Report of the Condition of the First National Bank

Several droves of beef cattle arrived in the city this morning.

The streets are very dusty and rain is needed.

Between two and three hundred people visited Carolina Beach today.

Mr. John D. Bellamy, Jr., left last night for New York on a business trip.

The market was abundantly supplied with cantaloupes and watermelons this morning.

The alarm of fire sent in from box 35 at 2:45 o'clock this afternoon was caused by the burning of a pile of trash on Twelfth and Orange streets.

"I cannot praise Hood's Sarsaparilla half enough," says a mother whose son, almost blind with scrofula, was cured by this medicine.

Mr. Edgar Scarborough killed a chicken snake three feet long this morning on the corner of Eighth and Market streets.

Another lot of those celebrated Oil Stoves just received at Jacob's Hdq. Depot. It will pay you to use one.

If you want to feel comfortable and well all you need is a good Hammock. You will find the largest assortment and cheapest at Heinsberger's.

The new depot of the Seacoast Railroad is being built at the southwest corner of Princess and Tenth streets. It will be a handsome and commodious building.

The excursion given by the ladies of Grace M. E. Church to Southport and the forts to-day on the steamer Queen of St. John's was well attended.

The Secretary of the Evangelical Alliance requests us to say that the Alliance will meet to-night at 8:15 in Grace Methodist Church. An interesting meeting is anticipated.

There was fine sport yesterday in trolling at the Hammocks. Several gentlemen went out with Captain Johnson in one of the sharpies and fished around in the channel and in a short time caught a fine bunch of skipjacks.

Everybody who can get out of town for a few hours now everyday. A gentleman who was here yesterday says our facilities for seaside enjoyment surpass those of any place on the Atlantic coast. Five boats on the river and five trains to the Sound every day, except Sunday.

Attention Young Men's Democratic Club. All members are hereby notified that I. Shrier has the contract to furnish uniforms, where subscriptions and names for enrollment will hereafter be received.

E. H. FREEMAN,

If the people of the interior could but realize the wonderful benefit the sea air is to children they would crowd us here with their little ones. Many a child's life has been saved by trips up and down the river on the boats during the past season. The sea air is especially good for those that are teething.

Rock Crystal Spectacles and Eyeglasses. Advice to old and young: In selecting spectacles you should be cautious not to take more magnifying power than has been lost to the eye as in the same proportion that you pass that point of increase, will cause you further injury to the eye. Using glasses of stronger power than is necessary is the daily cause of premature old age to the sight. You can get the best at Heinsberger's.

From Freund's Music and Drama New York.

The Emerson Pianos are remarkable for their full, free tone, which is both beautiful in quality and very powerful; its evenness and sympathetic touch commend it to all musicians. The new scale, which has been put in the new styles, has greatly added to and increased the musical qualities of the instruments.

Headquarters for Bass Balls, Bats, Masks, Gloves, Belts &c., is at Heinsberger's.

THE CAMPAIGN OPENED.

Enthusiastic Rally Last Night—North Carolina's Distinguished Sons to the Front.

The campaign was duly opened in North Carolina last night by a grand Democratic ratification meeting. Wilmington, with her usual patriotism, was aglow with torches and bonfires, and music was in the air. At 8:30 o'clock the Young Men's Democratic Club, preceded by the Cornet Concert Club, marched from the City Hall to the Orton Hotel, where the speakers of the occasion were awaiting them. After the carriages containing the speakers had fallen in line they proceeded to the stand on Third street, where an immense throng of ladies and gentlemen had assembled.

Arriving at the stand, the meeting was called to order by Mr. John D. Bellamy, Jr., Chairman of the New Hanover County Democratic Executive Committee, who nominated the following gentlemen for its permanent officers:

President—Hon. Charles M. Stedman.

Vice Presidents—G. W. Williams, T. D. Meares, E. Lilly, Clayton Giles, A. D. Brown, G. H. Smith, J. R. Davis, J. M. Williams, A. Adrian, James Madden, A. J. Ropp, Sam Bear, Jr., John S. McEachern, J. W. Reilly, Roger Moore, J. G. Oldenbittel, M. Hankins, A. Weill, Fred Rhrew, W. K. Bell, W. M. Poisson, J. C. Stevenson, S. H. Penny, Charles Schulken.

Secretaries—Reporters of Wilmington Democratic Press.

Maj. Stedman, upon taking the chair, thanked the people for the honor conferred of presiding over such a glorious meeting, and said it was intended by this ratification for the people of the Cape Fear section to show their devotion to the Democratic party, it was of no purpose. The people of this section had always been, were now and would ever be the champions of the party upon which depend the honor, the integrity and welfare of our State. He referred to Grover Cleveland as a man of destiny and compared him with Mahomet and Stonewall Jackson, and with him was coupled that ideal Democrat, A. G. Thurman, of Ohio, who had always stood up for Southern rights against the Republican leaders, who tried to degrade Southern manhood and womanhood. He said that victory was in the air; every breeze foretold it. The Republicans, through one of their leaders, conceded 40,000 majority in the State, he placed it at 60,000. He stated that the Republicans were endeavoring to form a coalition with the Prohibitionists and with Mr. Belva Lockwood, but neither of them would have them.

Maj. Stedman then introduced the next Governor of North Carolina, a man pre-eminent for his eloquence and integrity, Hon. Daniel G. Fowle, of Wake.

