THE LESSON OF THE FLOWERS.

These flowers are God's own syllables; They plead so lovingly, they lead So gently upward to His hills! If we might only learn to read! If we might only learn to read and know Christ's book of eighteen hundred years ago!

I think we then should all rejoice, Should know the beautiful mystery, Should joy with one wide common voice As joy the great earth-circling seas! Could we but read as Christ would have us read, We then might know the living God indeed!

And this the lesson, this the book That lies wide open now as then, Come, read one syllable, come look How broader than the books of men! Come, catch the pathos of this harmony Of beautiful toil—then all the world is free!

—Joaquin Miller in American Magazine.
