Its peculiar efficacy is due as much to the process and skill in compounding as to the ingredients themselves. Take it in time. It checks diseases in the outset, or if advanced will prove a potent cure. No Home should be Without It.

FOR WHOSE BENEFIT
Biliousness, Constipation, Headache, Indigestion, Irritability, Mental Depression, No loss of time, no interference with business or pleasure, and no danger from purgatives. For children it is most inoffensive and harmless. Cures Colic, Diarrhoea, Bowel Complaints, Feverishness, and Febrile Colds. Invalids and delicate persons will find it the mildest and most refreshing sleep inducer. A little taken in the morning sharpens the appetite, cleanses the stomach and sweetens the breath.

PHYSICIAN'S OPINION.
"I have been practicing medicine for twenty years and have never been able to put up a vegetable compound that would, like Simmons' Liver Regulator, promptly and effectively move the liver to action, and at the same time aid (instead of weaken) the digestive and assimilative powers of the system."
M. H. HAYES, M.D., Washington, Ark.

Portland boasts of a whist party, composed wholly of young ladies, that lives up to its name. All but one of the members are dumb.

Congressman Allen, of Massachusetts, carries a pocket camera and amuses himself by taking sudden photographs of his colleagues.

Minister Hoon, the Chinese minister in Washington, affects gorgeous beaded robes of snow white satin. He is always surrounded by a dozen beautiful women directly he appears at a reception.

The Rev. Melancthon B. Williams is the oldest living graduate of Princeton college. Among his classmates in 1824 were Richard H. Bayard, the uncle of Secretary Bayard, and Hugh Lennox Hodge, a celebrated Philadelphia physician.

Probably the oldest violin in the United States is owned by Rev. W. M. Beauchamp, of Baldwinville, N. C. It was found in the ruins of Clonbury abbey, which was dissolved in 1588. It was brought to this country seventy five years ago and antiquaries who have examined it are of the opinion that it dates back to the twelfth century.

E. S. Thompson, of Mifflintown, Pa., is in possession of a spinet which is believed to have been brought from Scotland by Colonel James Burd, of the Revolution, who fought the Indians at Port Augusta, which he built. The instrument is almost triangular in shape, the keyboard occupying almost one entire side.

John R. Graham, who founded Graham's Magazine in Philadelphia over forty years ago, has just taken his departure from the Eye and Ear Hospital, New York, where he has spent the past four years undergoing treatment as a patient for cataract in both eyes. He rejoices over the improvement of his vision to such a degree that he can now resume his career as a writer.

An inventive genius in Poca-hon-ah, Ind., has shown what may be done in an emergency. He grinds together cornstalks and coarse white grass and moistens them with water. When this compound is reduced to a pulp he presses it into blocks twelve inches long and four inches thick. When these are thoroughly dried they burn readily, and it is claimed give greater heat than the same amount of soft coal.

We glean from the New York Star some particulars relative to the dreadful disaster at Mt. Vernon, Ill., on Sunday last: Daylight broke this morning over a scene of ruin, death and debris as the result of the terrible tornado which struck this town yesterday. The dead now foot up thirty-eight, while upward of 300 were injured—many very badly. Three hundred and thirty-seven buildings were destroyed either by the tornado or by the subsequent fire. The property loss is upward of $1,000,000.

The storm came just after the Sunday schools closed, or there is no telling what the loss would have been, as the Methodist and Baptist churches were totally destroyed. It came from the southwest and was preceded by hail. Inside of two minutes it had done its work.

The most horrible scenes ensued on the breaking out of the flames. Through the great heap of ruins men, women and boys were struggling in their efforts to reach those imprisoned beneath timbers and bricks. Cries came from every pile of debris. In some of the streets where the great clouds swept with resistless force the dead lay in the warm rain, which mingled with their blood. Above the scene of desolation the sky was red from the conflagration, and the wind, which was blowing from the south, was laden with blazing brands.

