The reports from the musical festival, or Saengerfest, in St. Louis give some idea of its magnitude and success. It is a triumph for the numerous singing societies that have gone to the celebration from all parts of the country.

The monument erected on the spot where Stonewall Jackson fell is a simple, massive pile of granite which bears these inscriptions on its four sides: "On this spot fell, mortally wounded, Thomas J. Jackson, lieutenant general, C. S. A., May 9, 1863." "There is Jackson standing like a stone wall." - Bee, at Manassas. "Could I have directed events I should have chosen, for the good of the country, to have been disabled in your stead. I congratulate you on the victory which is due to your skill and energy." - R. E. Lee, general, "Let us pass over the river and rest beneath the shade of the trees." - His last words.

Among the members of the English royal family the feeling even stronger than that of grief at the Emperor Frederick's death is gratitude to Sir Morell Mackenzie, with out whose skill the Queen's eldest daughter would never have been Empress, but lived a royal pauper, depending on her wealthy mother and the unreliable charity of the German Reichstag.

Of the success of Hood's Sarsaparilla is the fact that every purchaser receives a fair equivalent for his money. The familiar headline "100 Doses One Dollar," stolen by imitators, is original with and true only of Hood's Sarsaparilla. This can easily be proved by any one who desires to test the matter. For real economy, buy only Hood's Sarsaparilla. Sold by all druggists.

An Important Element Of the success of Hood's Sarsaparilla is the fact that every purchaser receives a fair equivalent for his money. The familiar headline "100 Doses One Dollar," stolen by imitators, is original with and true only of Hood's Sarsaparilla. This can easily be proved by any one who desires to test the matter. For real economy, buy only Hood's Sarsaparilla. Sold by all druggists.

It is announced that after settling all outstanding debts the estate of the late Roscoe Conkling will amount to between $700,000 and $800,000. This sum was accumulated during about seven years of close attention on the part of Mr. Conkling to his legal practice.

Mr. G. W. Smalley telegraphs as follows to the New York Tribune: "Mr. Gladstone's health continues, to be the subject of numerous paragraphs in the Home Rule papers, all vehemently insisting that their leader was never better nor younger. There is perhaps a little too much of this. Mr. Gladstone is not ill, though people begin to think so when they see his friends so frequently alleging in print the exceeding goodness of his health. But neither does he seem so strong or vigorous or confident in his own power of work as he did last year. He looks much older; his voice is, or lately has been, very husky; he talks less and with less vivacity; and on the whole, he does not seem much younger than most men of 60."

A Sound Legal Opinion. E. Bainbridge Munday, Esq., County Atty., C. A. county, Tex. says: "Have used Electric Bitters with most happy results. My brother also was very low with Malarial Fever and Jaundice, but was cured by timely use of this medicine. Am satisfied Electric Bitters saved his life." Mr. D. I. Wilcoxson, of Horse Cave, Ky., adds a like testimony saying: "He positively believes he would have died, had it not been for Electric Bitters. The great remedy will ward off, as well as cure, all Malarial Diseases and for all Kidney Liver and Stomach Disorders stands unequalled. Price 50c. and $1. at W. H. Green & Co's."

JUNE JOKES.

"Would the ladies be in favor of a uniform marriage law, do you think?" asked a member of Congress of one of his fair constituents, and she replied: "Very likely, if the uniform were a pretty one and had a handsome man in it." "Ha, ha! How do you feel now?" asked one fly of another, which had been caught on a piece of external paper, and was in vain trying to wade through the general stickiness. "Glue me," was the brief reply. - Pittsburg Chronicle. "This is very strange," remarked Billy Bliven, thoughtfully, after he had tasted the contents of his butterfly, "very strange indeed." "What is strange?" "That such delicate, pale butter should turn out to be so robust." - Merchant Traveler. "I am surprised, Robby," said his father, reprovingly, "that you should strike your brother. Don't you know that it is cowardly to hit one smaller than yourself?" "Then why do you hit me, pa?" inquired the boy with an air of having the better of it. - Epoch. "Whose picture is that?" asked the new owner of a Nebraska opera-house of an artist who had been told to decorate the building according to his own taste. "Shakespeare's," replied the artist. "Shakespeare? Who's that? Never heard of him. Paint it out and put my picture there." - Graphic. At Cannes, in front of a small boot-maker's shop, the English tourist may find the following inscription in his own language: "Repairs hung with stage coach." After long and anxious thought he may arrive at the cobbler's meaning, who only wishes to inform his numerous patrons that "repairs are executed with diligence."

Billionsness. We have tested its virtues, personally, and know that for Dyspepsia, Billionsness and Throbbing Headache, it is the best medicine the world ever saw. We tried forty other remedies before Simonon's Liver Regulator, but none of them gave us more than temporary relief; the Regulator not only relieved but cured us. - H. H. JONES, Ed. Telegraph and Messenger, Macon, Ga.
