SIMMONS' LIVER REGULATOR

Its peculiar efficacy is due to its skill in compounding as to the ingredients themselves. Take it in time. It checks diseases in the outset, or if they be advanced will prove a potent cure.

No Home should be Without It.

It takes the place of a doctor and costs very little. All who lead sedentary lives will find it the best preventive of and cure for Indigestion, Constipation, Headache, Biliousness, Piles and Mental Depression. No loss of time, no interference with business while taking. For children it is most innocent and harmless. No danger from exposure after taking. Cures Colic, Diarrhea, Bowel Complaints, Feverishness and all the ailments of the bowels and stomach. It is the most delicate and pleasant of all medicines. A little taken at night insures refreshing sleep taken in the morning sharpens the appetite, cleanses the stomach and sweetens the breath.

A PHYSICIAN'S OPINION.

"I have been practicing medicine for twenty years and have never been able to give up a vegetable compound that would, like Simmons' Liver Regulator, promptly and effectively move the Liver to action, and at the same time aid in the removal of weak and diseased bile, and assimilate the powers of the system."

Mr. W. W. Corcoran is very ill and it is feared that his death may occur at any moment.

An impression seems to be gaining ground that the German Crown Prince's condition is well nigh hopeless.

The property of the Metropolitan Museum in New York is valued at $1,900,000, exclusive of Miss Catherine L. Wolfe's bequest.

Rev. J. C. Price, the well-known colored preacher, teacher and lecturer, has been named by the President as Minister to Liberia.

Gen. Sheridan has himself set at rest the question as to any possibility of his becoming a candidate for the Presidency. He says that he would not accept the nomination if made and tendered to him.

A building has been begun on Broadway, New York, by Austin Corbin, which will be the tallest for its width in the country. The front is only twenty-two feet, yet it will be eight stories in height.

Mr. Boutelle's resolution in regard to flags captured during the late "rebellion"—so-called, is a boomerang. The Secretary of War has replied elaborately, showing that the only flags given out was under a Republican administration and by Republican officials.

Mount Vernon, Ill., has suffered terribly from a cyclone. The town has been laid low and almost entirely destroyed. Nearly 300 buildings, brick and frame, were ruined and some 1,500 people made homeless. Thirty-five were killed outright and many others severely injured. It was all over in 30 minutes.

The New York Sun says that a curious feature of the split between Henry George and Father McGlynn is that both parsons, Pentecost and Huntington, take sides against McGlynn, and that the politicians, McKinley and Bealin, are against George.

Dr. Parker, who came over from London to deliver the memorial address on the life and times of Henry Ward Beecher, has returned to his home across the water. He says that the newspapers of the United States are vastly superior to those of London, and that he is now more convinced that the system of interviewing is a splendid way to obtain news.

The positive withdrawal of Mr. Blaine from the Presidential race has brought to the front a promising lot of Republican candidates, each of whom is hoping that the convention's choice may fall upon him. The list is a long one. It numbers by careful computation seventeen in all, and includes the following well known statesmen: Messrs. Allison, Sherman, Hawley, Culloin, Gresham, Edmunds, Davis, Hiseock, Palmer, Plumb, Wilson, McKinley, Phelps, Ingalls, Harrison, Lincoln and Porter.

THE DAILY REVIEW.

VOL XII. WILMINGTON, N. C. TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 21 1888 NO 43

Henry George, who lectured at Terre Haute, Ind., last week, says that he construes Mr. Blaine's letter to mean that Mr. Blaine will make no effort for the nomination. "I would like to see him nominated," said he, "not because I think he is the weakest man, but because with Blaine and Cleveland as the candidates we would have the tariff issue squarely before the people. I do not believe that the old personal issues would be revived, but we would have a contest on the issue raised by Mr. Cleveland's message, and that is what I want."

The Washington correspondent of the New York Herald has discovered that while the extradition treaty with Great Britain was pending in the Senate, Congressman John J. O'Neill and Mr. Wm. P. Smyth, a merchant of St. Louis, called at the White House, and, directing the President's attention to the clause which provided for the extradition of political offenders, asked Mr. Cleveland if this had been inserted with his concurrence. The President replied that it had not, and added, with considerable emphasis, that no treaty bearing such a clause would receive the endorsement of his Administration.

