TORPID LIVER
Known by these marked peculiarities:
1. A feeling of weariness and pains in the limbs.
2. Bad breath, bad taste in the mouth, and a coated tongue.
3. Constipation, with occasional attacks of diarrhoea.
4. Headache, in the front of the head.
5. Nervousness, dizziness, and yellowness of the skin.
6. Irritability, loss of appetite.
7. Distention of the stomach and bowels by wind.
8. Depression of spirits, and great melancholy, with lassitude and a disposition to take every thing for to-morrow.
A natural flow of Bile from the Liver is essential to good health. When this is obstructed it results in which, if neglected, soon leads to serious disease. Simmons' Liver Regulator exerts a most beneficial influence over every kind of biliousness. It restores the Liver to its normal condition, regulates the secretions, and puts the digestive organs in a healthy condition that they can do their best work. After taking this medicine no one will say, "I am bilious."

BILIOUSNESS,
"I have been subject to severe spells of Congestion of the Liver, and have been in the habit of taking from 15 to 20 grains of calomel which generally laid me up for three or four days. Lately I have been taking Simmons' Liver Regulator, which gave me relief without any interruption to business."

The Rev. C. A. Berry, the English preacher of liberal Christianity, has declined the call to Plymouth Church, in Brooklyn.

Twenty two trains on the New York Central Railroad are now heated with steam from the engine, and other cars are being fitted with the proper machinery.

Mrs. Samuel Washington, of Cincinnati, has just added two girls and a boy to her family. She did this very thing once before. The triplets are all black. So is Mrs Washington and her husband.

The great tower of iron, a thousand feet high, which was to have been the feature of the next World's Fair at Paris, is to be abandoned. It was found impossible to induce workmen to build it.

Women do not generally avail themselves of the privilege to vote for school officers in Massachusetts. Only 837 women have registered this year in Boston, against 2,338 in 1858 and 1,193 in 1866.

Florists are now paying attention to the beautiful new "Sunset" rose. It is a sport of that grand old rose, Perle des Jardins, which, save in color, it strongly resembles. Of large size, full form, delicious perfume, rich golden amber color, gorgeously tinged and shaded with dark ruby copper, it suggests a magnificent sunset. It is one of the most esteemed of all the queens of flowers.

In these degenerate days of one sermon a week and long summer vacations, a clergyman like Daniel Pike, who died in Newburyport the other day, recalls the old heroic breed, the eighteenth century divine, the stalwart-winded and unquarrelsome. The Rev. Mr. Pike was the author of more than 5,000 sermons. Forty a year is considered a good record by the moderns.

At last Secretary Endicott is to have a blue-blooded rival in the Cabinet. A contemporary says that Don M. Dickinson "came of good New England families, dating back to the seventh century." As the Endicotts did not reach New England till 1620, the Dickinsons were evidently an old family "down East" even at that date—providing, of course, that our contemporary has not erred.

A sensation has been caused in Atlanta by the action of the commissioners of Fulton County in fixing the license for wholesale liquor dealers at $1,000. The liquor men claim that the county commissioners have no jurisdiction in the matter except outside of incorporated towns. They say that the State requires a license of $250 and a $35 fee to the ordinary for filing a declaration, and that they will resist to the last the effort of the county to charge a license in addition to the State and city license. The Constitution also takes the ground that the action of the commissioners was unwarranted either by the law or by the necessities of the county.

OUR WASHINGTON LETTER.

(Sp. Corr. Daily Review.)
WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 11, '87.
When in the long ago, how long ago I don't want to tell you, because some of your readers who don't know me as well as you do, Mr. Editor, might think that the gray that streaks my hair was the product of accumulated years, rather than the result of early piety—well, in that olden time, when a pupil of that excellent old lady, Mrs. Coxetter (Princess between Front and Second street) who taught the rudiments of our mother tongue by a rule not unknown to other pedagogues, and applied much in the same fashion by all; with her, I may say, it was in the palm of hand; and I will also say that "If severe in aught—

The love she bore for learning was at fault."
The kindly nature of the woman that lay beneath the severe exterior of the school mistress, which led us all to trace—
"The day's disasters in the morning face."