Conductor Reardon, of the Louisville & Nashville train, which was caught in the cyclone, tells the following story: "It was all over in a minute. The thing that most impressed me was the destruction of the County Court House, a magnificent three-story brick building. It stood in a prominent place and could easily be seen almost from the tower to the ground. It looked to me as though the huge pile of brick and mortar had been struck by a gigantic battering ram, or by a big club in the hands of a power strong enough to knock it down at a single blow. It seemed to collapse all at once, spread out, crush and bury the buildings about it."

Marcus Aaron, a Philadelphia drummer, who was a passenger on the train, says: "It came with the roar and crash of a mighty battle. Houses of all description went down like wheat before the fall. Men, women and children ran hither and thither, screaming and praying in their peril and fright. The County Court House was utterly wrecked and a three story mill was blown across the track behind us. Our train was lying in the track of the cyclone and it was taken at a flying rate down the track. The engineer could not control the train, and fortunately for us the brakes were not on. Trees were uprooted and the cars lifted clean off their wheels. The passage of the cyclone must have occupied at least two minutes. A strange thing is that three minutes after the cyclone the sun was shining brightly on the scene of desolation."

Everything which belongs to pure, healthy blood is imparted by Hood's Sarsaparilla. A trial will convince you of its merits.

The Atlantic Steam Fire Engine was out for practice for awhile at the foot of Market Street this afternoon.

Mayor Fowler is making good use of some of the prisoners at the city guard house by putting them at work in kalsomining the passages and rooms.

Wreckers and divers were at work to-day, under the direction of Capt. S. W. Skinner, in trying to raise the steam tug W. P. Craighill, which was sunk near the foot of Dock street, early yesterday morning.

50 dozen all wool flannel shirts, in all shades and colors, for men and boys, from 75 cents and upwards, at the Wilmington Shirt Factory, No 27 Market street, J. Elsbach, Prop.

Mr. A. Shrier, who recently purchased the stock of goods from Harrison & Allen, in the store on North Front street, is having some important changes made there, principal among which are two large show windows for the front.

Don't forget to attend the railroad meeting which will be held at the corner of Fifth and Castle streets to-night. Interesting speeches may be expected from Aldermen Rice, Valentine Howe, Alexander Sampson, William Myers and others.

Wilmington Steam Fire Engine Company are to have new uniform shirts. They will be made of camel cloth, of a very fine quality, and will be manufactured here in the city, instead of sending to the North to have them made.

At a meeting of the congregation of the Temple of Israel, held last night, Rev. S. Mendelsohn was re-elected minister for the ensuing twelve months. Dr. Mendelsohn has been with us already twelve years and we hope he will remain at least as many years longer.

We read some weeks ago, with much interest, an astronomical article in the Lumberton Robesonian, contributed by Miss F. Wessell, of that town, a daughter, we presume, of our old friend, Capt. Jacob Wessell, lately deceased, and we would be glad to have more of the same sort. The subject was handled in such an able manner that we hoped to see a series of articles from the same pen.

Religious.
The joint services of the Episcopal congregations of this city will be held in St. John's Church to night, at 8 o'clock.

Indications.
For North Carolina, colder, fair weather, preceded by light rains in eastern portion and light to fresh northerly winds.

Choir Practice.
On account of the stormy weather and the miserable condition of the streets there was not a full attendance at the Pearson Choir practice last night. More were present, however, than was really expected, and the rehearsal was in all respects satisfactory. The next meeting will be on the night of Tuesday, the 28th inst.

The Fox Hunt.
Arrangements had been made for quite a large party of gentlemen to go to the Sound last night to participate in the fox and coon hunt that was to come off early this morning, but the weather forbade. It was too tempestuous for either man or beast, and so it was wisely concluded to postpone the ride until this morning. We should think the ponds and bays would be too full of water to-day for much sport in hunting.

