THE TABERNACLE.

The Opening Meeting-Immense Audience-Good Music, &c.

The first of the series of meetings son at the Tabernacle, at the foot which were conducted by Rev. Peyrian Church, were announced to beexercises. From 7 o'clock until s me time after the hour for opening the services, every avenue lead What you need is a medicine which ling to the Tabernacle was througed with ladies and gentlemen, rich and poor, old and young, all wending their way to the place of worship. The crowd inside the Tabernacle became so dense that the large choir on the platform commenced singing very effectively some fine selections from Gospel Hymns. The music was conducted by Maj. H. H. Foster, A ably at the organ. The choir numbered about fifty singers; the parts were fairly balanced and both time and tune were perfect, filling that vast auditorium with a volume of rich harmony. While the music of mau. Permanent position and good salary to Gospel Hymns is not of a high order of musical merit, it is such as to appeal to the sacred emotions of the heart, and as such it is peculiarly adapted to praise, prayer and revival meetings. The selections last night were peculiarly appropriate to the occasion and they were highly appreciated by the vast concourse of people. At precisely 8 o'clock Rev. Mr. Pearson entered from a rear door and in an instant was the cynosure of all eyes. He is of about an average stature, spare built, with jet black hair, and a sharp penetrating voice. After a short prayer he commenced his discourse, taking as his text the following words from Galatians vi:7, "Be not deceived; God is not mocked; for whatsoever a man soweth that shall he also reap."

Mr. Pearson spoke with a good deal of dramatic force and effect His gestures were graceful, appropriate and impressive, yet there was at times a serious defect in his enunciation that prevented the listeners from catching his words. He spoke rapidly and his immense congregation were eager and attentive listeners, and had it not been for the slight defect in utterance we have named they would have been delighted. It was perfectly evident that he is thoroughly in earnest in his words and is fully imbued with a spirit of devotion and consecration to the will of his Master. His arguments were logical, forceful and convincing. There is no half-way work in his theology, He believes in a heaven and a hellthe former teeming with unutterable glories and the latter filled with in describable agonies. He scouts at the doctrines of the evolutionists and the Andover theology is to him diabolical. At the conclusion of the sermon the benediction was procongregation was dismissed soul's welfare to adjourn to the WHITE GOODS, Tabernacle, which had been prepared for the purpose, where they Rev.