The good old lady, while teaching the young idea how to spell and to read, was not unmindful of the higher needs of our nation. Once a week the whole school was called upon to repeat the Lord's Prayer, the Creed and the Ten Commandments, as well as the catechism, and she seemed to lay especial stress upon the suggestion that we should keep our hands from picking and stealing, and our tongues from evil speaking and lying. Very few, I dare say, of the hundreds of little boys and girls to whom she taught those important truths had any idea of their importance then, though life's experiences have brought them back again and again to their memories. I never hear of transgressions of this character without saying to myself, "Ah, they might not have gone wrong had they been taught by my early preceptor."

This train of thought has been foreed upon me by a little scandal that is just now stirring a part of our social world and which has found its way in the papers hereabout. It appears that at a luncheon given in behalf of the Garfield Hospital, a very swell and expensive affair, as all such benevolences are when they have caught the breeze of fashion; well, at the luncheon aforesaid, where had assembled a goodly number of the ladies of our moneyed aristocracy, it became necessary to transact a little business, to "call them from refreshment to labor," as it were, and one of the ladies was requested to act as secretary. She laid her watch, a costly one, beside her on the table, and when at the close of the labors she would have put it on again, it was gone. Supposing it to have been taken in jest she asked several of her associates what they had done with it, but alas for the honesty of the hospitaliers! it could not be found, and now the detectives are engaged on the case with a full list of those present. Aint that "a pretty kettle of fish?"

A little gossip reaches us from the capital that has a funny sound. It is to the effect that Col. Canaday, your townsman, is to be displaced when the Senate is reorganized and a new man put in as Sergt-at-Arms. The story goes that having been elected by the "pooled" interest of Sherman and Logan, the latter being dead he has used his office in the interest of the surviving partner, much to the disgust of other Presidential aspirants. And it is further related that the Colonel, seeing how the wind was setting, took occasion to inform his whilom patron that it could be no use for him to be a candidate and he'd better retire from the field and let Blaine have a nominal walk over. And then, too, it is beginning to be suspected (so goes the story) that Mr. Canaday does not carry the North Carolina delegation in his breeches pocket, as has been supposed, and altogether it is thought somebody will go for his place. I only mention this, mark you, as some of the gossip of the hour.

Among the worshippers at St. Andrew's Church this A. M. I noticed Hon. A. M. Waddell. He is here, I infer, in connection with commercial matters mentioned in the REVIEW, a day or two ago.

The people of the Cape Fear section could not have sent a man better acquainted with their commercial needs, or better fitted to represent them successfully, than Col. Waddell. He is immensely popular with the people in Washington, not only those residing here, but he knows more or less intimately most of those in public life; and he is esteemed by all.

By the way, I might tell you in this connection a little incident. A physician in this city told me some weeks ago that he was called professionally to see an ex-officer of the Union Army. Hearing one of the children called "Waddell," he asked whence the name, and was told that he was called after Col. A. M. Waddell of N. C. The grateful soldier went on: "I owe all that I have and am to him; he was my friend in need, and no better, or purer man than he is alive." "And," continued the doctor, "I could not but remember that retort of Mr. Benton, when Mr. Clay, on occasion of the former's advocacy of the expunging resolution, remarked that he believed the Senator from Missouri was not always thus friendly with Genl. Jackson; that he had heard that they had differed, had quarreled and fought, and Old Tom replied "Yes, Mr. President it is true, as the Senator says, that the President and myself have differed but it was as brave view we differed, as brave men we fought, and as brave men we made friends."

The soldiers who fought on both sides have made friends long ago. I am going up to look at the "assembled wisdom," in a day or two, and I will give the REVIEW my impressions.

The receipts of cotton at this port to-day foot up 669 bales.
Cotton took a sharp advance in price in New York to-day.
Ger. barque Serine, Arndt, hence, arrived at London Dec. 11th.