City Court.
There was not a very large docket to engage the Mayor's attention this morning and it was disposed of as follows:
Washington Moseley, colored, allowing his hogs to run at large. He was fined $5 for the offense.
Sarah Moseley, colored, interfering with an officer while in the discharge of his duty. The defendant was required to pay a fine of $5 for the offense.
A white woman, for being drunk and down was required to pay a fine of $10.
S. D. Parsons, charged with being drunk and disorderly, was required to pay a fine of $20, or work 30 days on the public streets.

The President and Party.
The Presidential party, consisting of President Cleveland and wife, Secretary of War Whitney and wife, and Col. Lamont and wife, with their personal attendants, arrived in Wilmington at 10 40 last night. The train, which comprised an engine, tender, hotel parlor car and baggage car, did not come into the depot at Front street, but remained at the old Union depot until there was a change of engine, engineer and conductor. Capt. J. E. Divine, general superintendent of the Atlantic Coast Line, accompanied the party from Wilmington and went with them on their journey as far as Charleston.

St. George and St. Andrews.
The regular monthly meeting of this society was held last evening, at which an election of officers for ensuing term was held resulting as follows:
President—H. G. Smallbones.
Vice President—A. D. Brown.
Chaplain—Rev. Dr. Carmichael.
Physician—Dr. T. F. Wood.
Treasurer—W. A. Riach.
Secretary—John B. Quelch.

Appropriate resolutions were passed in reference to the death of Mr. John Alexander, a late member of the society, and a committee was appointed to convey to Dr. and Mrs. Carmichael special thanks for their great kindness to him during the last years of his life.

The Streets.
Now is a good time to determine where the most work is needed on our public streets, and where drainage could be best applied to carry off effectually and at as little cost as possible the superabundance of water which now has no outlet, but is liable to stand and become stagnant, thus endangering the health of the people. In some of the streets these pools of water extend from one sidewalk to the other, and have remained there nearly all the time during the winter. They would at times be nearly dry when there had been no rain for some days, but were full again with the first showers. We hope that some system of drainage may be adopted by which this condition of things may be effectually remedied.

Finest shoes for ladies wear in the city at French & Sons.

Last Night's Ball.
The anniversary festivities of the Howard Relief Fire Engine Company, which were so much dampened by the rain, as to prevent a parade yesterday morning, were concluded by a ball at the Hall last night, which, notwithstanding the fact that the inclement weather kept many from attending, was a most enjoyable affair. The Italian band furnished excellent music for the occasion, and the young ladies and gentlemen danced the hours away most agreeably. The hall was elegantly decorated, but the greatest charm of the occasion was the presence of the galaxy of beautiful young ladies whose elegant toilets and cheerful smiles captivated all hearts. There was an abundance to eat and drink, and all who were present were delighted with the pleasant enjoyment of the occasion.

Use Dr. Pierce's "Pellets" for all bilious attacks.

The cheapest place to buy you school books and school stationery is at Heinsberger's.

Literary.
We have received the February number of the New England Magazine, an illustrated monthly devoted mainly to the history, literature and general interests of the New England States and people. It contains about one hundred pages of choice and well selected reading matter, which, while it will be peculiarly interesting to those people, is also entertaining and instructive for readers in other parts of the Republic. It is gotten up with much taste, the illustrations are good and the press work is fine. Published by the New England Magazine Publishing Co., 36 Bromfield street, Boston, at a subscription price of $3 per annum.

Registration.
"Have you registered?" is an important question, and one which we hope you can answer in the affirmative. The time for the election is fast approaching, and it behooves every man who has the prosperity and welfare of the city at stake to see that his name is on the registration books, and when the day of election arrives to vote for a subscription to both the Cape Fear & Yadkin Valley Railroad and to the Wilmington, Onslow & East Carolina Railroad. Either road, when built and ready for travel, will add vastly to the wealth of the city, and will open up new channels of trade which will greatly benefit our merchants. Let us vote for subscription, but first let us see that our names are properly registered, so that there shall be no hindrance to our voting when the day of election shall come.

In the trial this afternoon of the Atlantic fire steamer she threw water, by actual measurement, 295 feet, with 100 pounds of steam, through one section of hose.