We do not recall a more egregious error by a man so high in official position and responsibility as the following from Cardinal Manning as published in a recent issue of the Fortnightly Review:

"I answer that the obligation to feed the hungry springs from the natural right of every man to life and to the food necessary for the sustenance of life. So strict is this natural right that it prevails over all positive laws of property. Necessity has no law, and a starving man has a natural right to his neighbor's bread."

There has been a crowding of error in the italicized words. If this is sound ethical doctrine then stealing is not always wrong and murder is not always wrong. But sensible men everywhere know that they are wrong. While suffering and starving men may need bread as animals, they have no right as moral beings to trample in the dust the rights of others to obtain it.

Such doctrine may please cutthroats, tramps and anarchists, but law-abiding and God-fearing men who lead patriotic lives will condemn it and frown upon him who advocates it.—Charlotte Chronicle.

And there is a crowding of error in some of the words that are not italicized. The question is an open one. It is not by any means new. It is probably as old as the everlasting hills. A great deal has been said on both sides and a great deal will yet be said. It is probable that the decision will be reserved for the Day of Judgment. It is a question with which "cut-throats, tramps and anarchists" have nothing to do—nothing whatever. There is no analogy between the thoroughly honest man who might take of his neighbor's superabundance just enough to sustain life in his own starving body or that of his wife and children, and those who would destroy all existing law and order. The first principle in human nature—the first instinct of nature—is that of self-preservation and it is the nature of the man as well as the brute. It is a part of his endowment and it antedates the Decalogue, for it was given to Adam by Jehovah himself in the Garden of Eden when breath was infused into the lifeless clay and man first became a living, sentient being.

The reasonable supposition is that only an honest man could be found in such a pitiable condition as to need bread for the bare sustenance of life, for no rogue will ever allow himself to be reduced to such an extremity. He steals, not necessities, but luxuries.

There is something else, though, over and above and beyond this. It is the law of existence—the right which every man has to keep and to sustain his own life. There are three kinds of law which govern the universe, State law, moral law and inherent law, and of these three, in cases of extremity, the inherent law is the strongest. It is this law which becomes paramount and supreme in moments of great personal peril, such, for instance, as in the case of a panic in a crowded theatre or on a doomed ship. It is then that the weak must succumb to the strong and although a vigorous man may trample down a dozen weaker than himself in the effort to preserve his own life, there is no law which can make of this act an offense or of the man a criminal.

A Stranger Here.

Br. steamship El Callao, Scholtz, bound from Progresso, Mexico, to New York with a cargo of 2,600 bales hemp, put in here to-day for a supply of coal, which she obtained of Messrs. Fowler & Morrison. She is a fine steamer of 1,019 tons gross measurement.

The Measles.

The measles are still prevailing in nearly every part of the city, but more generally in the Southern portion than any where else. There are, as yet, not many cases reported from north of the railroad, but the indications are that the disorder is slowly but surely working in that direction.

Audit and Finance.

The Board of Audit and Finance met in regular session yesterday evening at the City Hall. Present: Mr. R. J. Jones, chairman, and Messrs. W. Calder, J. W. Hewitt and J. F. Maunder. Bills for current expenses, amounting to $221.45, were audited and approved, and there being no other business, the Board adjourned.

Personal.

Mr. C. C. Woodcock, of Moore's Creek, Pender county, is in the city to-day.

Mr. L. Vollers, of Point Caswell, was interviewing the merchants in our city to-day.

Mr. O. O. Vollers, who has been sick and confined to his room for the past week has so far recovered as to be able to be out again.

Mr. Lawrence Fremont, of Rocky Mount, was in the city yesterday and went down to Southport in the afternoon on a short visit.

Mr. John Nutt has been appointed a poll holder in the Second Ward, vice Mr. W. B. Bowden, who has been appointed Registrar in the ward.

Ask those who have tried and they will tell you that the Boy Clipper Plow is the best made. Sold only at Jacob's, who is the factory agent.

Improvement and Progress.

The work of taking down the Eli W. Hall house, on Front street, to make room for the new public building, has commenced and when that well known landmark has been removed the locality will look lonely and desolate indeed. The office, occupied by Dr. E. S. Pigford, has not yet been touched, but that will soon have to go with the others to make room for the onward march of improvement and progress.