There has been but very little news stirring on the streets to-day. The Nimrods are making sad havoc with the game this fine weather.

A small drove of quite nice beef cattle were brought into market this morning.
The DAILY REVIEW is eleven years old to-day, and it is in tolerably good health, thank you!

The colored Masonic Grand Lodge of North Carolina convened at Giblen Lodge in this city to-day.

There were a great many people of the country in the city to-day and all seemed to be making purchases for the holidays.

The recent rains have caused quite a rise in the Cape Fear, so that there is now excellent boating water all the way to Fayetteville.

The steamer Gulf Stream sailed for New York at about noon to-day, having discharged and taken in a cargo since yesterday morning.

There was a fine supply of wood in the market this forenoon, but the owners seemed determined to keep the price up as high and as long as possible.

The next theatrical entertainment will be the appearance of the Rose Osborne combination in "Fortune's Fool" on next Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights with a matinee on Saturday afternoon.

The side-wheel steamer Kissamec, from New London, Conn., to St. Augustine, Fla., arrived in at Southport this morning. She is a large craft, capable of carrying 1,000 or 1,200 passengers. She did not come up to the city.

The iron for the new bridge across Fourth street arrived and is being hauled to-day from the cars to its destination. Three car loads of the iron have arrived thus far, and one car load more is expected to complete the amount.

Some of the dealers in Christmas goods say that their trade thus far this year has been better than ever it was before, and that the rush has been so great at times that the customers were compelled to wait some time before they could be waited upon.

There is to be a supper for the children of Brooklyn Baptist Sunday School on the Thursday night after Christmas, at Brooklyn Hall. There will be no Christmas tree but there will be good things for the children, and there will also be music and recitations to enliven the occasion and make it interesting.

We invite attention to the advertisement of Messrs. J. H. Daniels & Co., of No. 112 South Front street. These gentlemen, who are, by the way, as clever a set of men as you will find in Wilmington, offer some rare bargains in a number of desirable articles. They handle second-hand goods as well as new.

500 pair heavy Canton flannel drawers, just the thing for cold weather, from 55 cents and upwards, at the Wilmington Shirt Factory, No 27 Market street, J. Elsbach, Prop. Drawers made to order. †

No Oysters.
A gentleman who was in the city to-day from Stump Sound states that the oysters are getting to be scarce in those waters. The excessive cold of the Winter and the heavy rains of the early Summer have killed them. If the coming Summer should be dry the probability is that there would be a good supply for the next season.

Fish Blown Ashore.
A gentleman who was at Carolina Beach yesterday says that there are large numbers of menhaden, called by some hickory shad and by others fatty backs, strewn all along the beach, where they have been probably cast up by the Easterly winds which recently prevailed. They are thickly strewn on the shore for miles and the buzzards and eagles are having a regular picnic there, while the farmers are gathering and hauling them off for manure.

We are reminded by this of an incident which occurred in our "soldier days." In September, 1861, Co. I, 18th N. C. Regiment (Wilmington Rifle Guards), were stationed at what the boys called "Camp Starvation," a half mile or so this side of Fort Fisher, when there came up a heavy gale with the wind from the East, and lots of fine fish were thrown ashore, "live and kicking." There were many nice pan fish among them and the company feasted for days on some of the best fish old ocean could produce. They came in a good time, as the commissariat was woefully deficient just at that juncture.

School shoes for children, best in the city, at Geo. R. French & Sons.

Wilmington Light Infantry.
The annual election of officers of the Wilmington Light Infantry was held at the Armory last night. There was a full attendance of members and the utmost good feeling prevailed. All the old officers were re-elected, by acclamation, as follows:
Captain—John H. Daniel.
First Lieutenant—W. N. Harriss.
Second Lieutenant—J. C. Morrison.
Ensign—W. E. Perdew.

The civil officers chosen for the year are:
President—D. T. Cronly.
Vice President—H. Cronenberg.
Secretary and Treasurer—Thomas Gause.