Judge Fowle was received with three cheers by the Young Men's Democratic Club. He thanked the Club and those present for its great enthusiasm, and said that here 112 years ago the people of the Cape Fear section won the first battle of American Independence, and it was extremely proper that the first battle of this great contest against the Republican party should be commemorated here under the leadership of our gallant and chivalrous Chairman, Charles M. Stedman. He congratulated them on the action of the St. Louis Convention in nominating Cleveland and Thurman. He spoke of the glorious victories won under Vance, Jarvis and Scales, and the victory in this year of Democratic grace would be so great as to sweep out of existence the remnants of Republicanism. The Republican party, deceitful and inconsistent, was appealing to a constituency which it had betrayed, to a people it had degraded—claiming to defend the weak, it has helped corporations and monopolists; claiming to be a friend of the laboring man, it has placed at the head of its National ticket a man who was ready to subdue them with cannon and musket. Posing as the friend of naturalized citizens, it had nominated a man who said the Irish, German and other foreigners had no right here; but was known as "Chinese Ben."

In four years more, Judge Fowle said, the Democratic party would be in full power, and then the South, the birth-place and home of statesmanship, would be more fully represented and would have a place on the Presidential ticket.

As he concluded and spoke of the bells pealing out like the Aztecs of old, reminding them of danger and urging them to the fray, the town clock struck and was a happy coincidence.

Attorney General Davidson was next introduced. He said that it was well these meetings should begin in the chief commercial city of the State. They would find the Piedmont and mountain section close on their heels in the fight. His only objection to Cleveland had been that he did not hate Radicals enough, but his tariff message converted him. Gen. Davidson's speech was excellent and to the point.

Maj. S. M. Finger was the next speaker. He said that the St. Louis Convention, like our meeting to-night, just ratified the nominations the people had already made. He called attention to Mr. Dockery's inconsistency on the county government system, and said he believed in a rule by intelligence and character, and the West would stand by the East. Maj. Finger is an earnest and enthusiastic speaker, and was listened to with marked attention.

Rev. Geo. W. Sanderlin, nominee for State Auditor, was then introduced. His remarks were addressed principally to the young Democracy. He compared the meeting last night with the gathering of the clans in Scotland, and the burning tar barrels with the beacon fires being lighted on the hills of that far away country. The young men were lighting the fires and that was a good omen. The Democratic party contained the principles of perpetual youth and all who drank of them were so endowed. Therefore all men however old, were eligible members of Young Men's Democratic Clubs. Every person liked to study words. There was one name in this section which was worthy of study. Steady man by euphony became the gallant and chivalrous Stedman, whose motto is "Be true and fear not. Let all the ends thou aim at be thy country's, truth's, and God's." He urged the young men to "spread themselves," and retired amid loud and long continued applause.

Capt. W. H. Kitchen, of Halifax county, was next introduced and his speech was entertaining and instructive. His remarks were received with much applause. He said he was born a Democrat and he never wanted to die if he did not die a Democrat. He was born a white man and wanted to be carried off like one of the prophets of old if he did not die a white man. Captain Kitchen discussed the tariff and made most of his speech upon the color line. In conclusion, he said that while he had the kindest feeling for the colored man, yet this was a white man's government and they would govern it, and they ought to do so because of their intelligence.

He referred to the principles of the party which all the candidates represented, and paid a lovely tribute to Col. Waddell and Maj. Stedman—Cape Fear's noblest sons—which was received with much applause and enthusiasm.

Hon. S. J. Pemberton, of Stanly, was the next speaker. He spoke briefly of Grover Cleveland and what he represented, and contrasted him with the Republican candidate. He referred to Dockery as Gen. Dockery under Holden, and made good points against "My Son Oliver." Mr. Pemberton will doubtless be heard from again before the campaign is over, and will have time to discuss the issues of the day.

The Hon. Alfred M. Waddell was not down on the bills for a speech, but whenever a speaker retired, he was loudly and enthusiastically called for. He paid no attention to the demonstrations at first, but at last there was such an outburst of enthusiasm and so unanimous was the call that he felt constrained to go forward. After getting warmed up in the discussion of the politics involved in the campaign, he had to conclude, as the hour was getting late. He retired amid continued applause, amidst which the band struck up "The Old North State."

When the band had ceased playing the meeting was dismissed and thus ended one of the most enthusiastic meetings ever held in Wilmington, and for the success of which too much praise cannot be bestowed upon the Young Men's Democratic Club.

Resigned to His Fate.

Stephen Freeman, the condemned rapist, will pay the penalty of his crime on the gallows to-morrow. All the arrangements have been made and he is now only awaiting the arrival of the hour to be swung into eternity. A REVIEW reporter visited the jail this morning. He found Freeman on his knees engaged in prayer, but when he was addressed he came forward and conversed freely on the subject of his execution. He still persists in his innocence, and says that he is fully resigned to his fate and ready to die. He appears cheerful and says he slept well last night.

The reporter also examined the gallows, which is within ten feet of his cell. The rope to be used on this occasion is an ordinary manilla one, three-quarters of an inch in diameter, which hangs from the ceiling above and which moves heavily as it is forced to and fro by the gentle breeze as it waits its way through the prison. The fatal knot is already tied and fills one with awe as he looks upon it, realizing the horrible task it will fulfil to-morrow.

A Pig Thief Caught.

John Wescott, colored, who lives about six miles from the city over the Northeast river, has been losing his pigs for some time past. Last Sunday evening he caught the thief. He was out on the road, near his house, when he heard his pigs squealing as if something was catching them. He ran to the house, got his gun, an old musket, and went to see what was the trouble, when he got there he found that a six foot alligator had killed another of the pigs and was helping himself to a supper of fresh pork. John shot at the alligator and wounded him, when he started for the river, but Wescott picked up a fence rail and killed him. Wescott says that he has lost twelve or fifteen pigs this summer by alligators.
