cities, and we doubt not that it could be made of great benefit, both morally and socially, to the young of our city. The attempt to organize such an association should receive the heartiest encouragement of all good people, and we hope that the efforts now being made in that direction may be crowned with entire success. Let all of our young men take hold of the movement in sincere earnest and there is but little doubt that their united efforts will effect an organization which will be an honor to the city and the pride of our people.

This completed the docket and the Court adjourned.

Wide Awake, 1888.

We have a primer entitled "A Modern Wonder," which sets forth with singular fullness and brevity what is going to be in Wide Awake for a year ahead. The primer is not very long. The little pages are easy to read. But it holds such wealth of learning and entertainment, you wonder how so much can be got into a dozen months, and yet you read on the title page that the half is not told. It is a wonder! Wide Awake is a veritable library, changing from month to month and from year to year, and always growing better apparently. But what we can't understand is how they can put so much into it and pay so much for getting subscribers. The holiday number contains the premium list of 32 pages. They give a boy or girl who gets subscribers almost as much in his choice of two or three hundred things as the money he sends amounts to! And the things are such as people want; a good many of them now to most of us. Even the premium list is good reading. Where the profit comes from out of $2.40 a year is what we can't make out; but that is none of our business. Send for the primer to D. Lothrop Company, Boston.

The Laws of Nature Teach Economy.

Follow them and you will not regret it, and will always have the wherewith to supply your necessities. Commence this week and start an interest saving fund. Try us, then; put your savings in the Saving Bank, and then you lay the foundation stone of your future prosperity. The only sure road to success is by industry and economy. Trade where reliable goods are sold at bottom prices all the year round. I. Shrier, who has been known to you for nearly twenty years, will sell you reliable goods at the very lowest prices, whether you know goods or not, and who has no desire to hold on to a dollar spent in his store for goods you are not satisfied with. Again we would advise you to trade with I. Shrier, the Old Reliable Clothier, on Front street, next door to McIntire's dry goods store. Sign of the golden arm.

Criminal Court.

The attention of this tribunal has been engaged all day in the taking of testimony in the case of the State vs. Stephen Freeman, colored, charged with rape. The witnesses for the State had all been examined and those summoned for the defense were giving in their testimony at the time of closing our report. The case will probably not be concluded before to-morrow.

Rough Passage.

Steamship Gulf Stream, from New York, arrived at her wharf in this city this forenoon, having had a rough passage the principal part of the way. She ran before a heavy gale from Cape Lookout to Frying Pan Light Ship, during which time the rain poured in torrents. This was followed by a fog so dense that the ship was hove to, and remained in that position until the weather cleared, when she got under way and came up to the city.

Personal.

Messrs. Harpp Frick, A. Ebert and Martin Zeileff were passengers on the steamer Gulf Stream, which arrived here from New York this morning.

Mr. John C. Davis left this afternoon for Fayetteville to attend the Conference of the M. E. Church, to which he is a delegate.

Mr. Amos J. Johnson, of Sampson county, was on our streets to-day, but left by the steamer A. P. Hurt this afternoon for Fayetteville to attend the M. E. Conference, to which he is a delegate.

Mr. W. H. Gibson, Special Agent for the National Life & Maturity Association, who has been here for several weeks, will return to Washington City to-morrow but will be in Wilmington again after the holidays to take up his work where he leaves it now.

Mr. John Haar, Jr., has been appointed by Mr. W. H. Gibson, Special Agent of the National Life and Maturity Association, of Washington, D. C., as agent here for that company. It is an excellent appointment, as Mr. Haar is well known to our people as a gentleman of energetic business capacities. In a short time he will go into the field for a vigorous prosecution of the work.

Death of Mr. E. J. Thorpe.

Again we are called upon to chronicle the death of one of our citizens, and this time the ruthless tyrant did not wait for his victim until the sands of life had nearly run out, but took one in the prime and vigor of manhood, when a bright future, full of hope and high aspirations, and surrounded by the dear ties of wife and family, seemed to make life all that could be desired. Mr. Edwin J. Thorpe, after a protracted and serious sickness of malarial fever, died at his residence in this city at half-past 9 o'clock this morning. The deceased was a native of England and came to this city in 1875, when he was yet in his minority, and immediately secured employment in the auditor's office of the Wilmington & Weldon Railroad Company as a stenographer. After remaining with the railroad company for some time, he made a visit to England, but subsequently returned to the position he had vacated and has remained in the employ of the railroad company ever since. Mr. Thorpe married a daughter of Col. E. R. Brink, by whom he had two children. The deceased was a gentleman of fine literary tastes and was an excellent musician, having been for a number of years organist of St. James' Church. He was a member of the United States Benevolent Fraternity and in every position in life in which he was placed he won the profound esteem of his fellows. In the different positions which he occupied while in the employ of the railroad company, he was always pleasant in his manners, courteous in his treatment of those with whom he was associated, and inflexibly true to the important trusts reposed in him. His wife and children, to whom he was devotedly attached, survive him. Mr. Thorpe was about 32 years of age. Our earnest sympathy and sincere condolence is tendered to the loving wife and fatherless children in this hour of their sad bereavement.