Finance Committee—D. MacRae, Jr., J. L. Cantwell, W. C. Corbett.
Application Committee—Walker Taylor, W. E. Perdew, E. W. Moore.
Uniform Committee—H. H. McIlhenny, Duval French, H. Cronenberg.

Dr. W. E. Storm was placed upon the list of reserves.
The reserve corps medal was presented to Mr. J. J. Hedrick. The presentation was made through Lieut. J. C. Morrison, in a happily worded speech, and was fittingly responded to by the recipient of the medal.

City Court.
The docket for the Mayor's consideration this morning was follows:
Kate Smith, colored, charged with disorderly conduct. The evidence was insufficient to convict and she was discharged.
Edward Thomas, colored, disorderly conduct. This case was continued until Thursday.

Sol. Ballard, Wright Johnson and Stephen Hill, all colored, were charged with keeping unlicensed dogs. These are the dogs that made the savage attack on Mr. S. H. Terry yesterday. Their offense is a misdemeanor under the laws of the State and they were fined $20 each with the alternative of 30 days in the county jail.

Eddie Simmons, colored, assault and battery with a deadly weapon. He was found guilty, but on account of his youth the judgment of the court was that he be confined for 10 days in the city prison.

Orris Ann, colored, drunk and down. This was a young girl not more than 13 years of age who said that the whoisake was given her by a colored shoemaker on North Water street. The judgment of the court was that she pay a fine of $10 or be confined 30 days in the city prison.

Carl Johnson, a white sailor, was drunk and down in the "Hollow" last night. He was fined $10 for the offense, with the alternative of 30 days in the city prison.

This is excellent weather for shopping and it has been improved to its utmost to-day.

Indications.
For North Carolina, slightly warm and fair weather and light to fresh Northerly winds, veering to Northeasterly, except nearly stationary temperature on the coast.

The little steam yacht Myth still remains in port, waiting for a subsidence of the wind and sea so she can proceed on her passage to St. Augustine with some comfort. The wind outside has been blowing strong from the Northeast for several days, which has kicked up rather a dirty sea for a craft as small as the Myth to encounter.

Death of Mrs. Huske.
We regret very much learn of the death of Mrs. Kate Huske, wife of Mr. Norwood Huske, formerly of this city. She died yesterday in Ocala, Fla., where she has resided for several years past. There are no particulars in the telegram conveying the distressing news. The remains left Ocala this morning and will arrive here to-morrow morning and the funeral services will be held in St. John's Church, at an hour not yet determined on.

Mrs. Huske was the daughter of the late Mr. George Myers and was a charming lady in every sense of the word. She leaves two children, a boy and a girl, the latter only a few months old.

Cake and Oysters.
There will be an oyster and cake party, or festival gotten up under the auspices of St. Agnes' Guild, at the City Hall next Friday night. As its name would indicate there will be oysters and cake in abundance with other solid and liquid refreshments served to those who may be hungry or thirsty. As Rev. Mr. Strange will arrive in the city on Thursday night to take charge of St. James' Church, this festival will afford a pleasant opportunity to make his acquaintance and to greet him with a cordial welcome. The ladies having the matter in charge are making every exertion to have the festival an entire success.

Another Great Sacrifice in Fine Custom Made Clothing.
I. Shrier, desiring to close out every dollar's worth of Clothing and Gents' Furnishing Goods, and to make quick work of it, will sell out his entire Winter stock regardless of cost. The real cost or actual value of the goods will have nothing to do with the low prices. His main object is to open up in the large and handsome store in the Purell building, by the 15th of December, with one of the finest stocks of ready-made clothing. All goods on hand will be slaughtered off. Remember, this is no sensational or humbug scheme, and don't miss the opportunity of getting a bargain of the well known I. Shrier, the Old Reliable, on Front street, next door to McIntire's dry-goods store, sign of the golden arm.

DIED.
HUSKE—In Ocala, Fla., on the 12th inst., KATE, wife of Norwood H. Huske, and daughter of the late George Myers.
Funeral services at St. John's Church, this city, to-morrow. Hour will be named in morning papers.