Bad Places.

These rains have caused two or three ponds of water to accumulate in the vicinity of Red Cross and Fourth streets, where they remain, an annoyance to those living or doing business in that part of the city. It seems that a little engineering skill would be sufficient to build a drain, at a small expense, by which the water could be carried off as fast as it falls, and we hope that those in authority will see that the evil is remedied with as little delay as possible.

For Subscription.

The colored people seem to be pretty unanimous in favor of the proposed subscriptions to the W. O. & E. C. R. R. and the C. F. & Y. V. R. R. An enthusiastic meeting, which was well attended, was held last night at the Hall of the Dread Naught Fire Company, at which Emanuel Nichols presided and Henry Brewington acted as Secretary. J. E. Sampson, Daniel Howard, Henry Green and others spoke in favor of the subscription. A resolution to support and vote for both propositions was met with but one dissenting voice.

Chicken Thieves.

The premises of Mr. J. W. Fleet, on Sixth street, between Orange and Ann, were raided last night by thieves who stole two fine chickens from his coop. This is the second time in a few weeks that Mr. Fleet has suffered by the visits of these midnight prowlers.

At about 2 o'clock this morning Mr. R. M. Gilbert, who lives at 107 South Front street, was aroused by a noise in his yard, and looking out he saw a man enter his shed where he kept his hens. He immediately started out, pistol in hand, to stop the intruder, but in opening one of the doors it made noise enough to startle the would-be thief and the latter emerged from the shed just as the former opened the rear door to his house. Mr. Gilbert fired, when the thief threw an axe, with all his force saying, "I—n you, take that," but the weapon fell short of its mark and buried itself in the earth. Mr. Gilbert fired the second time without any effect, when the thief ran out the street and escaped, but without having secured any booty.

Firemen's Anniversary.

Owing to the inclemency of the weather, Howard Relief Fire Engine Company No. 1 did not parade to-day as it was expected that they would do. A reception, however, was held at their hall, to which the Mayor and Board of Aldermen and the members of other white fire organizations were invited. A bountiful collation was spread to which the gallant firemen and their invited guests did ample justice.

Germania Cornet Band furnished delightful music for the occasion and the hours were made pleasant by jest, anecdote and reminiscence. Many were invited who did not attend on account of the miserable condition of the weather.

Short and appropriate addresses were made by Alderman Dudley, Capt. Oldenbutter, Chief of the Fire Department, Assistant Chief Newman, Capt. J. H. Daniels, Capt. G. M. Tienken, Capt. M. Rathjen, ex-Foreman, Mr. J. W. Duls, Mr. D. M. Williams, Mr. Benj. Beery, Engineer, Mr. Peter N. Fick, Assistant Engineer and Mr. C. H. Huttuff. The engine and reel were profusely decorated with flowers and evergreens, the work of the fair hands of the ladies and the letters A. A. "as large as life," on the reel, were the work of Mr. C. H. Huttuff.

Altogether the celebration of the 32d anniversary of this historic fire company has been a very successful one, despite the bad weather. The company started out to have a good time and, as usual, they had it.

The festivities will close to-night with the Anniversary Ball, at the Hall.

City Court.

The first case for the Mayor's consideration this morning was that of Simon Bear, who was charged with disorderly conduct. The evidence not being sufficient to convict the defendant was discharged.

S. H. Terry, charged with fast driving. He submitted and was fined $5 for the offense.

Thomas Herring, colored, charged with fast driving, was found guilty and was fined $5 for the offense.

John Campbell, colored, a fugitive from justice from South Carolina, was ordered to be held until Monday next.

Steamer Sunk.

The steam tug W. P. Craighill, Chadwick, sunk at her moorings near the foot of Dock street at 3.45 this morning. She was made fast to the Marie, and outside of that craft at the time, with her head up stream. Mr. A. B. Mintz was the only person aboard when the accident occurred and he was rudely awoken from sleep in the pilot house to find the vessel careening and the water rushing into her. He jumped and swam ashore. The steamer now lies in about 25 feet of water near where she sunk. Nothing definite is known concerning the cause of the accident, as she was all right last night, when she was made fast for the night. It is supposed, however, from some cause or other she sprung a leak during the night, and filled before any one was aware of her condition.
